IONE NEWS

(From the Ione Independent.)

Joseph E. Cronin, president of Bank of Ione, is in town this week from Portland.

Mrs. Bert Mason and son have returned from an extended visit at St. Johns, Oregon.

Postmaster Richardson came down from the county seat last Friday and mingled among his Ione friends.

Mrs. H. M. Cummings and children have returned home from a visit with relatives and friends at White Salmon, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lindsey departed for Camas, Wash., Monday morning last, at which place they will make their future home.

Mrs. Jack Boyer of Ione, who is visiting here with her mother, Mrs. Ivy Waters, spent several days in Albany this week.—Brownsville Times.

The City Council held a meeting last Tuesday night and transacted a lot of necessary business. Want of space forbids us reporting the proceedings this week.

E. E. Miller and F. H. Robinson conducted the public auction at the ranch of H. N. Swans last Saturday. Very good prices were realized on all articles offered.

Mr. and Mrs. Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. Ackley, Jack Finley and Lee Egelstrom composed an auto party attending the reception tendered the departing draftee at Heppner Saturday night last.

J. L. Wilkins of the old Palace Hotel at Heppner has abandoned the idea of rebuilding at that place and has taken the management of the Hot Lake hotel, the famous resort in Union County, Oregon.

If you are unacquainted with the Trade Acceptance manner of doing business we would call your attention to the advertisement of the Tumalum Lumber Co. appearing in this issue. It will enlighten you.

U. C. Brock, an attache of the Federal Loan Bank at Spokane, Wash., has been in the county the past week appraising farm lands whose owners are seeking Government loans. He is making his headquarters at Ione.

Hotel Ione is justly popular with the public for the excellence of its table. Especially are the Sunday dinners something to tickle the palate of an epicure. Mr. Haines should employ his talents as an hotel manager in a larger field.

Chas. S. Dane, Jesse Agee, Henry M. Stender, Lee Land and Victor Reitman were the Ione boys in the draft contingent from Morrow county which left for the training camp this morning. A large number of their friends were at the depot to wish them good luck and a safe return.

Mrs. Frank Cronin, who has filled the position of assistant cashier in the Bank of Ione for some time past, has joined her husband at American Lake, much to the regret of the patrons of the bank, with whom she was very popular. Her husband, Sergeant Cronin, is a drill master at the camp, where he has been stationed for more than a year. He expects to be ordered to Europe soon.

C. L. O'Neill and family made a trip to North Yakima, Wash., last week by auto and had a short visit with relatives there. Mr. O'Neill reports the roads in fair condition, but much better in Washington than in Oregon. He drove a Reo and made the trip on a consumption of one gallon of gasoline per 20 miles traveled. The fruit crop in that section, he says, is excellent and he brought home several boxes of fine pears and peaches.

The Independent was in error in stating in last week's issue that the pheasant season opened September 1st. That date applied to another section of the state. At present there is no open season for pheasants in Morrow county, and will not be for several years to come. Game Christenson yesterday received a wire from State Warden Sussmaker in which he says: "There is no open season for Chinese pheasants in Morrow county. The only pheasant shooting in Eastern Oregon this year is in Hood River, Umatilla and Union counties."

There was some "doings" in Ione last Saturday night. It may have been the attractions of a dance at the rink which drew the crowd, not so much to patronize the dance as to carouse, it would seem, and a portion of the crowd was certainly "wild and woolly." Drunks were numerous and fights frequent. Notwithstanding the fact that three Military Police were in town that night we understand no effort was made by them to curb the excessive spirits of the more hilarious ones, and the "fun" continued until the small hours of Sunday morning, much to the annoyance of the peace-loving citizens of the community.

Overheard at Heppner

A large crowd gathered at the reception and entertainment for the boys of Morrow county who were leaving for camp Thursday. The Homeguards were all there and the speakers made brilliant speeches concerning the good that was done by the Homeguards and the spirit kept up by them, etc. A couple of the draftees were standing in the rear of the hall and were much pleased to hear of the wonderful work of the Homeguards. But they had come expecting to meet and become acquainted with all of the 34 who were going to camp with them. But as speech after speech was made and no mention made of the boys who were going away and the entertainment was drawing to a close, one of them says to the other, "Who in the hell are they giving this party for?"
