LOCAL

"All communications, as far as possible, should reach us not later than Tuesday night. Please bear this in mind and have communications in on time."—Editor.

Bill Watson brought in the first six horse load of wheat this year, last Monday. He had on 70 sacks and just as he was in front of the Creamery the tire on the back wheel came off and had it not been for some one the walk he would have had a breakdown.

Last Tuesday two men came in Ione to paint the Balfour, Guthrie and the Kerr, Gifford warehouses. It took one day for the whole job and it certainly was fine work. They used a spray pump and a gasoline engine.

Don't cook dinner at home Sunday. Go to the hotel and enjoy a good dinner, without the trouble of cooking it.

J H Hendrix brought in a sample of blue stem wheat last Monday that is fine. He says it will easy go 15 bushel to the acre.

Mrs A T King, who went home with her daughter who has been here all summer and who lives at the Cascade Locks, returned to Ione last Saturday and A T was glad to stop cooking.

Lost; one yearling jersey steer, with a wire on neck; spiked horn, light color, animal in good condition. Finder will be given by seeing R. W. Cochran.

On Wednesday morning the train was stalled in Ione for over an hour as a double decker sheep car had a break down.

The top deck broke down and the sheep fell onto the lower ones, killing five, and while the attendants were trying to liberate those that were not hurt and remove the dead ones, twenty-four got out and onto the hills. Ike Howard made arrangements to capture the ones that were lost and the train went on at eleven o'clock.

Chicken dinner with all the "fixin" at the Hotel Sunday.

Ralph Hymer left Monday for a few days visit in Portland.

Mrs J T Knappenberg and little Joey went to Heppner Friday and remained until Monday to have some medical treatment as Mrs Knappenberg is having serious trouble with her heart and Joey has been threatened with appendicitis.

Anyone in need of lime, cement, and shingles call and see G F Parker before going elsewhere.

Misses Audrey and Velmaleta Woolery went to the fair at Seattle Monday.

Nice cold near beer on draught at the L P D pastime. Step in and try a glass, it is fine.

Our contractor, Mr Allinger, has just completed the Bungalow for Mr Ike Howard on his ranch half a mile from town. Mr Allinger says it is as complete a home as one would want and that Mr Howard has not stinted in any way the materials to make it complete. We know Mr Allinger has done good work and both he and Mr Howard are to be congratulated.

W J Martin, formerly of Morgan, but now living in Walla Walla, was here last week visiting his daughter, Mrs Ben Morgan.

Notice—Ben Buschke of Ione wishes to notify parties on the Northside who have stock running at large that if they don't keep them out of his grain he will take them up and bring them to Ione to the livery stable where the owner will have to pay charges.

Mr Escue, the man who was so badly injured on the night of the Earhart hunt, is walking about the town with his arm in a sling. He is very weak and has lost over thirty pounds, but is cheerful and full of praise for Dr chick, Mr and Mrs Carle and Mr Barnett for the fine care he has had. He says it was nearly worth the accident to find such wholesale kind heartedness as the Ione people have given him.

Mr Warren, father of Mrs Jesse Mason came to Ione Wednesday evening and will remain for a time.

Mrs Billie Mc Millan of Lexington, accompanied by Mrs John Mc Millan, come down Tuesday and spent the day with her parents Mr and Mrs Wilnot.

Mrs M J Miller, mother of City Engineer Ed Miller, is here from her home at Oakesdale Washington for a visit.

Mr Ed Race, is fast recovering from the shock of having a finger removed after it was so badly injured last week.

Mrs Stratton has been having some dental work done this week by Dr Davis.

G F Parker loaded the combine here that belonged to the Holt Manufacturing Company of Walla Walla this week, and it took him just three hours. He sent for Mr Lundy, better known as "Bones", to come and help, and when Bones got there he told G F that if he would let the brake off it would load easier. Park said, "I wonder what made it pull so hard."

Why Was He an Idiot?

There is a story told of a very talkative lady who met with a well deserved rebuke at a social gathering not long ago. Her husband is a man of high standing in the world of science, but the lady regards him as a dreamer of impossible dreams. "Do you know," she remarked, "that genius and Imbecility are twin brothers? The world regards John as a genius. Now, there are times when I believe him to be an idiot."

A painful silence followed, broken by a blunt old doctor who had overheard the remark.

"Are we to understand, madam," he said, "that Professor Y., though your husband, is so lightly esteemed by you?"

"I say what I think," she retorted. "At times John is unmistakably an idiot."

"Merely because he is your husband?"

"Sir?"

"Oh, very well," was the grim rejoinder. "We will put it another way: He is your husband because he is an idiot. Will that do?" — Pearson's Weekly.

The Folklore of Puss.

Puss has earned the reputation of being weatherwise. Good weather may be expected when "tabby" washes herself, but bad when she licks herself against the grain or sits with her tail to the sun.

Formerly in Scotland when a family removed from one house to another the family cat was always taken as a protection against disease. It is curious to find the opposite practice obtaining in Ireland, where it is considered highly unlucky for a family to take with them a cat when they are "fitting," especially so if they have to cross a river. There is a popular belief that a cat born in the month of May is of no use whatever for catching rats and mice, but exerts an injurious influence on the house through bringing into it disagreeable reptiles of various kinds, says Woman's Life.

In Scotland black cats are supposed to bring not only good luck, but also lovers, in illustration of which may be quoted the well known rhyme:

Whenever the cat of the house is black,
The house's lovers will have no lack.
