

CAR GOES BACKWARD INTO DITCH

Occupants of Rear Seat Thrown Out But None of Passengers Seriously Injured.

Just after crossing the small bridge in front of the Adkins residence in South Heppner in his automobile Tuesday evening, Jim Hayes had some trouble in some unaccountable manner with his gears and in the mixup the car started back down the grade. The hind wheels just barely missed the bridge on one side and a post on the other side and the machine dropped down over the 8-foot embankment. The front wheels of the car remained on the bridge tilting the car at about an 80-degree angle. Jim held right on to the wheel. Mrs. Hayes and one of her children, who were in the back seat did not stop when the machine did. They kept right on going. Nobody was seriously injured although it is a mystery how they escaped with only a few minor bruises. The car was not much hurt either. The running board on the right hand side was torn loose from its supporters and bent and that was about all that seemed to be wrong with the machine. That the rear end of the car is strongly constructed was amply proven in this instance, otherwise the heavy weight of the car falling such a distance would surely have made things fly in all directions. A crowd of men removed the car from its position on Wednesday. They accomplished the feat by letting the front wheels down into the ditch and turning the car towards the west. A rope was attached to the front axle and when the engine was started the men lugged on the rope until the car was finally dragged into the road.
