

GLEANINGS FROM THE HARVEST OF LOCAL AND PERSONAL MOVEMENTS

W. Rowan left for Echo Friday morning where he intends to work for awhile.

Shayne Bros. of Pendleton sold their wool clip at Arlington at 18 3/4c. It was coarse grade.

Miss Ruth Bewley, saleslady in Thompson Bros.' store spent Sunday with friends at Ione.

Wm. Ayers of Hardman was in Heppner Monday having his eyes examined by Dr. Copeland.

Norton Winnard went over to Pendleton Saturday and spent Sunday at the home of Dr. Henderson.

L. E. McBee and W. T. Buchanan, prominent Cecil men, were in Heppner the latter part of last week.

T. M. Benedict, prosperous rancher near Morgan, was a business caller in Heppner last Thursday evening.

A number of Heppner people have been receiving shipments of baby chicks. They come at prices which are cheaper than it costs to hatch eggs in incubators.

Jas. Murtha, a prosperous sheep raiser over on Rock Creek, transacted business in Heppner the latter part of last week. Mr. Murtha has 8,000 sheep and will start shearing soon.

M. S. Corrigan, President of The First National Bank of Heppner and prominent Butter Creek rancher, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Lucy, was a Heppner visitor Friday.

Nat Scott, well known Lone Rock pioneer, transacted business in Heppner the latter part of last week and while here had his name added to The Herald's subscription list for the next 52 weeks.

Floyd Fraser, Gooseberry rancher and candidate for the Democratic nomination for County Commissioner, was in Heppner the latter part of last week interviewing voters and constructing political fences. Mr. Fraser is very confident of success at the primaries.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Flesher arrived here Saturday evening from Ohio to visit Mrs. Flesher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ball. They are located at Twin Falls, Idaho, and Mr. Flesher will leave for that place soon. Mrs. Flesher will remain here several weeks.

Frank Sloan and J. C. Hoskins, prominent Echo residents, were in Heppner registered at The Palace last Friday.

C. E. Gilman, one of our most prominent citizens, left Tuesday morning to spend a week in Portland on business.

R. C. Nelson, who has been ranching around Heppner left for Mountain Home Friday morning where he intends to secure work.

Mrs. C. L. Brown went to Ione Saturday to visit several days at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. N. D. Brown.

Jim Mollahan returned to Arlington Saturday after having spent several days visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Kenny.

Business houses of Heppner are now closed at 6 p. m. This has been the custom since the 1st of May. The postoffice is also closed at this hour.

Wm. O'Loughlin, of Baker, Mont., was down on business. Mr. O'Loughlin represents the grain and feed elevators of Terry and Baker, Mont., and will visit all the grain towns around the country.

W. F. Honey, stockholder of The Oregon-Dakota Land Co., owning several thousand acres of land near Ione, was in Heppner last week, registered at The Palace. Mr. Honey is figuring on disposing of a good size tract of land to a colony of Russians, who are expecting to examine the land in a short time. Mr. Honey lives at Gresham, Oregon.

Mrs. Hinton, who visited Mrs. A. Cornett and other friends in Heppner last week, returned to Ione Saturday. Mrs. Hinton did not neglect to subscribe for The Herald. She will spend the summer with some of her children over in Wallowa County and wants to keep in touch with the happenings in Morrow County, where she has lived since '64.

The Rev. Father Power of the Redemptorist Order, who gave a mission in St. Patrick's Church last fall, will be heard again on the 15th, 16th and 17th of this month. The sermons given by Father Power during the last fall mission were very much appreciated by his hearers, and a cordial invitation is offered to all to attend the services on the evenings as above noted.

Dr. John Fuller and wife, who came up last Thursday to look around the country, left for Portland Friday morning, but may be back in the near future. It is said that Portland is picking up considerably in both commercial and professional lines, as it had been rather dull during the last two months.

A very pleasant surprise party was given to Mr. Elery Hayes by his friends last Friday in honor of his nineteenth birthday. Games were played and refreshments served and all had a very good time. Those present were Misses Edith Thorley, Pearl Thompson, Mary Notson, Marsha Winnard, Althea Devins, Clair Groshen, Lucile Elder, Alice Cummings, Miss Long, Mr. William Fisk, Oran Wright, Delbert Wright, Loren Mikesell, Thomas Hughes, Sam Stevens, and Mr. Wigmore of Eugene.

