John Calkins was in Monday on a little business.

The wedding of Opal Cochran to Holmes Holman, of North Yakima, Wash., took place at the family residence this morning and was a very successful event. Rev. Starkey performed the ceremony in the presence of a few members of the immediate family and a few personal friends. A light breakfast was served to the waiting guests after which the happy couple left for the train amid the banter and laughter of many friends. At the train rice and old shoes were served up to both the victims and their baggage was decorated in the usual style to let the world know that a young married couple were on the train. Tuesday evening the young people of the town gathered at the rink and gave a surprise social to the young couple. About 50 were present. Songs and dancing was indulged in until about 11:30 when they all left for home after wishing the guests of the evening a long life and a merry one.

Opal Cochran and people were serenaded Monday evening at the family residence by a number of the town folk who called with tin pans and cans after some fun they presented the young lady with a fine wedding gift. The license has been secured and the young couple were planning on stealing a march on their friends and getting married Wednesday morning before train time and leaving before anyone had time to get out their horns. The Journal wishing them a long and happy life.

The Baccalaureate sermon preached in the Christian church last Sunday evening was well attended. Special seats were reserved for the pupils of the Ione High and Grammar School and what was left was more than filled by the parents and friends of the boys and girls. A fine program was placed before those assembled and the following took part. Rev. Starkey was picked to have charge of the program. Orchestra, Wm. Burger, Mrs. Mason, Miss Moore; Choir, Prof. Davis, S. E. Moore, Paul G. Balsiger, Frank and Goldie Stoops, Ruby and Zelma Engelman, Mrs. Starkey and Miss Daniels; Duet, Frank and Goldie Stoops; Violin Duet, Mrs. Ruth Mason and Miss Doris Wilt assisted by Miss Swanson at the piano; Hymn by the choir assisted by the audience; Prayer by Rev. J. L. Jones; Duet by Rev. and Mrs. Starkey Solo by Mrs. L. A. Doak. Rev. Jones then addressed the gathering with a short sermon that held many words of good advice to the young people. The graduation exercises will be held in the rink next Thursday evening.

THE BLAZING YULE LOG.

It Holds Precedence Over the Christmas Tree in England.

The Christmas tree was rarely seen in England until made popular by the German husband of Queen Victoria, and while it is universal there at the present time, it is the Yule log and the mistletoe that hold the center of attention. Long before England became a Christian country the Yule log was burned in honor of a pagan deity at the winter solstice, and the infectious spirit of cheer and good will which prevailed at that time survived when Christianity spread abroad. The festivities in England begin with the lighting of the Yule log on Christmas eve. In many parts of the country the whole family, including servants, gather about the hearth and "legale the long evening with rural games, legendary jokes and old told Christmas tales." One of the oldest customs observed in England is the singing of Christmas carols from house to house by Christmas carolers. Some of the carols sung today are at least 400 years old.

A Question of Fact.
The judge decided that certain evidence was inadmissible. Counsel took strong exception to the ruling and insisted that it was admissible. "I know, your honor," said counsel warmly, "that it is proper evidence. Here I have been practicing at the bar for forty years, and now I want to know if I am supposed to be a fool?" "That," quietly replied the judge, "is a question of fact and not of law, so I won't pass any opinion upon it, but will let the jury decide."

A Great Catch of Birds.

There is a certain Pennsylvania farmer who is a lover of birds, yet at the same time likes to raise a fair proportion of fruit, so last summer he was greatly troubled when the woodpeckers fairly swarmed on his cherry trees, eating their fill and carrying away large quantities to their nesting places. Something must be done to save his cherries, and as he could not bring himself to kill the birds, he invented another method. He noticed that the woodpeckers never flew among the limbs until after they had alighted on the trunk and pecked around for a short time. So he got a lot of poles that were taller than the cherry trees, hoisted a pole among the branches of each tree, rested the butt on the ground and let several feet stick out above the topmost twigs. The woodpeckers soon got into the notion of clinging to the upper ends of the poles before they made a raid on the cherries, and while in that attitude the farmer would run under the tree with an ax and hit the pole as hard as he could on the opposite side from which the bird was clinging. The sudden blow invariably stunned the woodpecker and made it tumble to the ground, and before it had a chance to come to its senses the farmer picked it up and put it into a basket. In this way he captured four dozen woodpeckers inside of a fortnight without killing or even permanently injuring a single bird. Then, when the cherry crop had been gathered, he turned them loose.

Case of Hilarity.

"What are you laughing about?" "Blinks has moved to Great Neck, L. I."

"I don't see anything particularly funny in that."

"But he wears a seventeen collar," retorted the Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Olden were in Saturday evening to attend the High School doings.

E. M. Shutt was in Monday on business. He was also in Saturday evening with his family to attend the High School Play.

George Whitcomb and party were in Sunday from the Morgan district.

Frank Engleman went to The Dalles this week with E. R. Lundell to bring back a fine Reo for E. E. Lovgren of Eightmile. This is the second car of this make to be sold by Mr. Lundell this month.

Quite a number of autos from Lexington and Heppner were in Ione Saturday and Sunday. The fans in these two towns know where to come to get their money's worth. Ione has the only base ball team in this section that brings home the bacon every time they go after it.

The Ione High School presented the play, "The Country Squire" at the Rink last Saturday night. The hall was well filled and everyone seemed to enjoy the performance. The pupils were well trained and the staging of the play showed careful attention to detail that would do credit to a "real" theatre company. The receipts above expenses will be used to help out in the school work.

Walt Puyear had his thumb severely injured Monday evening playing ball. It was attended to by Dr. Chick.

Mrs. Lou Davidson returned from a trip to Newport where she has been attending the convention of the Rebekahs.

Mrs. Starkey left Monday morning for home. Rev. Starkey will stay a few days.
