J. W. Vaughn and Charles Austin were transacting business in the County seat, Tuesday.

Haley and Brown, the mule buyers of Condon, were in Heppner the first of the week buying mules.

John and Wes Stephens, from the Hardman section, were Heppner visitors the first of the week.

Mr. I. C. Cox, of Galloway, was in the Herald office today. Mr. Cox is one of the well known people of that section and left one good Woodrow Wilson dollar with us.

Mrs. Matlock, who spent last week in Heppner visiting friends, returned to her home in Pendleton, Tuesday.

R. B. and Hugh Stanfield were over from Echo yesterday looking over some stock cattle which they are feeding near Heppner.

Miss Isabell Wilson left today to visit her sister, Mrs. Jesse Does, at the Junction and will remain for several days.

The White Front Livery Company has been putting on a little style. The office has been thoroughly cleaned and repapered.

J. B. Sparks has placed his first Studebaker "Six" in this county. Jim Hayes is the buyer and Jim's old E. M. F. car was traded in on the deal.

When you think of meat, think of the People's Cash Market. We cater to careful buyers who want the best and at fair prices.

Mrs. Geo. Woodbury is here from Portland visiting at the home of her brother, J. L. Wilkins. Mrs. Woodbury is accompanied by her son, Francis.

J. J. Adkins is reported to be slowly recovering from his injuries which he received in his accident of last week. He is still in a bad way and can not use any of his limbs.

Leonard Howard, who has been in Heppner visiting friends, returned to Hood River this morning. He says that he made some acquaintances that he hates to leave.

Telephone to the People's Cash Market and have them send you some of their home made sausage. Nothing better these cool mornings.

Mrs. Claud Andrews and daughter were in Heppner today. They came down with Mr. Andrews on his run yesterday and returned to The Dalles where they live, today.

Oscar Minor has been entertaining a painter and paperhanger this week. He had the downstairs repapered and refinished. When Oscar threshes his wheat and barley which he cut last week, he intends to pay for the work.

The family of Sam Orr arrived in Heppner on Sunday's train. Mr. Orr and brother came from Kelso, Wash., about three weeks ago. They are favorably impressed with Morrow County and may decide to locate here.

Sec. Goulder, of the Commercial Club, has been collecting curios and mounted birds and animals and has placed them in the Club's office. Several people have contributed specimens and Rev. says that if you have anything of this description, bring it in.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Bowker celebrated their return to Heppner last Tuesday night by giving a party to a few of their intimate friends in their new home. The evening was spent in enjoying a musical program and later on dancing was in order. After the dancing, refreshments were served consisting of cantaloup, sandwiches, ice cream and cake. It was late in the evening before the happy crowd departed. Everyone wished Mr. and Mrs. Bowker a long and happy married life. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ayers, the Misses Nora Cecil, Vivion Cox and Josephine Richardson; Messrs. Rofa Vanhiber, Pruitt Cox, Orville Rasmus, and Will Ball.

Fire completely destroyed the house and 640 acre pasture of Hugh Githens on his ranch, which is located on Balm Fork, five miles south of Heppner. Just when and how the fire started is not known. The family ate their Sunday dinner there and went over to spend the day on their homestead, a short distance away. When they returned the next day the pasture was burned and the house was still smouldering.

It was a freak of fortune that the barn and oat field nearby did not burn. The house was not a large building but it contained all of the family's personal belongings, all of which were lost.

Mr. J. H. Wyland, one of the largest sheep men in the Monument country, received a telegram last night stating that his brother, Charley, who lives in Tacoma, was not expected to live. He left on the morning train for Tacoma. Charley is a printer by trade, having learned the business in the Gazette office in Heppner. At the present time he is a linotype man in the employ of the Tacoma News.

Just what ails him is not known. He contracted a fever in the Spanish-American war and has never been entirely well since that time.

The Star Theatre has secured a high class vocal and instrumental male Trio as the principal attraction for Friday and Saturday nights this week. They are said to be one of the best trios on the coast. Four reels, the regular number, will be shown each night also. Friday night they have a special three-reel feature "Wanted by The Police," which will be accompanied by a good comedy reel. The admission will be 15 and 25c.

Mr. J. H. Campbell and son, who own one of the finest ranches in the country located just east of Lexington, were in the Herald office yesterday. Mr. Campbell suffered a severe sunstroke a few weeks ago and has not fully recovered from it yet. It has effected his eyesight and the doctor has advised him to go to a timbered country. He has a large ad in the Herald this week giving full particulars about the ranch.

As will be noted in the advertising columns of this issue, Mr. J. B. Sparks, local agent for the Studebaker automobile is offering a free trip to Detroit, Mich., to the first three buyers of Studebaker "Sixes" in Morrow County, providing the purchase is made before August 15. The offer also includes $10 each day for expenses for fifteen days. This offer is made only in communities where the "Six" has not already been introduced.

D. T. Ham of Spokane, who owns a ranch about four miles west of Heppner, was here this week inspecting the same. The place is mostly in wheat this year and Mr. Ham says he will not be surprised to learn later in the year that the crop went 20 bushels to the acre.

J. W. Stevens, the well known Hardman rancher, called at the Herald office a few days ago and left a little lubricating lucre for our editorial machinery. Mr. Stevens starts harvesting his grain in a day or two and looks for a crop that will be a little larger than ordinary.

