

BUY A "SMILAGE BOOK" SEND IT TO A SOLDIER

About the most cheerful campaign for war purposes yet put on is the "Smilage Book" campaign which was organized in Heppner last evening with Mayor W. W. Smead as chairman. Mr. Smead was appointed chairman for this county by the war department.

The object of the campaign is to provide cheerful amusement and entertainment for "our boys in uniform." Each smilage book contains coupons good for admission to Liberty theaters, etc., at cantonments and camps. A book costing $1 contains 20 coupons; a book costing $5 contains 100 coupons. Each book has a space upon which may be inscribed the name of a soldier, but this is not necessary. The books or coupons are transferable to soldiers in uniform only, except that a soldier with coupons may take a civilian friend to an entertainment as his guest. The goal for this campaign is $1,000,000 worth of smilage books or more. When you buy a book send it to some soldier friend by mail or mail it to General Headquarters and it will be given to some soldier.

MORROW COUNTY REAL ESTATE ACTIVE

An important deal in Heppner business property was reported Monday when it became known that T. J. Humphreys had purchased a one half interest in the building he now occupies with his drug store from Frank Roberts, the consideration being, it is understood, $7,500. The building is one of the best in the city, being of Morrow county stone construction and in good condition. The location is one of the best in the city and Mr. Humphreys has no doubt made a splendid investment. Mr. Humphreys is having the big show windows in his store made modern and has also installed a modern electric sign, and now has one of the finest drug stores in eastern Oregon.

John Piper a successful farmer in the Lexington district, has sold his wheat farm located northeast of that town to C. Rehse, a recent arrival from Hillsboro. The consideration is given at $20,000.

Roy White reports the sale of four lots on Court street to Mrs. James Thomson. The property belonged to Mrs. A. L. Ayers.

The Herald's Roll of Honor

New subscribers and renewals received by the Herald during the present month show that people appreciate the Herald as a local newspaper. They are as follows:

William Moreland Passes

William Moreland, an old resident of the Hardman neighborhood, passed away Tuesday morning at the home of his son, Frank Moreland, in this city, aged about 73 years.

The funeral was held from the Federated church Wednesday morning, interment being in the Masonic cemetery. Rev. H. A. Noyes conducted the services.

Agricultural Experts Here

J. C. Hawkins and W. B. Oldham of the O. A. C. will give a series of illustrated lectures in Morrow county on wheat production, bulk handling, varieties and smut control, as follows:

Ione, today (Friday) at 2 p. m. Cecil, Saturday evening. Heppner high school, Monday evening. Eight-mile school house, Tuesday evening. Hardman school building, Wednesday afternoon.

Jerome O'Connor moved a band of sheep from the Shepherds' Home ranch, on upper Willow creek, to the Last Camp at Cecil, for C. A. Minor Monday.

Battle-Scarred Veterans Will Tell Story of Trench Life

At the Fair Pavilion next Tuesday evening, January 29th, will be held Heppner's most important meeting since the advent of the United States into the world war.

The attraction will consist of three Canadian officers, Lieut.-Col. J. M. MacMillan, Major F. B. Edwards and Captain E. J. Gook, all of whom have been through some of the hardest fought battles on the west front and who have been so desperately wounded as to incapacitate them for further military service. They are still serving the cause of the allies and of humanity, however, by carrying a direct message to the people of America from the battle front. Many of the things they are telling on this tour have never been published and the personal experiences as related by these men are said to be the most illuminating and instructive war stories yet brought to America.

Every resident of the county who can possibly do so should attend this meeting.

Should the pavilion prove to small to accommodate the crowd arrangements have been made to hold one or more overflow meetings simultaneously, at which each speaker will appear in rotation.

Remember the date, Tuesday evening, January 29. No admission will be charged, no collection taken and absolutely no solicitation will be made for money for any purpose.

Following the meeting at the pavilion a social dance will be given by the committee in charge to secure funds to defray local expenses of the meeting. Good music will be provided and a pleasant time is assured.

Red Cross Notes

The sewing rooms for the Red Cross workers have been moved from the South Methodist church to the vacant building on upper Main street opposite the Gazette-Times office. The move was made in order to provide more room for the workers, and it is said that plenty of room is now afforded for all workers to get together and do their work.

The ladies wish to announce that Wednesday afternoon of each week has been set apart for the committee on surgical work, while the regular sewing work will continue to be done on Friday afternoons.

