SCHOOL NOTES

by
S. E. NOTSON, Supt.

The writer has visited four schools since making former report. In District No. 20, Miss Frances Doherty has just opened the term. Eight pupils were present. This school is quite well equipped now. The new single desks, new teachers desk, new black board, clock and closed jar for water all add comfort and convenience to the room.

In District No. 17, Mrs. Sylvia Missildine is again in charge of the work. 17 pupils are enrolled and this school lacked a very few points of reaching the standard. The pupils and teacher are determined to reach the standard this year. I noted that the flag was flying. The new translucent window shades make it possible to regulate the light. An excellent jacket surrounds the stove. Two fine framed pictures, the new book case, and new clock add much to the appearance of the room.

Mrs. Edna Gould White is teaching school again in District No. 50. This school is much smaller than usual on account of the number of pupils who have entered high school this year. Two families have moved to town to give their high school pupils the advantages of the high school and have also taken some of the grade pupils. The school building presents a more pleasing appearance since it has received a coat of paint.
