

National and Local Meat Business

The meat business of the country is conducted by various agencies—

By small slaughter-houses in villages—

By local Abattoirs or small Packing Houses in towns—

both

Using only a part of the local live stock supply

and

Furnishing only a part of the local demand for meat.

These slaughtering and distributing agencies fill a well defined but necessarily restricted place in the distribution of the products of live stock.

But only packers like Swift & Company, organized on a national scale, are able to undertake the service that is more vitally important, involving

An Obligation to the Producer

To purchase for spot cash all the live stock the producer may send to market for slaughter.

An Obligation to the Consumer

To make available to every consumer, everywhere, in season and out, the full supply and variety of meat products, of the highest standard that the market affords.

Industrial Club Leader Here

A. I. O'Reilly, of Corvallis, is in Morrow county this week visiting the boys and girls who are engaged in the industrial club work. Accompanied by the county agent he is making a home to home visit, inspecting the work of the various club members, encouraging them and completing the work started when he was in the county a few weeks ago. Morrow county has one of the strongest clubs of any county in Eastern Oregon, the list of those enrolled and reporting is a splendid indication that the boys and girls of this county realize their responsibility and the value in increasing food production. The boys' and girls' club work is being emphasized throughout the state more this year than ever before, and the parents who can see what their children are doing in way of increasing food production cannot help feeling proud of the way in which they are helping, and are lending them encouragement in every way possible.

W. M. Castle, distributor of water on the government irrigation project at Irrigon was here during the week. While in the city Mr. Castle ordered the Herald sent to his address, as the best means of keeping posted on the news of Morrow county.

Harvest Help Will be Needed
Business and professional men of Heppner, as well as of other Morrow county towns will have a chance of showing their patriotism in a practical manner next harvest according to County Agricultural Agent Brown who says the indications are that help will be very scarce and that every able bodied man will probably be needed to help take care of the big wheat crop now promised.

It is not expected that these men will close their stores, shops and offices permanently during the harvest season but it is expected that all will be able to devote a portion of their time to helping the neighboring farmers save the wheat crop. Girls and women, it is expected, will be used as far as possible to handle the necessary business in the towns thus releasing every man possible for the harvest work.

Many business and professional men in this county have had farm experience and will therefore prove valuable assistants to the farmers in time of harvest stress. It is understood the proposal is meeting with universal favor in the business and professional circles of the various towns.

Will Attend Labor Meeting
A meeting to discuss and adjust wages for the harvest season will be held in Pendleton June 10 which will be attended by several Morrow county farmers. Among those who have already signified their intention of going to Pendleton at that time are the county agent F. R. Brown, W. E. Cummins, Jeff Jones, Wm. Padberg, C. R. Pointer and J. D. Bauman. The idea of the meeting is to work out a fair and equitable wage scale for the harvest season and it is expected to be a substantial increase over that paid in this county last season.

A meeting of thresher and combine operators in this county is also being arranged by Mr. Brown which will probably meet in Heppner about June 15th the object of which being to make arrangements by which competition among threshers will be largely superseded by co operation.

Mrs. F. H. Reiks, of Irrigon, who was in the city Wednesday reports that the peach crop at Irrigon is a complete failure, as is most of the other fruits except apricots and apples. Mrs. Reiks and her husband are engaged in the fruit and chicken business on a rather extensive scale.
