Return From Eastern Trip

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Buckrum, proprietors of the Eastern Hotel, returned Saturday from a six week's trip to the east and report having had a delightful vacation. They visited their old home at Binghamton, N. Y., took in Niagara Falls and many other points of interest, and spent a week in New York city. Everybody is busy back there, Mr. Buckrum says, and if a man is caught not working for even a half a day he is called upon to give an account of himself. Binghamton has the largest shoe factory in the world employing 13,000 people. Mr. and Mrs. Buckrum noticed many changes around their former home since their last visit ten years ago.

Mrs. George Smith, of Monument, underwent an operation Monday for the removal of a cancer. Dr. A. D. McMurdo performed the operation. She will be able to return shortly.

WOOLGROWERS HOLD INTERESTING MEETING

Headed by W. B. Barratt, president, and J. O. Hager, secretary, of the Oregon Woolgrowers Association, a large delegation of Morrow county sheepmen went to The Dalles last week to attend the twentieth annual convention of their association.

The meeting was highly successful and reports from all over the state show the sheep business to be in a highly flourishing condition.

W. B. Barratt, of this city, who has served the association as president for the past two years, and who was again re-elected over his protest, delivered a splendid address in which he reviewed the past and present condition of the industry, markets etc. He defended the action of the Oregon woolgrowers in holding their wool from the market as the only way of keeping it from the hands of greedy speculators who, had they been able to control the Oregon crop would have been in a position to demand any price they might ask from the government and the civilian consumer. He also pointed out that the Oregon woolgrowers are the first on record to pledge their support, in a tender their wool to the government for war purposes. "The fight is on between the grower and the speculator," declared the speaker, "and will, I hope, be fought to the bitter end." The speaker paid his respects to eastern speculators who, he declared, are holding hundreds of millions of pounds for a price which will net them more than 100 per cent profit.

Mr. Barratt reviewed the scab situation in this county the present season and urged that should it again appear there should be an enforced general dipping next spring. He also urged the opening of more sheep trails through the Forest Reserves to facilitate the movement of flocks to and from the summer ranges.

The business is in better shape than ever before, the speaker said, and the prices of wool and mutton has advanced 100 per cent in the past year.

Economy on the part of sheepmen was urged by the speaker, because of the high cost of conducting the business, shortage of competent help, etc., and particularly patriotic demands upon all good citizens to contribute liberally if their substance "to the all-absorbing cause—the mightiest problem mankind has ever been called upon to solve—winning the war."

The address was largely a splendid plea for patriotism and for a united effort in the cause of humanity and justice.

At the conclusion of Mr. Barratt's address an impromptu demonstration took place during which the entire convention marched to the platform and complimented the speaker, after which a resolution was passed ordering the printing of 2,000 copies of the address for general distribution.

While at the Herald office Saturday Mrs. Bert Bleakman and Mrs. Guy Hadley remembered their sister, Mrs. L. M. Fuqua, who recently removed to Nampa, Idaho, with an appropriate Christmas present in a year's subscription to the Heppner Herald.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS HOLD INITIATION

A large number of Heppner people attended the initiation ceremonies and banquet held by Pendleton Council, K. of C. last Sunday and all report one of the most pleasant occasions of the year.

Among the Heppner contingent were Francis A. McMEnamin, who acted as chairman and toast master at the banquet, and John F. Kenny, who delivered a splendid address at the banquet which won many friends for the young speaker. Other speakers of the evening were: Bishop O'Reilly, of Baker; Father Brown, of Pendleton; W. L. Thompson, chairman of the Pendleton Red Cross Chapter; Clarence Bishop, chairman Umatilla county Y. M. C. A.; Leon Cohn, F. J. Loneragan, A. A. Lmith, Pat Galliger and Eugene Molliter.

A class of 35 candidates were initiated. A report read at the meeting showed that over $1000 has already been collected for the K. of C. war fund, of which $372.00 was raised by the Heppner Hibernian division.

While no effort was made to collect from others than members of the K. of C. or their Catholic friends, the committee is pleased to report the following voluntary contributions from non-members of their order: W. P. Mahoney, $50.00; S. W. Spencer, $10; Percy Hughes $10.
