Bert Hall brought J. J. Adkins to Heppner last week where he can be treated better. He is staying at his home in Heppner.

Adam Blahme was in from the ranch Saturday.

Charley Jayne returned home from Portland, Seattle and other points last Saturday. Charley has taken up his duties with the Squad and states it as his opinion that conditions have improved wonderfully.

Mrs. John Woodard and son, of Lena were in Heppner Tuesday. Mrs. Sarah Davis of Heppner accompanied them home.

Henry Blahme and Henry F. Blahme were doing business in Heppner Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston, of Portland, are visiting relatives in the city. Mrs. Houston is a sister of Mrs. J. J. Adkins.

Grant Copples and family left Heppner Wednesday for Lexington, where Mr. Copple will open up a short-order house.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elder and Hank Vance and wife went to Herren's Mill, Sunday. The boys fitted up a neat little camp where the ladies will stay for some time. The boys returned to town on Sunday evening.

Mrs. W. C. Howard, who with her family is spending the summer at the J. J. Adkins' ranch, was a Heppner visitor, Saturday.

Emerson Keithley and William Beckett were in from Eightmile by auto last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frad and daughter, Erda, were in from Blackhorse, Saturday.

Dick Wells and wife left Heppner last Sunday morning for an outing in the mountains. Bub Clark handles the clippers while Dick is away.

Mrs. J. M. Conger, of Longcreek, left today with her three children for Grass Valley where she will visit with her sister.

Charles Kelsey, of Lewiston, returned to his home today after spending several weeks near Heppner during the harvest season. Mr. Kelsey came here to look over the country with the idea of locating here sometime later.

Will O'Rourke left for Condon, Oregon, today. Will lost his job when Hugh Githens' threshing machine burned last week.

Mrs. Dave McAtee left this morning for Victoria, B. C.

Dr. Christensen left last Saturday for Portland. He will join his brother-in-law, F. J. Hasen, there and they will proceed to the coast where they will spend two weeks in an outing.

Mrs. A. D. Cannon came in from Longcreek today and left for Grass Valley to visit a daughter.

Hugh Githens has certainly had his baptism of fire. Last week his threshing outfit went up in smoke when he had over forty days work planned ahead.

Dan Barlow was an Eightmile visitor last Saturday.

Charley Anderson came in Saturday from the Gooseberry country.

Mr. and Mrs. Coxen of Lexington spent Sunday with Ed. Neill, the well known Butter Creek rancher.

J. A. Patterson left for Portland last Monday for business reasons.

John T. Kirk was on the streets last Saturday. He has been heading grain for Emil Gratkopp.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. French, from north of Heppner, were in the Herald office the first of the week. Mr. French was in the newspaper business years ago and owned a paper in Spray.

Ray Rogers and Earl Hallock piked off down the line Sunday and will make eyes at the girls at Rockaway on the coast for a couple of weeks.

Palmer Brunton accompanied Wm. Hynd and Miss Hynd on an auto trip over to Ukiah and Hidaway and Lehman springs last week.

J. B. Sparks was over to Echo yesterday with an auto load of traveling salesmen.

Gene Fairhurst, one of the prosperous creek ranchers of Rhea Siding, transacted business in the county seat yesterday.

Mrs. D. W. Homer of Portland returned to her home on Sunday to look after a daughter who has just taken sick. Mrs. Homer visited several weeks at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Al. Emerson, in this city.

Mr. T. J. Mahoney and son, Tommy, returned Saturday from a trip through the Valley by auto.

Mrs. Albert King and daughter, Francis, and Mrs. James Luper, departed for Portland, Sunday morning. They will be absent some time.

Miss Bewley, who has been clerking for Thompson Brothers for several months, returned to her home at Tillamook Tuesday.

H. S. Ewing, one of the well known ranchers and prominent Morrow County residents living near Cecil, made the Herald office a very pleasant call Monday. We expect to say more about him in the near future.

Mr. H. Scherzinger, from south of town, was in the office today and deposited one of those Woodrow Wilson dollars. He wanted to take advantage of the low rate. It's one-fifty after the first of next month.

The Pacific Coast Telephone Company is completely overhauling their lines in this city and among the new improvements will be the twenty-four hour service. This is surely an improvement which the patrons will appreciate and which we believe will result in more telephones being installed. Larger and additional poles are being placed in the ground and new wires are being strung. A force of eight men have been working here and it will be some time before the work is completed. Nothing will be left that will hamper the service in the least and when the job is completed Heppner will have telephone service that any city might be proud of. Incidentally we wish to say that the operators should co me in for a few words for their prompt and courteous treatment which they render.

Henry Wagner handed us a Long Green for the next 104 issues of the only Semi-Weekly in the county. Henry wants the best in the newspaper line, so he came across with the dollar bill.

Messrs. Kinley and Oldaker were in Heppner last Saturday from Hermiston. Kinley and Kittery, formerly owners of the Hermiston Creamery have just closed a deal for the sale of same to Mr. Oldaker.

Farmers and Farm Facts.

Egbert Young was in from Eightmile for provisions Saturday.

D. O. Justus was in the city for a few supplies last Saturday.

Hiram Clark, who lives on Willow Creek, was in town Saturday.

Frank Bell, of Blackhorse, was in Heppner last Friday transacting business.

Jim Sheridan, the Butter Creek sheep man, was in town on business Saturday.

Mrs. Walt Bray was in town Saturday and departed with one of those Irrigon watermelons.

