DEMOCRACY ON TRIAL

Now is the great opportunity of the American people to demonstrate that our form of government is a success...

Just now we must particularly realize that wheat is powder for the winning of the war, and that it is the pressing duty of each of us to save and release every ounce of wheat possible...

AMERICA MUST CONSERVE FOOD.

If there are still any American citizens who feel disposed to complain at the rigid rules requiring the conservation of food...

The most appalling and dreadful thing to come to humanity since the dawn of civilization, is to me this gaunt figure of famine, the outstanding creation of German militarism.

Yet the the Germans themselves are not the worst sufferers: they are extorting at the cannon's mouth the harvests and the livestock of the people they have overrun...

CECIL ITEMS

Herb Everett and E. A. Nash and their wives were Arlington visitors Sunday.

Cecil Thorne, of Morgan came down Monday to work for C. A. Minor on the Cecil ranches during haying.

Peter Bauernfiend was a Lexington visitor Monday and Tuesday looking over some improvements done on the late Franz Habel's ranch near Lexington.

Jack Hynd autoed to Heppner Monday accompanied by his daughter Annie and Alf Shaw.

Miss Willetta Barrett, of Heppner, is visiting at Butterby flats this week.

John Ewing, who has been staying with his daughter, Mrs. Charley Hynd of Ukiah for the past few weeks, is now helping Jack Hynd with his haying.

Oral Hendricksen, son of A. Hendricksen of the Willow creek ranch, who enlisted in the Navy a few weeks ago, arrived home Tuesday on a few days leave of absence.

Herb Hynd went to lone to meet Alf Shaw who was bringing some horses through from Ukiah to the Butterby ranch.

J. H. Franklin is assisting Jack Hynd with his haying.

P. G. O'Meara of the O'Meara Supply & Implement Co., Wasco, Ore., sold J. W. Osborn a 24-foot cut Harris Gasoline Combine last Tuesday.

Geo. Miller and F. Phillips had a trip to Arlington Wednesday.

There were two registrants in the Cecil precinct Wednesday, Albert Wilbur of Morgan and Warren Stender who came from Walla Walla purposely to register.

Mrs. T. H. Lowe left on the local for The Dalles Thursday to visit with her daughter for a few days.

Hiram Beard, of Portland, one of Jack Hynd's old haying hands, came in Thursday to assist with the haying again this year.

W. G. Hynd visited Cecil Thursday, returning Friday accompanied by Miss Annie C. Hynd, who intends to stay at Rose Lawn for a few days.

The County agricultural agent, Mr. Brown, accompanied by Mr. O'Reilly, were in the Cecil district looking up the children's school club work.

Misses Violet Hynd and Willetta Barrett spent Friday with Miss Georgia Summers of the Last Camp, Cecil.

Haying is now in full swing in the Cecil district. Many complaints are coming forward as to the poor crops owing to the cold spring.

The thermometer registered 98 degrees in the shade Saturday and 108 Sunday in Cecil.

Mayor Smead informs the Herald that to morrow night will see the street work almost finished. The work has been progressing swiftly and the indications now are that it will give very good satisfaction.
