WEALTH. If I knew a miser who gave up every kind of comfortable living, all the pleasure of doing good to others, all the esteem of his fellow citizens and the joys of benevolent friendship for the sake of accumulating wealth, poor man, say I, you do, indeed, pay too much for your whistle.—Benjamin Franklin.

THE CITY

STREET CLEANING IN PHILADELPHIA.

Work Is Done Under Annual Contracts With Supervision of Highway Bureau.

Street cleaning in the city of Philadelphia is done under annual contracts, the city being divided into eight districts, and the work is under the supervision of the district engineers of the highway bureau and their corps of inspectors.

The specifications provide for the removal of ashes, waste and rubbish at least once each week from all buildings and for the cleaning of all streets six feet six inches in width or over, either by machine brooms, squeegees or flushers, in accordance with the schedule. All equipment must be operated in accordance with a schedule which specifies the streets in the order in which they are to be cleaned with the various types of equipment. chines and sprinklers are not used when the temperature conditions are such as to make their use undesirable, due to causing slippery streets in freezing weather. During the winter when this work cannot be done additional machine brooms and gangmen must be provided to clean the streets with the frequency called for.

Collections are made daily, except Sunday, in all sections of the city from residences. Garbage from retail groceries and fish dealers is collected daily in quantities not exceeding one bushel from each store or stand. Dead animals are also removed by the garbage contractor. The wagons used for the collection of garbage are one and two horse metal bodied wagons, water tight and of a capacity of one and one-half to two and one-half cubic yards. The garbage is hauled to the plant of the contractor and disposed of by the reduction method.—American City.

BUILDING UP A NEW TOWN.

An Authoritative Statement Regarding Scotch Plan Given Out.

An authentic statement regarding the plan given out, what might be regarded as the first authoritative and detailed statement in regard to the town planning of the new city to be erected in the vicinity of Rosyth dockyard and within the extended burg boundaries of Dunfermline, Scotland, was delivered by Bailie James Norval, Dunfermline, at a recent meeting of the Young Scots society.

Dealing with the roads of the new town, Bailie Norval said the main feature would be a triangular system. The principal thoroughfare, Primrose avenue, would be 200 feet wide, extending from Primrose farm to the proposed site for the new railway station to the east of the entrance to Pittreavie estate, which formed the base of an equilateral triangle of main roads. The apex of that triangle would be the entrance to the admiralty reserve ground.

Dealing with the housing, Bailie Norval said that, so far as possible, the cottage type of artisan dwelling would be built, except on the wide main roads, where blocks of a different character would be allowed. There were forty-one acres of open space in the admiralty ground, and ninety-four acres on Pittreavie estate would be laid out as a golf course, with a further twenty-eight acres on the same estate as a public open space. Lord Eglis had also contributed in this respect.

The population would be about 30,000 within ten years, this figure being based upon reliable information received from the admiralty.

FARMERS SHOULD ADVERTISE.

Ever since the days when the Assyrians carved their public notices upon the face of a cliff or upon some public building the bulletin board has continued to be used for community advertising. Oftentimes many farmers have been slow in disposing of their products to advantage because they have neglected to make the proper selections and then to advertise their excellence. They have failed to realize that this may be done to advantage both in the local papers and upon the time honored bulletin board.
