SUPPLEMENT

VOLUME 3

HEPPNER, OREGON, FRIDAY, MARCH 30, 1917.

NO. 47

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Guy Hadley, of Hardman, was in town Wednesday.

G. E. Millett, of Salem, was here during the week.

Art Finley, Lexington farmer, was in the city Wednesday.

John Fine, of Alpine, was in town on business Wednesday.

Louis Judd was in town from Sand Hollow during the week.

L. McBea, Skinner creek sheep man, was in town Wednesday.

Among the Lexington people in the city Wednesday were Frank Moyer, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Duron and Mrs. Carmichael.

Mrs. Albert Bowker, of Heppner, returned on Monday to her home after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gay Purdy—Condon Globe.

Work on the improvements in the Palace hotel basement is progressing. Manager Wilkins reports that lathing and plastering the ceilings and walls will begin at once and when the cement floor is laid the finishing touches will proceed rapidly.

A report of the death of J. E. Berwick, who is in a Portland hospital, was current on the streets Monday evening, but was proven a mistake Tuesday morning when Dr. Winward called up the hospital and was informed that Mr. Berwick is rapidly recovering.

George Perry, optimist, of Rock creek, was in Heppner, Monday. George is thinking of going out of the sheep business and planting a banana grove on his ranch as he says the sub-tropical climate out that way should be perfectly adapted to that class of fruit.

Chaetle Ayers and Linus Judd, well known Heppner boys and members of the Third Oregon were called yesterday for service with their regiment, and left for Portland this morning. Both boys served on the border all summer.

Mrs. Beech Haines, of Lone, was a Heppner visitor Wednesday.

Mack Stewart arrived here from Wolf Creek Oregon, Wednesday.

Dan Henshaw, of Blackhorse, was a business visitor in town Wednesday.

Earnest Moyer, well known farmer of Blackhorse, was in Heppner, Wednesday.

The Herald is now prepared to handle all your commercial printing. Give us a trial order.

Roy Ashbaugh, of Hardman, was doing business in Heppner the last of the week.

E. E. Clark, the barber, moved Wednesday into the cottage recently vacated by Dr. Haylor.

See the Ford Ton Truck on the street daily demonstration. E. H. Kellogg, Morrow County Agent Palace Hotel, Heppner.

Matt T. Hughes, a former well-known resident of Heppner, now in the stock business at Lone Rock, was in the city Wednesday on business.

An anonymous article from Lexington has been received at this office which cannot be published because unsigned. The stamps enclosed will be returned to writer if name is sent in.

LOST—Large brown mink muff. Black stripe. Left on bench on west side of Fair pavilion at Elks' ball. Finder will please leave at Herald office. Reward.—46-48.

Victor Gresham received letters from his sons, Harry and Charlie, yesterday, written from the naval training station at San Francisco. The boys are well and pleased with their new surroundings.

Rev. Mr. Noyes, pastor of the Federated church, is preaching a series of interesting sermons on the Ten Commandments. His discourse last Sunday morning was on the second Commandment and was an interesting and instructive one.

BLACK BUTTE ITEMS

Lay McFerrin went to Heppner Saturday.

There is still considerable snow near Reid's mill.

Albert Mattison and wife are staying with their son, Elmer.

William Sanders, of Reid's mill, went to Heppner the other day and his brother, Alfred, returned with him.

Elmer Mattison was a visitor in Heppner, Monday. Mr. Mattison is feeding 77 head of cattle for Thompson & Jentry.

CECIL NOTES

Chas. Sperry, of Lone, was a business visitor at Cecil on Monday last.

Henry Carr, who has been helping Jack Hynd through lambing, returned to Heppner, Monday.

F. M. Broda, of Morgan, was in town Monday with three head of beef cattle which he sold to C. A. Minor.

Hay! hay! hay! is the cry at Cecil. Jack Hynd shipped four car loads to Baker last week. C. A. Minor is shipping what he has baled. W. B. Ewing has sold out and is shipping as fast as he can get cars. J. H. Franklin closed a deal Monday, selling in the stack at $12 per ton. He sold to a party at LaGrande, and we understand the buyer is shipping an outfit down here to bale the hay.

The dance at Cecil hall last Saturday evening was well attended, although it was a bad night as to weather. Bowker's orchestra, of Portland, furnished the music. Alex Wilson, who has been in New York all winter, surprised his many friends here by appearing at the dance with a blushing young bride whom he had captured while on his trip east. Alex received many congratulations and was given a ride around the hall in a wheelbarrow.
