One of the biggest deals ever made in real estate was consummated today when John Kelly Cruickshank of Chicago, the former President of the Chicago and North Western freight line, sold his 15,000 acres of farm land to the town of Green Bay. The sale was for $1,000,000, the purchase price being paid in cash. The land, which is located in the northern part of Wisconsin, includes some of the finest farming land in the state. The terms of the sale are that the town will pay $250,000 in cash and the balance in ten equal payments, each of $25,000, to be paid at the end of each year for ten years.
