sented a two act drama, "The Patriot Girl". The setting of the story portrayed was vividly depicted by the stage scenery, a splendid piece of work in stage carpentry. Each of the actors carried their part in a delightful way, and the costumes, expressive of the part of each, were criterion to the detail and ability with which the play was arranged and directed. That Heppner High School students are capable of producing this class of drama and present it with such favorable scenery and setting speaks highly to the credit of the student ability and the class of instruction of the institution.

The Annual Ball of the Heppner Lodge of Elks is an event of this week to which the local members of the lodge and their ladies have been looking forward to for a long time. The officers have been notified by many neighboring lodges of delegations which will visit here and extensive preparations are being made for their entertainment. During the afternoon the lodge will initiate a large number of candidates and in the evening a banquet will be served, buffet style in the Fair Pavilion. The local lodge has asked and received the co-operation of the business men of the city in the decorations, which will be liberally scattered over the town. The colors of the order, purple and white, will be combined with evergreen to beautify these parts which will be the centers of activity. The special train from Condon, which will be loaded to the guards with the brothers of that lodge and their ladies is scheduled to arrive at noon. From then festivities will be turned loose to end late in the day with the completion of the Ball. Weak neighbors and nervous people are hereby advised to "go fishing" or keep in doors as this affair promises to be a real event.

AT MINOR & COMPANY

Just arrived, several new models of Royal Worcester and Bon Ton Corsets fresh with Fashion's latest touch. Those who already wear there fashionable corsets need no further invitation than this new announcement.

And to all others we would say that this showing of Royal Worcester and Bon Ton models is a style event well worth visiting.

The dawning vogue is one of personality. Style tendencies will be interpreted in terms of the wearers' figure, and mode must lend itself to the enhancement of individual charm. Thus Saith Fashion, and her decrees are perfectly fulfilled in Bon Ton and Royal Worcester Corsets.
