The Halloween Frolic at the Christian Church was well attended last Friday evening. Everyone had a fine time.

"Two hundred country weekly editors are closer to the people of the state than three big city editors can ever hope to get." C. C. Chapman in Oregon Voter. That is right brother Chapman and your many years of experience in the advertising game really has taught you something after all. When you first decided to quit a $7500 job to run a small newspaper we envied you your former job, but now we know you were simply yearning to get close to the people, by publishing a small weekly. Let us hope you succeed.

A band of negroes representing the Buckner Southern Jubilee Singers gave a performance at the Baptist church Tuesday evening to quite an audience. They were not up to the usual class of Buckner's people. His own personal troupe are artists of ability and draw a crowd whenever it is known that they are going to appear. They were here last year at the rink under the auspices of Joe Waters.

Fifth. They wanted to secure the Columbia Highway by having the Willow Creek road prepared. It's impossible to show how the farmers would benefit by this. And the farmers here are not willing to pay for benefits to tourists.

Sixth. It was urged that the farmers might work the roads instead of paying the money. Do you think farmers work for pleasure and that the farmer's time is of no value? Should the farmer neglect his farm to work a road that will not benefit him proportionately? A business man may pleasantly suggest that the farmer work the roads, but not one business man would neglect his business to work on the roads. If time is money, then time given is money given. Where is the difference?

Seventh. According to the admissions of one of the boosters they were working for their own interests. Evidently then the booster's interests are the reason for the demand for a Willow Creek road. That they brought a man all the way from Portland to talk for them proves it.

Eighth. Not even all the roads within the district were to be improved. Only the "trunk" road as they called it. The "spurs" would be improved later. They wanted their slice of the pie first, the farmers were to come later. He who comes last is likely not to come at all.

Tenth. A simple raise in prices brings back to the business man the money he pays out for such an enterprise. But the farmers can not fix his own prices. Therefore he pays his own road taxes and those of the business man also, for the latter are shifted to him. Add to these the fact that the business men of Heppner pay nothing even apparently and you have the farmer handing his money over because some one else says so. The business men will not be levied on for this special tax, I am informed. Farmers what do you think of that? Should not town property pay part of this tax, when it gets almost all of the benefit?

yours respectfully
Glenn Burroughs.

NOVELTIES IN THE SHOPS.

With Wide Array to Choose From Gift Selection is Easy.

In novelties there are the pendants in jade, quartz, malachite and lapis. Though to be had in the real stones at great cost, these manufactured semi-precious stones call for an expert's skill to be distinguished from the real.

Other pretty novelties are the rhinestone drops worn on exceedingly thin gold chains; likewise the delicate flowers, such as pansies, violets, etc., delicately enameled on silver. Some of these are made so they can be worn either as brooches or pendants.

Garnets and jets are among the old fashioned stones once again popular. Garnets make pretty color pins when set in the long thin bars. In brooches they are set as four leaf clovers and roses.

The jet pins are also worn with the large pieces cut oval and oblong or set in flowers and many geometrical designs, such as stars, crosses, etc.

Stockings were never so exquisite before. From the display seen in the shops it would seem as though spiders instead of heavy looms had woven some of the delicate and beautiful hose. The most fashionable colors are the London smoke, Copenhagen and other blues and greens.

The mere mentioning of delicate stockings suggests dainty slipper buckles. And, though some of these buckles are beautiful and wonderfully artistic, decidedly pretty rhinestone buckles and sterling silver shoe buckles are displayed as low as $1.

Both Doll and Penwiper.
A penwiper is made by taking any little doll with a pretty face and dressing it in black. Make the skirt long and of heavy black material, so heavy that the doll will stand alone, and across her shoulders pin a tiny white handkerchief. Next put a little white apron on her, and then paste a little white cap on her head and you will have a neat little nurse if you have sleeves in the doll dress it is a good idea to sew a Red Cross badge on. Make the skirts suitable for the penwiper.

THE INNER LIFE.

The inner life that is lived—the life of reading, thought, purpose, aspiration and prayer—dominates and determines the outer life and creates it. And when one feels helplessly drifting at the mercy of events his only safety lies in a more positive and abounding energy, in deeper purpose and a firmer grasp on his intellectual life, a higher and diviner trend to his thoughts and a closer clinging to the divine promises.—Maurice Maeterlinck.

ELECTIONS IN FRANCE.

They Are Held on Sunday and Rarely Finished in One Day.

In France elections are held on Sunday. Universal manhood suffrage is the rule. Every Freshman of twenty-one years of age, or proof of six months' residence, is a legal voter at the elections to the chamber, saving only soldiers on active service and others disqualified for bankruptcy and criminal reasons. Because of the number of candidates the first day's polling in many districts is not final. Where no candidate receives an absolute majority, a second election is held. It often happens that from one-third to one-fourth of the elections for deputies are not finally decided until the second poll, when not infrequently one or more candidates in a district have withdrawn.

The polling begins at 8 in the morning and lasts until 6 in the evening. Instead of regularly appointed clerks and election officials, three volunteers take charge of the "urn" in which the ballots are deposited and conduct the proceedings. One of the penalties of being first to appear is the likelihood of being impressed into service as one of the assessors, of whom two, both independent voters, must serve with the "president of the ballot." The counting of the ballots is also done by volunteers called for from among the electors.

In the absence of the party system it is difficult strictly to classify the candidates. In a general way they range themselves in groups around certain well known political leaders—New York World.

"KILL LICE" HOG ROLLER

Designed by

TUM-A-LUM LUMBER COMPANY
Engineering Department

Here we show a large solid wood roller revolving in a trough filled with crude oil. The construction of this is sound and heavy, the roller pins being carried in pipe sockets and the whole thing is very substantial. This is recommended by scores of authorities as the most practical way of keeping the hogs free from lice. It is much better than a dipping vat or a rubbing post, and is on-duty all the time. The pigs rub against the roller continually and the oil kills the lice. Price complete, ready for oil $6.55