W. G. Hynd of Sand Hollow was in town Tuesday morning on his way to Cecil to see his brother, Jack Hynd. Sheep shearing started at Jack's place Tuesday and they have 5600 head to clip at that place. Jack contracted his wool to R. F. Bicknell a couple of months ago for 11 1/2c and is now decidedly sorry that he did so. 11 1/2c was what he received for his clip last year and figured that he would be lucky to receive as much this year, but the world storage has raised the price several cents. Hynd Brothers have 3600 head in Sand Hollow and offered to contract their clip some time ago for 14 1/2c but were offered only 14. Now they expect to get 15c at least.

Sunday Oregonian — "Miss Fay Elizabeth Hendershott and Don Robert Haylor were married at a simple home wedding Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Monroe Hendershott. Dr. J. H. Boyd officiated. Mrs. Mason Wittenberg was matron of honor and the best man was Ellwood Hendershott. The ceremony was read before an improvised altar of dogwood blossoms, narcissus and fern tied with huge tulle bows and the entire house was charming in its Spring decorations. A buffet supper was served after the ceremony, at which only a few families were present. Presiding at the table in the dining-room were Mesdames Mary Preston, Roy Hendershott, Victor Jergensen, H. M. Euler and Park A. Reese. They were assisted by the Misses Edith Merriman, Louisa Preston, Mildred Smith Gertrude Kinsman and Mabel Markell."

The Mr. Haylor mentioned in the foregoing article is a son of Wm. Haylor, local jewelryman. The young Mr. Haylor has been with one of the largest retail jewelry stores in Portland for several years and has just accepted an important position with Butterfield Bros. wholesale house.

A total of 100 gallons of cream were shipped from the Heppner depot Sunday and Monday.

Harry Cummings, our hustling nurseryman, made a business trip to Portland and Salem last week.

The ladies of the M. E. Church South will hold a sale of cooked food at R. M. Hart's confectionery Saturday, the 9th.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Finley of Alpine were visitors in Heppner Monday. Mrs. Finley having her eyes treated by Dr. Copeland.

County Clerk Hill made a trip down to Jack Hynd's place near Cecil Tuesday to see that Mr. Hynd's shearing crew got started off in good shape.

A. W. Goodman, who clerked in Minor & Co's. store several years ago, was in Heppner over Sunday renewing old acquaintanceships. He is now managing a store at Wilkeson, Wash., and left on Monday for that place.

The late Rufus Mallory, who died last Thursday in Portland, was an important County Clerk A. M. McNary's predecessor. He was one of the best lawyers in Oregon and for years one of the foremost Republican politicians of the state.

J. H. Cox, local contractor, will remodel the Tom Matlock house up Hinton Creek. The house will be raised and a new cement foundation put under it. A new porch and new bungalow windows will be added and the entire house remodeled.

Rev. O. W. Elliott of Portland will preach at the M. E. Church South morning and evening Sunday. Rev. Elliott is one of the most successful Sunday School leaders in the state. You will enjoy hearing him. While here, Rev. Elliott will be a guest of Rev. Goulder's, the two gentlemen being old time friends.

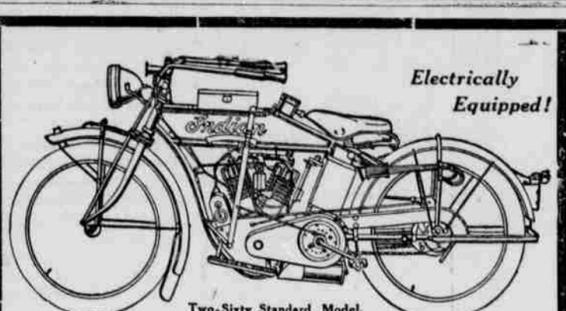

SCHOOL NOTES.

By S. E. Notson, Co. Supt.
On the 27th ult., I visited the school in District No. 59, which is under the direction of Miss Alma Himricks. Ten pupils were present. The work of the term is starting off very nicely. A new chart and a new map of the state have been recently added to the equipment. Arrangements have been made to pipe the water from a spring to the school premises. When this is completed this school will have an excellent water supply.

The following day I visited the school in District No. 51. Mrs. Harriet Stephens is the teacher. Seventeen pupils were present. All appeared to be diligent in their work, and a splendid interest was manifested. The interior of the building appears quite cheery and comfortable since the walls and ceiling have been painted a soft cream color. Lumber in on the ground for a new fence around the grounds. A new state map and a new chart have been purchased recently.

In District No. 14 the boys' out-building needed some repairs and a scrubbing. Frank McGrath, one of the pupils, took the matter in hand, and the building is now in good repair and excellent condition. A little of the spirit shown by Frank manifested in many districts would result in some worthy improvements.

Dalles Chronicle.—J. S. Taylor, formerly O-W. R. & N. agent at Heppner Junction, arrived here yesterday and has succeeded R. V. Sullivan as day ticket clerk. Mrs. Taylor will arrive in a few days.
