Why You Should Vote For

BOOTH

Republican Candidate for United States Senator

Are you better off now than you were under a Republican administration?

Are you satisfied?

If you believe in the principles of the Republican Party, if you are convinced that these principles are best for the country, then prove it by voting for your standard bearer, Robert A. Booth, Republican candidate for the United States Senate.

You know that under Republican presidents the people of the United States have good times.

You know that under Democratic presidents you have Democratic times.

Remember the prosperity under McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

Remember the conditions under Cleveland and Wilson.

The issue in this campaign is not one of personality. It is not one of non-partisanship. It is a question of whether you prefer prosperity under Republican administration.

Do you have enough work? Are you getting a good? Is your business what you want it to be?

If you are satisfied with present conditions, well and good; if you believe that the present situation is better than under McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft, you know what to do.

The way to bring prosperity is to help elect a Republican Senate.

The Republican Candidate in Oregon is

R. A. BOOTH

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Congressman Sinnott is expected home soon from Washington to look after the matter of his re-election. He should have no fear in this matter as his record enthusiastically endorses him for another term. Sinnott has done more for this district than both of our Senators and he stuck to his job until Congress adjourned; not so Chamberlain and Lane who left their posts of duty to look after their personal interests in Oregon.

Said R. A. Booth in a campaign speech at Albany on September 4th: "My first utterance in this campaign was a promise to the people of Oregon that I would so conduct it that the men who opposed me for office should not have their lives saddened or their usefulness impaired by anything that I might say." The remark is characteristic of the kind hearted man that uttered it and should put to shame some of his cold-blooded opponents who are knifing him, not because he is R. A. Booth or because they think he unworthy of representing the people of Oregon at Washington, but because he is the Nominee of the Republican Party.

The Truth of Where He Stands On Nation-Wide Prohibition.

The Dalles, Oregon, October 20, 1914.

During the absence of Congressman Nick Sinnott at his post of duty at Washington the friends of George L. Cleaver, the Prohibition nominee for Representative from the Second District, are causing a house to house canvass to be made in Wasco and adjoining counties representing that Sinnott is "admittedly the supporter of the liquor interests." The "Out to Win" association of Portland is preparing to take a part in the political affairs of Eastern Oregon by flooding the State with circulars making a similar misrepresentation of Mr. Sinnott's position.

For months past Congressman Sinnott has replied to numerous constituents, both "wet" and "dry", who have written asking what position he would take when the question of a national prohibition amendment came up in Congress, clearly stating that his vote on that amendment would be determined by the vote of the Second Congressional District on the liquor question at the coming election. In his platform filed with the Secretary of State, Sinnott says "if nominated and elected, I will, during the term of my office, represent the views of the majority of my constituents." Sinnott holds that this plank embraces the liquor as well as other questions. He has consistently maintained this logical position all along.

A single instance will show how frank he has been with his constituents on this matter. During last August Mr. Albert E. White, of Free-water, who is a believer in prohibition, wrote Congressman Sinnott asking him to state his position on a National Prohibition Amendment. Sinnott replied as follows:

Washington, D. C. August 7, 1914.
Mr. Albert E. White,
Free-water, Oregon.

My Dear Sir:—

"I write to acknowledge receipt of yours of July 31st, and desire to express my appreciation of your kindness in writing to me and sending the enclosed clipping. As a candidate for representative in Congress on the Republican ticket, I do not feel it incumbent upon me to take part one way or the other in the issue involved in state prohibition in Oregon and I do not intend to do so. The National Prohibition Amendment, known as the Hobson Amendment, will not be voted upon at this session of Congress for the reasons set forth in the circular letter sent to members of the House by Congressman Hobson, a copy of which I herewith enclose. It will likely be voted upon at the next session commencing in December. When it comes up for a vote I expect, as the Representative of the Second Oregon District to voice the views of the majority of my constituents in that District as expressed in the November election. I received my nomination on the platform which I filed with the Secretary of State last March or April a copy of which I enclose. You will note that I therein state, 'If nominated and elected I will, during the term of my office, represent the views of the majority of my constituents.' I intend to keep this promise for I feel that it is the duty of a Representative in Congress to represent the views of the majority of his constituents, such representation is the very basis of our form of government. Kindly write me the name of the paper from which you took the clipping which you enclosed.

I trust that my position will meet with your approval and that I may continue to have your valued support. With kindest regards, I remain,
Very truly yours,
N. J. SINNOTT.

What Mr. White thought of the position taken by Congressman Sinnott is best shown by the following extract from his letter of reply to Mr. Sinnott, dated August 11, 1914.

"I have your favor of recent date and note your position which I think should be satisfactory to all your constituents, as it is to me. Since in the State fight you are representing nobody but yourself, it is your privilege and as a party nominee perhaps it is your duty, to reserve your opinion on this issue. In the National fight where you represent thousands of us, it is unquestionably your duty to vote the sentiment of the majority of your constituents if that can be determined. While State and National Prohibition are not identical issues, they are so closely related that I believe you would be justified in viewing them as an index to their probable view on the latter, and so I commend your decision to use the November vote of your constituents on the question of state prohibition as a factor to determine your vote on the Shephard-Hodson resolution.

Congressman Sinnott has written this sort of letters to so many constituents during the past months that the friends of Mr. Cleaver must know his position. When they circulate literature representing Mr. Sinnott as "admittedly the supporter of the liquor interests" it savors strongly of wilful misrepresentation. That this attempt is being made in the absence of Mr. Sinnott has aroused the indignation of his friends throughout the district, regardless of party, and promises to make even larger the immense majority which he will receive on November third.
