Mrs. J. J. Daly came up from Portland Friday for a short visit with Mrs. M. Jordan. Mrs. Daly brought the good news that she had received a letter from her husband, better known here as Jess Jordan, written after he had been in action for the last time before the signing of the armistice, and he stated he came thru without a scratch.

The Lyceum number given Friday night in the Christian church by the "Codovas" was undoubtedly the best of its kind given in Ione during the past few years. Their program consisted of musical numbers and readings. The coming numbers, a trio, a male quartet and a lecture, should be equally pleasing and the public should show their appreciation to the Red Cross for making these entertainments possible by the heartiest support and a full attendance at all numbers. December 9th is the date set for the second entertainment.

Word has been received in Ione the past week of the arrival of a small daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Beck, former residents of Ione now located at Boardman.

Elisha Sperry and Elmer Cochran, Ione boys now in the service of Uncle Sam at the Seattle naval Training Station, came in on Wednesday's train to spend Thanksgiving with home folks. They returned to camp Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kincaid went over to Pendleton Saturday morning for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. H. M. Warren of that city. They took with them Mrs. Warren's two small sons, who have been visiting here with their grandparents while "flu" was so bad in Pendleton.