Mrs. L. G. Herren, Director of Surgical Supplies for the Morrow County Chapter, has received an urgent demand from headquarters for a shipment of Triangular bandages to be shipped not later than February 20th. The order does not state the number in thousands wanted, but the call is for a sufficient number to fill a closely packed box 3 feet by 2 feet by 2 feet. This means many thousands of the little bandages and is the biggest order for supplies yet received by the local chapter. Mrs. Herren requests every lady in the community to call at her store and secure a quantity of the work cut out and ready for making up, to be taken home and the work done there. The demand for these bandages is said to be very great and if the demand is met it will require the earnest co-operation and cheerful assistance of every woman and girl in Morrow county who can ply a needle. It is all hand work and requires skill and care. This is the biggest patriotic call yet made on the women of Morrow county and they can be depended upon to meet it within the prescribed time.

Joe M. Hayes and Andy Road, jr., well known Heppnerites, got their pictures in the Oregon Journal last Sunday by being members of the class of initiates who took the 32d degree in Masonry in Portland last week. Whether or not they will see the Journal for libel has not yet been announced. Both gentlemen should take a better picture than the Portland paper credits them with.

Flocks of Airplanes

Airplane stories have become so common around Heppner during the past week that they have almost ceased to rank as "news." The modest little story given the Herald by John Kilkenny last week has, evidently "started something," for it seems that most every citizen has been keeping his optics elevated toward the zenith ever since last Friday and from all accounts no person has looked in vain. If Mr. Kilkenny figured that he was getting any corner on airplane stories he evidently got fooled.

According to all reports air-crafts have been as common in our atmosphere the past week as blackbirds in a western Washington cornfield and if they didn't all travel at night it is possible the number of them would darken the bright April sunshine which Morrow county people are enjoying in January. The craft are said to fly rather high, only their bow and stern lights being visible, so it is difficult to determine either their nationality or the nature of the business in which they are engaged. Many conjectures are current, however, one being that government agents are scouring this section of the state in search of a secret wireless station, while another theory is that since the price of moonshine reached its present altitude an air ship is needed to reach even a short quart.

One old goose hunter advances the belief, however, that the airplanes are not airplanes at all, but are wild geese hurrying northward to escape the warm weather being experienced in eastern Oregon and that, being wise geese and "on to" modern methods, they each carry a private lighting system in order that they can see to pick up the small, shriveled wheat grains from their feeding grounds over in Gilliam county while traveling at night.

Dressmaking

Having rented the dressmaking rooms at Mrs. Herren's millinery store, I will conduct a general dressmaking business.

I solicit your orders for plain and fancy sewing. All work guaranteed.

NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE ORGANIZES IN OREGON

At a joint meeting of representatives of the Oregon State Grange, the Farmer's Union and State Federation of Labor held in Portland last Saturday, preliminary steps were taken to organize a non partisan league in Oregon. The question of affiliating with the National Non Partisan League or merely taking pattern from the North Dakota League was left to a committee composed of C. E. Spence, master of the Grange; Hector McPherson, of the O. A. C.; E. J. Stack, secretary of the State Federation of Labor; J. A. Smith, big wheat farmer of Blalock and representative of the Farmers Union, and C. L. McKeena, of Portland.

After an extended debate on the question of the expediency of organizing a league in Oregon at this time, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that we favor the immediate organization in Oregon of a non partisan league and that a committee be appointed for the purpose of investigating the subject of affiliation with the National non-partisan league and to outline a general plan of procedure.

A legislative committee was appointed and as an expression of the sentiments of those present the following set of resolutions were adopted:

Establishment of a single house legislature, consisting of not more than 30 members, to be presided over by an officer elected at large, who shall also be the Lieutenant Governor.

Utilization of the state's natural resources and public utilities for the common good.

Establishment of an effective state marketing system.

A state law that will embody the anti injunction feature of the Clayton Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

Compulsory compensation, applying to all gainful occupations.

Following adjournment of the meeting the officers announced that the consideration of candidates for public offices and whether or not they should be endorsed were not discussed. Whether the proposed league shall inquire into the qualifications of candidates and give its indorsement to those believed to be friendly to legislation desired by organized labor and the farmers remains to be determined by the executive committee in working out a plan of organization.

The following resolution, offered by a committee consisting of G. E. Saunders, State Senator Pierce and J. A. Smith, was adopted by the convention:

"Whereas, We are engaged in a war which we believe is a death struggle to maintain the principles of liberty under which we have lived happy and prosperous lives and which we feel will decide for the world whether the nations shall live under democracy or autocracy:

"Resolved, that we consider the winning of the war the all important work, that we pledge our lives, our fortunes, the lives of our sons, and our sacred honor to fight for victory:

"Resolved, That we oppose the use of money and labor on any work that does not have as its immediate purpose the winning of the war; and be it further

"Resolved, That while the war is going on, and for all time thereafter, that it is our duty to keep our eye on the profiteer so that he may not rob the people of the fruits of their honest labor."
