GOOD ROADS FOR MORROW COUNTY

The result of Tuesday's road tax election in the six road districts thru which the proposed State Highway will pass, is most gratifying to all progressive citizens of the county. A three to one vote in favor of good roads and progress means a lot to Morrow county. It means, to begin with, that this county will now receive at least a portion of her share of the State Highway fund; it means that Morrow county has taken her place in the column of progressive Oregon counties and that, barring the possibility of an entire cessation of road building activities on account of the war, the road will be speedily built; that the central part of the county will attract and profit by a share of the tourist travel and last but not least, that the wheat-growing sections of the county will be given a water-level, paved Highway directly to the Columbia river.

For several months the Herald has urged the last-mentioned proposition as the strongest argument that can be advanced in favor of good roads in Morrow county. The argument has not appealed to some good road advocates because they considered it visionary. They do not believe that any method of transportation can be devised that can successfully compete with the railroads. "The world do move," however, and the following excerpt from a recent Oregonian editorial relative to modern transportation methods offers pretty strong support to the Herald's contention:

"The long distance truck express line is not altogether a novelty. Because of railroad congestion the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company has established a private express between Akron, Ohio, and Boston. Each of four trucks makes a round trip (1510 miles) in less than one week and is usually on time. Tires are delivered to Eastern branches, and cotton fabric and machinery for the Akron plant are brought on the return trips. War orders have been successfully delivered in Washington. This line, its owners claim, is a financial success, although 28 miles of the road is unimproved and some bridges are in poor condition."

If the Goodyear company can make a financial success of a truck line over a distance of 755 miles, much of that distance being over a hilly country and 28 miles unimproved, what can hinder the people of Morrow county hauling their wheat and other products over an all-down-hill paved road, to water transportation and, if you please, hauling back the wood and coal and other supplies needed by our people?

Cecil Items

The Rev. Dr. Van Waters of Portland was in Cecil the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hynd, Butte Flat, Monday and gave a very interesting address in the Cecil hall in the evening, which was attended by almost everyone in the community, old and young, all wishing him to come back again which he promised he would on the 10th of December.

Mr. Boyer, of Lexington, was a business caller in Cecil Monday.

A MacPhee of Portland, did some business in Cecil Monday. Mrs. Barnard and daughter, of Heppner, were visiting with Mr.

and Mrs. J. H. Franklin the early part of the week.

A. Henriksen did some good work while in Pendleton on Monday.

Messrs. Pearson and Wilcox, of Heppner, came to Cecil Monday contracting to bale hay. Mrs. T. H. Lowe made a very successful collection in aid of the soldiers' Christmas presents, handing over to Morrow County Chapter of the Red Cross the sum of $21.15.

Tom Morgan, of Heppner, came to visit with his son, S. M. Morgau, of Rhea Siding, Tuesday.

Alfred Osborn, of Cecil, had a slight accident Tuesday night while riding to the postoffice. His horse stepped into a badger hole and threw it rider heavily to the ground—fortunately no injuries were sustained.

Geo. D. Anderson and C. W. Oney brought in another fine band of sheep for Jack Hynd Tuesday.

C. H. Winters hauled his last load of wheat to the Cecil warehouse on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hynd autoed to Heppner, accompanied by Geo. W. Wilson, Tuesday, returning home Wednesday.

Jack Hynd had a busy day Thursday collecting for the Y. N. C. A.

Messrs. C. W. and Whitley Ewing left for Oakland Thursday to visit with their parents for awhile.

Mr. Peter Bauerfiend left on the local for Heppner Thursday to attend to business matters concerning the late Frank Habelt's estate, returning Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Shurte, of Heppner, were guests of Mrs. Bennett Thursday.

Miss Ioez Easten was the guest of Mrs. J. H. Franklin on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. McFadden, of the Burnett place, were business callers in Cecil on Friday.

Mrs. Thos. Forkner returned home from the Willows Friday.

J. H. Franklin and son took an auto trip to Arlington Friday.

Mrs. J. H. Franklin visited with Mrs. Jack Hynd Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Minor are visiting at their residence (the last camp) Cecil.

Messrs. F. H. Lowe, Miller and Walter Pope, accompanied by Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. Logan and Misses Easton, Logan and Georgia Summers autoed to Ella Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hynd and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin were visiting with Mr. and Mrs. A. Henriksen on Sunday.

Mr. and C. E. Franklin autoed in their new Ford car to Heppner Sunday.

Pat Farley, of the Willows has invested in a car lately.

The "Cecil Maggie" has now gone to camp with its snop.

C. A. Minor has bought the ranch belonging to J. Miller, of Pendleton. It joins Mr. Minor's "last camp" at Cecil and is now occupied by J. H. Franklin.

HARDMAN HAPPENINGS

Roy Ashbaugh has made a tractor out of his old Ford which he is using to plow with on his farm in Rood Canyon. It is proving quite a success.

Mrs. W. W. Berkdolt has recovered sufficient for her mother Mrs. J. L. Simpson, who has been nursing her, to return to her home in Heppner.

Carl McDaniel had the misfortune to get one of his feet pretty badly mashed Monday while working in Fred Ashbaugh's saw mill, 7 1-2 miles southeast of Hardman. In some way he got his foot caught in a belt which threw it against a set screw. At first it was thought his toes were broken. He was taken to a doctor at Heppner and it was found that one toe was badly mashed.

It may have to be amputated later.

Mrs. Lena Owens came out on the stage Tuesday and spent a few hours in town, calling on friends and relatives.

Mrs. Gill Coats was taken to the Heppner Sanitarium last week, and is said to be in a critical condition.

Henry Knighten met with quite a painful accident a few days ago while working at the Blake ranch. He was putting hay in the barn with a derrick fork when he caught his hand in the derrick and tore off his finger nails. He will probably be laid up for some time with a sore hand.

J. A. Adams returned from Corvallis Monday evening, where he and Mrs. Adams had gone to visit with their children. Mrs. Adams will remain in Corvallis for the winter. Their son Belva, who came home from the training camp for a visit, was married in LaGrande, Ore., to Miss Mary Robinson, an accomplished young lady of that county. They came to Corvallis to meet the family and visit a few days. From there the happy couple left on Friday, Nov. 17, for California and will make their home on Mare Island. Their many friends join in wishing them success and happiness through life.

Quite a number of Heppner people motored to Hardman Sunday to help in the organization of the Morrow County Chapter of the Red Cross. About sixteen members of the new branch were secured at this meeting. Mrs. Prophet was elected chairman, Mrs. Bleakman treasurer, and Miss Nellie Wright secretary. The girls of the Hardman High School are planning to give a supper and donate the proceeds to the Red Cross. The date on which the supper will be given has not yet been decided. Among the Heppner visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Cohen, Harold Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Pattison, Mr. and Mrs. Shutt, Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Binns, Mr. Van Vactor, Mr. Mahoney, Miss Muriel Cason and Miss Baker. Miss Baker, accompanied by Miss Cason on the organ, sang a very touching and beautiful song appropriate to the occasion.

The High School donated very generously to the Y. M. C. A. fund. Eleven dollars and fifty cents was raised.

Red Cross Notes

Bring in your old pieces of linen—they are still needed.

Have your late magazines ready this Saturday, Nov. 24, and the school students will call for them.

Get ready for the big donation bazaar, Saturday, Dec. 8.

There is work for all at the Red Cross headquarters at the M. E. Church South.

Donations for the Red Cross Bazaar will be received at the M. E. Church South on Friday afternoons.