G. M. Rice, Cashier of the First National Bank of Pendleton, and Nesmith Ankeny, also connected with the same institution, were in Heppner last evening. They were taking an auto trip through the section east and north of Heppner.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Slocum and family Mr. and Mrs. John Vaughn and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cox will sojourn during a part of the hot weather at Crater Lake Park. They left today overland in autos.

The Herald owes a prominent mention to W. S. McKimmey, who handed us another one of those good Woodrow Wilson dollars as we went to press today.

In the list of surviving relatives of Noman Shipley published last week The Herald unintentionally omitted the name of Mrs. H. A. Fant.

Fred George, prominent Echo merchant, was in Heppner last night attending to some business matters.

Mrs. Long and daughter, Miss Marion, are back from their outing at Parker's Mill.

Farmers and Farm Facts.

Oscar and Emerson Keithley came in from Eightmile and took out some supplies.

Joe. Hayes left his alfalfa and sheep ranch on Butter Creek long enough to come to town Saturday.

William Copenhagen, one of the progressive Sand Hollow farmers, was on the streets Saturday.

Billy Balis, one of the alfalfa farmers of Rhea Creek, was in and says that everything looks fine along the creek.

Frank Rasmus took a day off and came to Heppner Saturday. Frank raises more alfalfa than anything else.

D. Cox, of Hinton Creek, was in the County Seat Saturday. Mr. Cox raises a little of everything on his ranch.

Bob Thompson of Balm Fork was in town Saturday. Bob is one of the wheat growers of the Balm Creek district.

John Kilkenny, one of the biggest taxpayers in the county, was in town Saturday.

Emmett Smith, of Rhea Creek was in Heppner Saturday. Emmett says that he eats three good meals every day and puts a little money in the bank each year.

Jap. Walker was in from Eightmile, Saturday. Jap says the he is going to try raising cranberries. He has plenty of water and more patience than Job. At the present time he specializes on chickens.

Joe Morgon was in from the Black-horse country. Joe lives in one of the best places in Morrow County. The editor was out in Joe's territory a short time ago and saw some of the finest summer fallow in the county.

J. C. McIntire left on Saturday's train for Sumpter, where he has some sheep he wants to see. John intends to stay for a month or two and had the Herald put on the Sumpter mailing list. A good idea when you leave town.

E. O. Neill, the postmaster at Galloway, was in our office last Saturday and left one simoleon which insures the Heppner Herald to his address for one year. He says that he has some fine alfalfa that the grasshoppers have been eating. They damaged the second crop some but they are gone now and will not molest the next crop.

J. C. Stapleton was in the Herald office last Saturday and left a dollar with the cashier. Mr. Stapleton has a ranch five miles down the creek for which he traded a sawmill in Cottage Grove. He has 800 acres and most of it in wheat. He came down last December and is living in town at the present time in one of Walt Richardson's houses in south Heppner.

O. J. Cox was in town Saturday attending to business matters. Mr. Cox is putting up a modern cow barn on his place. He is one of Jim Huddleston's best cream customers and says that he expects to see this one of the best dairying regions in the country. Mr. Cox told us many incidents about the early history of Oregon but—we are going to relate them to you in another column in a few weeks.

IRRIGON ITEMS.

Mrs. Taylor and children left Sunday afternoon for Pendleton. They have been camping here for several weeks.

S. H. Boardman was up from Castle Rock Saturday. He took Fern Corey back with him to spend a few days with his daughter, Dorothy, when he returned on Sunday.

Mack Graybeal and his sister, Mrs. Docia Brownell, came down from Umatilla, Sunday and visited between trains with the McCoys. Carrie McCoy accompanied them home to stay a few days.

Jesse Davis was home from Dayton last week for a day or two and returned to harvest with one of his father's teams.

M. F. Wadsworth, Peter Susbauer, and S. H. Boardman rowed across the river, Saturday to transact business.

Lester Susbauer has come back here from the Valley, where he visited a couple of weeks with friends. He will make his home here with his uncle, Peter Susbauer, and attend school this winter.

Mrs. Castle has returned from a visit with her daughter in Echo.

Snowey McCoy was in Umatilla last week and returned Sunday morning.

Cora and Gertie Kicker went to Umatilla Friday night with Fred Ricks to attend the show there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Minnick were in Umatilla a short time Friday morning on business.

The O. L. & W's. residence, known as the Worthington house, is now taking on many needed repairs. Painting and rebuilding the fences, cleaning the lawns and shrubbery, makes a decided improvement in the appearance of the place.

Mr. and Mrs. Ames, of Hermiston, were in Irrigon Monday visiting friends at the Rands.

Mrs. Lapham, of Umatilla spent last Monday with Mrs. Kicker.

Mrs. N. Seaman went to Arlington last Thursday on No. 5, returning on No. 12 that night. She stopped at the Coyote and called on Mrs. Carl Doering on her way home.

L. W. Scarborough was down from Hermiston on business, Wednesday. He is the Hermiston tailor and he supplied H. T. Walpole with a new suit, so Harvey don't have to wear his overalls.

Mrs. Earl Baucum returned home from Pendleton, Friday where she spent a few days with her mother.