John Doherty was in town and said that his hand, which he injured some time ago, was rapidly getting well.

J. W. Beckett, from Eightmile, was in for repairs Saturday. Harvest is in full blast on Mr. Beckett's place.

Adam Knoblock, of Rhea Creek was in last Saturday with Mr. A. A. Russel, who has been visiting at his place.

Ed. Neill, the prosperous Butter Creek wheat and alfalfa farmer, was in the city last Saturday.

J. M. McCollough was in town the last day of the week. John was seen talking to Private Cornett, presumably about the Squad.

Mrs. Helen Clark, who lives on Willow Creek, was in last Saturday with butter. Mrs. Clark is one of the best butter makers that brings butter to Heppner.

L. L. McGee, of Albany, and B. B. Denell, of Forest Grove, left Saturday for their homes. They have been working for J. H. Frad during harvest and they told the Herald to mention a good word for J. H. He is a good fellow to work for and they intend to drop around about this time next year.

The editor took a little journey to the Egg City last Saturday. Ione, Oregon, has been termed the Egg City because it ships more eggs than any other town on the O.-W. R. & N. railroad. The first man I met when I arrived in town was the city marshal, Walt Cason. Walt said that the Moral Squad had not improved conditions so that he was not needed but they were assisting him in many ways. He said that he was inquiring into a crawfish feed that was held recently.

Business was good with Walt Mason and he was loading up several wagons when I stopped long enough to say hello. Gaunt the tailor was busy measuring up a customer for one of those hand-made suits which so many of the well-dressed men around Ione wear. He also sells some haberdashery and is gradually branching out. Gaunt is a nifty man with the needle and I understand that he has all that he can do.

I dropped in to see Roy Whiteis who, with Frank Hopkins, was busy wrapping up orders and marking watermelons which had been sold. Roy bought a ton of these the day before and has another ton coming next Friday. He showed me his new ice chest where he keeps his meats, cheese and watermelons, and other perishable things. This is surely a fine improvement. Business is good with Roy and I wouldn't be surprised to see an addition being built on that store at this time next year.

It being about six o'clock, I stepped into the hotel with our friend Gaunt and we passed thirty minutes around the family table. We made the acquaintance of a man who had just come overland by easy stages, in other words, he walked from Portland.

In going up the street I saw J. T. Knappenburg in his Coal Car. Joe has been busy harvesting and from what I can learn, he knows how to tickle the ground and make it laugh with a harvest. Dick Turpin had a room full and there was a heated discussion going on about something that the Squad did last week. At the depot I saw Mr. Pennington, who was burning the midnight oil writing freight receipts. He quit at eight-thirty, however, to take in the "movies." One does not have to dynamite favors from Mr. Pennington.

I met Mr. J. E. Cronan, the banker. Mr. Cronan was born in Iowa and gravitated to Oregon. Mr. Cronan said that the crops were good around Ione and business in general was in a healthy condition. W. H. Cronk, probably the busiest man in Ione, was hustling about looking after lumber prospects.

About eight-thirty I strolled down by the ball field and along with other prominent people attended the tent show. There is a fascination about tent shows that is not associated with other like attractions. One feels a sort of freedom that seems to be in the surroundings. While there I was presented with innumerable presents, such as peanuts and the carelessness with which these were distributed among the crowd was wonderful, when you consider that no one was injured.

After the show we started the old iron horse, Mr. Sparks' Studebaker Four, and in a few minutes we were out on the open road with the lights of the city growing smaller and smaller until they appeared lost in the starry canopy overhead.

PROMINENT PEOPLE

in time to the hills.

We didn't have any expensive furniture in those days. Rough lumber was nailed together for bedsteads, Rawhide bottom chairs we thought were fine. Schools were expensive to operate as we had to pay the teacher and buy the wood. Pendleton was the county seat and I remember once of seeing the sheriff taking an Indian there for filling a woman's mouth with dust. We made preserves out of ground cherries and lived considerably on dried beef and dried apples. I made traps and caught prairie chickens. Coyotes were numerous and they would hang around the chicken yards waiting to catch one should it come within reach. Fences were made of poles tied together with cowhide.

Mrs. Ayers told me that she was a Baptist and a member of the Eastern Star lodge. In politics she votes for the man and not the party.

Mrs. Ayers can well be called one of the Mothers of Oregon. The knowledge of what this woman has done would certainly silence the persiflage of some of our so-called stronger sex who prate about "woman's work." She has reasons to be proud of what she has accomplished and all womankind should partake of the joy of this woman's success. Mrs. Ayers has the virtues of the Teutonic tribes, the virtues of industry, economy, self-respect, a love of home, a love of children; all coupled with the habits that make for health, usefulness, long life—just the simple, old-fashioned virtues of truthfulness and mutual helpfulness that the world can never do without.

Announcement

I wish to announce to my many friends, former patients and the public, the removal of my office from the Bank of Heppner building to the corner of Center and Gale streets, one half block west of old location. There is an entrance from both Gale street and Center street to the office and waiting rooms.

These new quarters will give me five large rooms instead of the small rooms in the former building and will enable me to install the most comprehensive electrotherapeutic and hydrotherapeutic equipment. I have at present the most modern and best equipped offices in the county and intend to add to the present all the electric appliances now that we have the current.

You are cordially invited to call and inspect the office and equipment. Office hours 9 to 12 a. m. and 1. to 5 p. m.
