SCHOOL ESSAYS

The Demonstration train arrived at Ione about 6:30 a m October 26th and was met by several citizens of Ione and also a number of farmers, who had come to town to profit by the lectures to be given by the O. A. C. Faculty.

Much interest was taken in the demonstration party. The public school was dismissed, in order that the pupils might attend the meeting. Ione Concert Band was also there to welcome the strangers.

Mr Morse, a special representative, of the freight department, of the O. R. & N., made a brief talk stating the purpose of the meeting and introduced Dr. Whithycombe as the first speaker.

Dr. Whithycombe talked of general farming and stated that the farmers should not farm so many acres but should till the soil more thoroughly.

The second speaker was Mr. Lively, of the Union Stock yards, of Portland. He spoke exclusively of live-stock. He said that meat was shipped from the eastern states and sold to us, instead of being sold by us.

Prof. Scudder, of the Oregon Agricultural College, at Corvallis, was then introduced. His speech was very interesting, along the line of dry-farming. He recommended deep-fall plowing for absorbing and retaining the moisture. He said that the land must be harrowed three or four times, the last time, just as the grain is heading out. He also advised rotation of crops; and if land is summer-fallowed, it should be cultivated to keep down the weeds.

Mr Scudder thinks that the best results can be obtained, here, from Turkey Red wheat and winter barley; and that great care should be taken in the selection of seed. He also thinks that this country is well adapted for poultry and cattle raising.

He spoke about raising different grasses and field peas, in order to supply the soil with nitrogen; and advised that more and better draft horses should be raised.

The matter of hog raising was fully discussed by Byron Hunter. He compared the home market with that of the eastern states and showed why the hog business is a very profitable one for Oregon farmers.

Prof. C. E. Bradley explained the composition of the soil, which was very interesting.

C. A. Cole, professor of horticulture was the next speaker. He advised proper care for both fruit trees and berries. He thinks that the Wilson and Magoon are the best varieties of strawberries.

He laid much stress on spraying and the proper pruning of trees, and also recommended wind-breaks for the young orchards.

The Demonstration party left Ione for Heppner about 1 p m.

EDITH PERRY.

The Demonstration train arrived at Ione about 7 a m, October 26th and was met by several Ione citizens and farmers. The selection by the Ione Band, "Quick Step Lineup", was well rendered and greatly enjoyed by every one present. So much interest was taken that school was dismissed from 9 a m until 12.

A large crowd was present at the meeting and gave their attention to the lectures by the O. A. C. professors and the meeting was pronounced a great success.

Mr Morse, a special representative of the freight department, of the O. R. & N., made a brief talk stating the purpose of the meeting, and introduced Dr. Whithycombe as the first speaker.

Dr. Whithycombe talked on general farming and raising better live-stock. His talk was brief.

Dr. Whithycombe was followed by D. O. Lively who spoke exclusively on live-stock and his talk was very interesting.

The next speaker, professor Scudder, of the agricultural college, recited some statistics regarding Morrow, Gilliam and Sherman counties. He recommended deep fall plowing as a means of retaining moisture. Disking does not give as good results, but if it must be done the fall is the best time. He also thinks the best results can be obtained from Turkey Red wheat and winter barley.

The next speaker, C. E. Bradley, spoke "Composition of the soil", which was brief but interesting.

Byron Hunter, the next speaker, discussed fully the matter of hog raising. He compared the home market with that of Eastern States and showed why the hog business is profitable for Oregon farmers.

C. A. Cole, professor of horticulture, was the next speaker. He told how to care for the home orchard and recommended the proper care for both fruit trees and berries. He thinks the Wilson and Magoon are the best varieties of strawberries.

The Demonstration train left Ione for Heppner about 1 p m.

MAY GARDNER.

NEW BUSINESS FIRM.

Rufus Cochran has sold his interest in his butcher business to Alois Williamson, of Pendleton. Mr. Williamson is here and is proving that his recommendations, as a first class butcher, are correct. We are sure that success will come to these two enterprising men for Mr. Cochran has shown himself, in his many years here, to be untiring in his business efforts.

THE KNEEL OF THE WEED.

Long and earnestly have the experts of the Department of Agriculture been striving to find some means of eradicating the weed, other than by grubbing or pulling it up, and news comes from North Dakota that the fight has been won—at least over the wild mustard the Canada thistle, the dandelion and many other similar pest abominations of people who till the ground for a living.

Spraying the territory affected with a solution of iron sulphate when the weeds are young does the work. The chemical, which is corrosive, attacks the tender tissue of the rapidly growing weeds and destroys them while there is little or no injury to the grain, particularly if it is a winter grain or was sown early in the spring and has gained considerable growth before the spraying.—American Farmer.
