DANGEROUS COMBINATIONS

It is often said in these days of many automobiles, speed maniacs and careless drivers, that whiskey and gasoline make a dangerous combination and the assertion is no doubt correct. Many people are killed, crippled or almost scared to death with considerable frequency by this mixture and much property is destroyed or jeopardized.

There is another combination, however, which, judging from recent happenings, is of really more concern to Heppner people and that is small children and matches. Last Monday two small tots in quest of amusement and excitement started a nice little fire in an open shed at the rear of the Herald office and only for timely discovery of the incipient blaze by the foreman of the office whose attention was attracted by the smoke which penetrated the building, the entire block and perhaps a good portion of the town might have been in ashes. Only a few weeks ago a similar fire was started, it is said by the same children, in a shed in Stewart's feed corral back of the Gazette-Times office. Timely discovery in that case also saved the town from a disastrous conflagration. These children are too young to realize the disastrous consequences that might result from their acts but perhaps a judicious amount of paddling administered while the youngsters recline across the parental knee, may make them realize that further activities along the fire-starting line will result further unpleasant experiences for themselves.

A safe rule for parents of children old enough to play with matches and young enough not to realize the danger to themselves and the community is to make an invariable practice of keeping matches in some safe place where the children can by no possibility reach them. It will be safer for the children, safer for the property interests of the town while adding indefinitely to the peace of mind of the neighborhood.

CECIL ITEMS

J. H. Franklin, Jack Hynd and T. H. Lowe were Morgan visitors Monday, explaining the road election.

Mrs. T. H. Lowe visited Grandma Melton, who had had one of her sick spells again, and is now much improved.

J. H. Miller stayed over night at the Franklin ranch Monday, leaving for his place in his Ford early next morning.

Joe White left Willows for Heppner with a bunch of cattle, Tuesday.

Mrs. Boyd Logan and Mrs. T. J. Forkner, were callers on Mrs. J. M. Melton Tuesday.

Mrs. Herb Everett and son, were visiting with Mrs. Albert Nash Tuesday.

Harvey S. Ewing, Roy Duncan, John McIntire and John Nash were at the election at Morgan Tuesday, also A. Hendrikson, Jack Hynd, J. W. Osborn and all the Cecilites.

Mrs. Jas. Montague of Eightmile, presented her husband with a big boy Wednesday morning.

Karl Farnsworth of Rhea Sidling, was informed Wednesday that there was a new daughter in Heppner for him. Karl says he will not require any hired help just now.

Mrs. R. S. Wilson left for Portland for a few days, Wednesday.

Jean Fairhurst has been in Heppner on business, during the week.

Albert Wilbur of Cecil, left for Rhode Island. W. A. Thomas saw him off from the Junction Wednesday.

Jack Hynd took A. Henriksen and his two sons over to Rock Creek, Thursday.

G. L. McMillan of Lexington, was in Cecil doing business with Peter Bauernfiend Thursday.

Ellis R. Minor shipped a fine lot of turkeys to Portland Thursday.

Francis Broady and wife of Morgan, were doing business in and around Cecil Thursday.

T. W. Lowe returned from Sand Hollow Friday.

Hugh Reed of Heppner, was a Cecil visitor Saturday, and took in the basket social.

T. J. Forkner, who has been working for J. W. Osborn for the past few weeks, is now taking a little lay-off owing to a severe cold.

C. H. Winters had a trip to Ione Saturday, to see some of his old friends.

The Basket Social organized by Mrs. T. H. Lowe in aid of the Red Cross, was a bumping success, upwards of 200 people being present; Arlington, Gooseberry, Montague, Ione and Morgan being represented. A lively waltz played by H. S. Ewing and Paul Anderson started off the evening's entertainment. Basket selling commenced at 10 o'clock. There were 37 baskets in all sold, selling from $4.50 up to $12.50 each. Some of them very beautiful designs, one in particular, a bachelor's basket for ladies only to bid on was sold for $12. Dancing was continued until 2:30 a. m. Music was voluntarily furnished by H. S. Ewing and Paul Anderson assisted by Miss Irene Douglas. Everybody having a good time—always do at Cecil. Great praise is due to A. Henriksen for the able and efficient manner in which he disposed of the baskets as auctioneer. H. S. Ewing was the auctioneer's clerk and had rather a strenuous time for awhile. The total proceeds amounted to the nice little sum of $234.15.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Minor spent the week end at The Last Camp, and attended the basket social.

LEXINGTON ITEMS
