

PROTECTION FOR FUNDS

SECURITY for money deposited here at the Farmers & Stockgrowers National Bank is threefold: Government Laws and Regulations, Modern Time-locked Fire and Burglar Proof Vaults and Conservative Management. You will find all three features of importance.

May we suggest that you call and get acquainted with our Directors and Officers?

GUY BOYER.

ED. MILLER, Auctioneer.

Spencer Crawford returned from a week's visit at Portland Sunday evening.

Guy Boyer, the well known mule fancier, will sell 45 of his pets at public auction next Wednesday, as per bills posted and advertisement in this issue. Guy says these splendid specimens of four footed canaries are of most affectionate dispositions, sweet tempered and intelligent, and he will guarantee that they will make more valuable pets than either poodle dogs or Teddy bears.

J. W. Crethe, first vice-president of the Farmers & Stockgrowers Bank, was here from Portland on business for a few days last week. W. S. Spencer drove him to Arlington to catch the train Sunday morning.

F. M. Bayless, who has been in charge of the county farm for some time past, has given up that position and recently bought the Jake Wattenberer residence property for a consideration of $3500.00. It is understood Mr. Wattenberer and family will remove to Pendleton.

BANK APPEALS TO SMALL DEPOSITORS

WHILE this Bank transacts a general banking business and enjoys the patronage of large depositors, it appeals to people who wish to make smaller deposits on personal or family accounts. This Bank accepts deposits in any amount and serves the small depositor with the same courtesy as it extends to larger depositors. New accounts are cordially invited, in small as well as large amounts, and every depositor is assured the greatest security for money and every attention and service.

George Moore, a stockman of the Spray country, was a business visitor in Heppner Tuesday night.

Ray Rogers, popular clerk in Minor & Co.'s store, has gone to Portland to enlist in some branch of the national army.

Mrs. Lena Snell Shurte, Morrow county's efficient school superintendent, went to Portland Sunday morning on a business trip.

Dr. McMurdo and Will Herrin are back from a hunting trip during which Doc killed a fine, big, fat buck and then lost him, Hard luck.

Seven cars of sheep went out from the local yards Wednesday morning. They were bought here by W. T. Matlock for the Seattle market.

A Sunday School has been organized at the Episcopal church and interesting sessions are held in the church each Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

Mrs. J. H. Wyland, of Hardman, visited at the home of her brother, C. L. Keitney, a day or two last week, returning to Hardman Saturday.

Judge G. W. Phelps came over Tuesday to attend to some routine court matters which demanded attention before the regular November term.

Mrs. Phil Jones, who has been seriously ill all summer, has so far recovered as to be able to go over to Hardman Saturday where she visited friends and relatives several days.

The ladies' guild of the Episcopal church will meet at the home of Mrs. Hanson Hughes, Thursday, October 11th. Each lady is requested to bring material from which to make an apron during the afternoon.

Lester Ingram left Thursday morning for Salt Lake City to try that climate as a remedy for asthma. If he is not benefited there he expects to go on to Arizona where he may locate. Mrs. Ingram will remain in Heppner until he is settled.

H. A. Nagl, who has been in Portland for a few weeks came out Tuesday to join his contingent of comrades who left for American Lake Wednesday morning. Mrs. Nagl is located in Portland, where she will probably reside during his absence.

Wm. Ayers has received a letter from his son Charlie, who was called to the colors last April, stating that he has been sent to North Carolina where he is now in camp. Charlie expects to be sent to France before long if the war doesn't go to smash before they get started.

W. P. Dutton, former resident here, came out from Portland Tuesday to spend a few days looking after business matters.

Gayle Shurte, who recently underwent an operation in the Heppner hospital in order to fit himself for service in the army medical corps, was on the street for the first time Monday greeting his friends and nodding soon to be ready for service.

L. W. Charles, who has recently taken over the plant of the Lone Independent, was in Heppner Wednesday and announces that he will get out his first issue of the Lone paper next week. Mr. Charles is a newspaper man of experience and the Herald wishes him great success in his new venture. The Independent has had many ups and downs, but we will hope the present owner will put it on its feet.

New Fall Models in Wirthmor Waists

The Standard Dollar
Waists of America

This Blouse is developed of a very pretty fancy striped Voile—a new Fall material. The front center is of plain white Voile solidly tucked, lending a most pleasing effect. The large collar, coming to deep points in front and turn back cuffs are also of plain white Voile. Sleeves are inset with hem-stitching. A model that will be much admired.

A simple, appealing model that almost anyone, be they large or small, could wear becomingly. The front is solidly tucked almost to shoulder seams with tucks of alternating widths. The collar is so fashioned that it is equally attractive when worn upstanding or laying down. Collar and turn-back cuffs are outlined with dainty Venice Pico edging. Two very large ocean pearl buttons for fastening. Made of a splendid quality of Voile.

A neat, semi tailored model, simply and effectively trimmed. The collar is convertible—can be worn high or low. The front is attractively trimmed with pretty embroidery and four full length tucks with short shoulder tucks for fullness. Sleeves are finished with turn-back cut in point effect. Three large ocean pearl buttons for fastening are ornamental as well as useful. A practical, sensible, serviceable Waist.

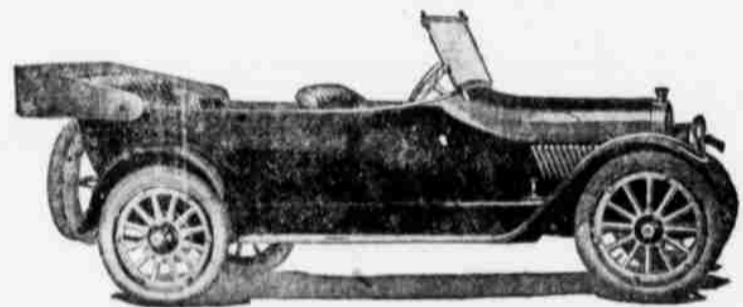

Somewhat more elaborate than the other three models in this group, and a Blouse that has the appearance and character of a far more costly model. The embroidery covering entire front is particularly pretty and distinctive; while the collar is embroidered all over in matching design. Hem-stitching is liberally applied on collar, down front fold, and to inset sleeves, lending added refinement. A Blouse that will find favor everywhere.

We highly recommend them because of their unusual merit—and genuine worth.

Catches Many Coyotes

Harold R. Abalt, of Ceel, who was one of the men called for examination last week, did not receive his notice until Sunday and came to town Monday to take the examination. Mr. Abalt has been trapping coyotes for the government all summer in the northern part of Morrow and Gilliam counties and with very good success. He trapped 26 of the animals during the month of August. If they will leave Harald take his traps over to Europe and give him a show to put them out he might get coyote kaiser by the hind leg.
