Robert Dexter Buried.

The funeral of Robert Dexter, a well known pioneer resident of this county was held Monday afternoon 11:30, Andrews, of the Christian church conducting the services. Interment was made in the private burial plot of the Dexter family on the hill adjoining the Masonic cemetery.

Jacob Dexter, a son now on his way to France with the army, could not be reached although the funeral was delayed several days while efforts in that direction were being made.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our most sincere thanks for and appreciation of the kindly assistance extended and sympathy expressed by our friends and neighbors during the recent illness and at the time of the death and burial of our beloved husband and father.

Mrs. Ida Dexter and Family.

Dr. Turner, eye specialist of Portland will be in Heppner again Wednesday and Thursday September 18 and 19, at Barnard's rooming house. In Ione Tuesday, September 17. In Monument Saturday, September 20. Consult him.

To My Many Customers

Who were so generous in assisting me to start in business again I wish to express my appreciation and to say that because of your help I have been enabled to secure a splendid new stock of goods on very advantageous terms, which otherwise would have been at least difficult.

I expect to open my new store within a few days and will have many beautiful hats and other articles to show you.

The Victor Ladies' Tailoring Co.'s New Style Book is now here and I will be glad to have you call and inspect it, and please you will hold your Coat, Suit, Dress, Waist and Fur orders for me.

I will also continue to handle the Henderson, La Princess and Gossard corsets.

Thanking you for past patronage and believing I can make a continuance of the same mutually advantageous, I am, Yours very truly,

MRS. L. G. HERREN

Packers' Profits Are Regulated

The public should understand that the profits of the packers have been limited by the Food Administration since November 1, 1917. For this purpose, the business of Swift & Company is now divided into three classes:

Class 1 includes such products as beef, pork, mutton, oleomargarine and others that are essentially animal products. Profits are limited to 9 per cent of the capital employed in these departments, (including surplus and borrowed money), or not to exceed two and a half cents on each dollar of sales.

Class 2 includes the soap, glue, fertilizer, and other departments more or less associated with the meat business. Many of these departments are in competition with outside businesses whose profits are not limited. Profits in this class are restricted to 15 per cent of the capital employed.

Class 3 includes outside investments, such as those in stock yards, and the operation of packing plants in foreign countries. Profits in this class are not limited.

Total profits for all departments together in 1918 will probably be between three and four per cent on an increased volume of sales.

The restrictions absolutely guarantee a reasonable relation between live stock prices and wholesale meat prices, because the packer's profit cannot possibly average more than a fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Since the profits on meat (Class 1) are running only about 2 cents on each dollar of sales, we have to depend on the profits from soap, glue, fertilizer (Class 2, also limited) and other departments, (Class 3) to obtain reasonable earnings on capital.

Swift & Company is conducting its business so as to come within these limitations.

CONTENTED COWS

This Scene Is Not on a Wheat Farm

The photograph from which this illustration was made was taken on one of the hundreds of dairy farms that bring their fresh, sweet milk every morning to the fifteen evaporating plants which produce

Carnation Milk

From Contented Cows

The owner of these cows is a specialty farmer. He has chosen dairying in preference to other work because he likes cows.

On the other hand the man who has chosen the growing of wheat, does not enjoy the confining routine of caring for cows.

Remember Carnation "makes everything you cook taste better"—especially creamed soups and vegetables, cereals, coffee and cocoa.

Keep a case or two of Carnation on hand, and all the troubles of cows vanish for the wheat farmer and his wife. The good cooks in the city prefer Carnation because it is the correct "Answer to the Pure Milk Question."
