Joy in Trying.

Do not allow yourself to just drift along through life. Set before you an aim, some real purpose. Cultivate hope and ambition to accomplish something. Do not be contented to let things happen; make things happen. Whatever your business or occupation aim to excel in it. Financial gain is not all one gets from labor well performed. Your character is elevated and your mind is enlarged, and the satisfaction in having done well is the most real joy. Don't be afraid to set your aim high. Gild it with your highest ideals. Let the hope of its attainment nerve you every act. Turn incidents and circumstances toward the attainment of your aim. If you have no aim you reach nowhere. A life without a purpose is a dreary thing, without real joy. Suppose you fail to reach the heights you have set as your standard; you will have gone higher than if you had not striven. You will be more useful, of more worth, than if you had not tried. —Milwaukee Journal.

An Expert in Motives.

Cousin Henry is an expert in motives. If you were reading off a list of names and overlooked Henry he would understand. He would know exactly the motive that prompted you to do it. If you don't think to introduce him to the man who is with you he can see through it. He may have to go back four or five years, but he will make a complete case against you. In less than an hour he will know what your motive was. Right now he is angry because his daughter was not selected as valedictorian of her class. You may think that the other girl deserved to be selected, but you don't know all that Henry knows. It is a long story, but he is willing to tell it to you, and after hearing it you will understand the motive—you will understand that it is a case of spite work. —Claude Callan in Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

How David Garrick Made His Fortune.

If David Garrick had had no more than his salary as an actor he would have had little to leave at his death. He made his fortune as joint proprietor, and for a time as sole proprietor, of Drury Lane theater, so that the amount set down to himself as salary was practically nominal. When he retired from the stage in 1776 he sold half his share in the theater for £35,000. He was probably the only actor who consistently made Shakespeare pay, and, like Shakespeare, he was actor, author and proprietor. It may be recalled that Garrick, who had no enemies outside his own profession, was the grandson of a Frenchman exiled at the revocation of the edict of Nantes and that his father was a captain in the army.—London Standard.

Well Balanced Diet.

One of the most common faults of the diet is the eating of too much protein foods. In excess this is hard for the body to excrete and is likely to decompose in the intestines with the formation of poisonous waste products. Green vegetables and raw fruit are important elements of the diet. There is little energy in these foods, but they supply mineral salts which the body needs and curious substances called vitamins, which are easily destroyed by cooking.

One food expert has suggested a rule for securing a well balanced diet. It is: An ordinary family should spend about as much for milk, vegetables and fruits as for meats, fish and eggs and as much for milk and eggs as for meat and fish.

Follies of Science.

The history of science has seven problems which men in all ages more or less have tried to solve, but which have finally been given up by all. Today they are called follies.

The usual list comprises the following: First, squaring the circle; second, duplication of the cube; third, trisection of an angle; fourth, perpetual motion; fifth, transmutation of metals; sixth, fixation of mercury; seventh, elixir of life. Some lists put the philosopher's stone for the last three and then add astrology and magic to make the seven.

Too Much For Him.

"I thought he was going to marry that girl?"
"Well, he did think of it. But it seems when he called the other night she threw him down."
"Well, if she's as good as that at wrestling I don't blame him for quitting."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Not That Bill.

"I can't tell a canvasback duck from a barnyard specimen."
"Experts say you can tell by the bill."
"How so? The bill for one is always as high as the bill for the other. That's what I'm kicking about."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Just a Change in Words.

Young Clerk—Do you like to stand in front of the store and see the crowds go by? Old Merchant—No, but I like to stand in the back of our store and see the crowds come by.—Exchange.

A Sticker.

Howell—Howell is a man of tenacity. Powell—Yes. If he were a dog and got a grip on your trousers you would be perfectly safe in ordering a new pair.

Pistols.

Pistols were invented at Pistoia, Italy, and were first used by English cavaliers in 1544.

Gold, like the sun, which melts wax and hardens clay, expands great souls and contracts bad hearts.—Rivaroli.

A COMPOSITION ON THE WORD "CAN"

If you read this composition one of the objects for which it is written will be accomplished.

There are two other reasons why this is wished on to you. The first one is that people are supposed to be hungry for this sort of stuff and unless they get about so much dished up steaming along with the hot cakes in the morning they figure that the guy that's peddling that particular brand of Coin Separator don't amount to more than a soiled duce and his wares are not in the same class as the sport who smears the front page all over with a lot of Con talk that no one believes.

The third reason is that I need the money.

I suppose that you are beginning to wonder what all this line of chatter is about anyway, but be patient, I'm liable to say something pretty soon.

I'm not going to start out and tell you how badly you'll get stung if you don't patronize me, but are foolish enough to buy a piano from some of my competitors. I'm not the only original little philanthropist. Between you and me there are some mighty decent men in the piano business. Whisper it gently, all evidence to the contrary notwithstanding. You can buy a good piano from any of them. You notice that I say "can." You don't always—not quite. I want you to take particular notice of that little word "can." A man regardless of how honest he is and all these sort of things, don't want your business bad enough to sell you a piano for less than it costs him. He CAN do all that he CAN but he CAN'T sell without a profit very long.

CAN a man who buys through a middleman, that buys of a jobber that buys of the factory sell to you as cheap as another fellow who buys direct from the factory. Four profits against two.

Foolish question No. 1-

Can a firm that advertises in the Oregonian and other big dailies, runs a big store, pays huge rent, enormous managers salary, clerks, lights and an army of help that don't produce, sell as cheap as a small fry like Yours Truly that has none of these expenses?

Idle inquiry No. 2.

Can you blame a man that is unfortunate enough to be running a piano business under the above conditions and needs your business, as they all do, their expenses like Time goes on forever, for trying to sell you an inferior piano when you state your limit to be lower than he can afford to sell you a good instrument for.

Idiotic Interrogation No. 3.

Can a man who sells his paper at a heavy discount to the banks or private capitalists sell to you as cheap as the other fellow who has ample capital and financial backing to carry your account himself, and to whom your paper is as good as your cash.

Echo answers "Can he?"

That word "Can" is important as you pay the bill. Most every dealer is honest and will do all he CAN for you, and still make a profit. Now don't get the idea from this that I am going to tell you I don't make a profit. Bless your soul I can talk to you in a tone of voice that has melted ice from Alaska to Los Angeles in an attempt to get you to loosen up with some of the necessary and if I can wheedle you into paying me Five Hundred Real Iron Jingles for the same quality of piano the other guy who makes a splash gets Six Hundred and Seventy Five for I will be real pleased, I'm after the Coin just as hard as any of them but the point is, that:

I represent the P. S. Wick Piano Factory Direct

My prices are Manufacturers Prices to the Big Dealers.

I have no running overhead expenses like the so called Big Houses.

I am completely financed with Eastern 5 percent money.

Suppose that I am no greedier than the other fellow for a profit, and suppose again that I am just as anxious for your business as he is I CAN do better by you than he CAN, CAN I not?

I have sold to date 135 Wick and Shattuck pianos in this country. In other words One Hundred and Thirty Five poor deluded mortals have fallen for my particular brand of bunk, and they all tell me they like it. Funny isn't it? I would like to hear from you to the effect that you might consider being victim No. 136. I endeavor to make the operation of Separation as painless as possible, but even if it hurts a little, you'll feel like you do after you have a tooth pulled, so satisfied and contented that you'll be glad you was operated on.

As to the quality of my pianos and my methods of doing business and my treatment of my customers after they buy ask your neighbors

Quite a little excitement was made manifest Monday forenoon when R. W. Snider's team ran away. Mr. Snider stopped in front of Barnett's store, leaving his little son in the wagon. He stepped into a store for a moment when a car driven by Earl Barton drove in and stopped directly in front of the team which frightened them, they turned and ran down main street turned down another street and crossed the bridge safely. As the little boy had presence of mind enough to grab one line and head them into the fence when they were caught by some one. Everyone thought the little boy would be thrown out and killed but he was lucky as he was unhurt. There is a moral for both parties in this accident.
