CARDINAL URGES DOCTRINE OF THRIFT

(By J. Cardinal Gibbons)

By continuing the sale of War Saving Stamps throughout 1919 the government has offered to every man woman and child an opportunity for the display of practical peace time citizenship by becoming an investor in the securities of his country. It also offers to each an opportunity for self-improvement by giving a chance to save small amounts regularly and systematically and to invest them wisely.

In the hard school of war we have learned much that should be of value to us and to our country in the days of readjustment. We have learned the necessity of saving. Indeed it was saving that brought us the victory—the willingness of the people to save money, to save coal, to save food. The man, woman or child who learned to spend wisely and look forward to the future, and to lay something which will help him in unforeseen emergency is not only helping himself but is becoming a better and more useful citizen.

We should welcome the opportunity afforded by our government to continue the saving habit. To buy War Saving Stamps is the clear duty of every American citizen, young and old.

I urge all our clergy to promote this campaign by every means in their power. I urge our good people to give it their heartiest support and from the splendid evidences of their patriotism shown in the last two years, I am confident that it will meet with great success.

I shall follow with profound interest the result of this movement, for much of the future of our blessed country will depend upon the outcome.

ST. PATRICK'S LIFE

Early Days Obscure, But Glorious Deeds Will Live Forever.

WHEREVER an Irishman makes his home, there an altar to St. Patrick is established, and on the seventeenth of March a trail of green enriches the globe. The shamrock from the old sod reaches faraway places and decorates thousands of gallant Irishmen who by the symbol proclaim their devotion to St. Patrick. This year, owing to the war and the uncertainty of the future, the celebrations are somewhat saddened.

Historians tell us with unflinching zeal that St. Patrick was born of pious and God-fearing parents in the year 372 of the Christian era. The little that is known of his youth has been sadly garbled by chroniclers who, being ambitious to produce something new, seem to have forged some points of the history. Of these chroniclers some are, no doubt, correct, but which? On this account some painstaking writer has given us the facts as far as truly known, and with these we must be content.

In 357 he was sold as a slave to a chief of Ulster. To the youthful slave Ireland seemed God-forsaken and overrun by fiends of evil power. There was no church, no sacraments. He could find no priest nor any one who paid any attention to religion. He was "alone among scoffers and the worshippers of graven images."

His life of prayer and self-sacrifice continued during the long years of his term of slavery, which were three. Finally freed from his bondage he entered the priesthood as he had so long desired. After he had finished his studies, he was ordained and the zeal of his soul became a conflagration. As many devout souls have prayed to do, he wished to convert the whole world, and as all desire, he prayed pathetically to wear the martyr's crown. France knew of him and there he labored for a time, as he did in Italy and the Thyrrenian sea islands. But it was to Ireland his heart turned most eagerly and he was permitted a vision in which he saw the people of Erin stretch forth their arms to him in supplication, and this vision determined him to undertake the difficult task of the conversion of Ireland. He traveled to Rome to get the permission of the pope and submitted his labor and himself to that high dignity. He was consecrated bishop and, having received his instructions and having been blessed, he began his journey to his new mission.

The inhabitants of Erin were considered in an advanced state of civilization, and St. Patrick began his labors by denouncing Druidism, astonishing its followers by the wonderful deeds he accomplished in the name of God, and little by little they believed and accepted the mysteries of the true religion. He explained to them the mysteries of the Trinity by picking from the sod a shamrock and discussing on its threefold leaf on one stem; then on the crucifix he explained the birth of the Christ and the purpose of his death and the beginning of the church. The religious fervor of St. Patrick appealed to the warm hearts of his listeners and his teachings swept Ireland like a conflagration. God's churches arose out of Druidical ruins and the houses of the Druids became monasteries. Bearing aloft the banner of his Master, St. Patrick's travels over Erin were triumphantly successful.

It is not given to many workers to see the fruits of their labors, but under St. Patrick's teaching, in his life, Ireland became known as the Island of Saints. He lived to be one hundred and twenty years old. Another saint of Ireland said of him: "A just man with a purity of nature like a patriarch's; a true pilgrim like Abraham; gentle and forgiving like Moses; a praiseworthy psalmist like David;

Pilgrims at St. Patrick's Cross, Saint's Island, Lough Derg.

In wisdom like Solomon; a chosen vessel of God like the Apostle Paul, and full of grace and knowledge like John, the beloved disciple of Christ."

St. Patrick's Day.

March 17th is celebrated by Irishmen of all creeds and denominations as the birthday of their patron saint, Patrick. There is a story that once there was a dispute between two factions, one claiming that the patron saint was born on the eighth, the other that he came to this world on the ninth of March. As the quarrel could not otherwise be settled, the 17th was decided on by the simple compromise of adding eight and nine together. But there appears to be no reason for doubting that St. Patrick was born either at Kirkpatrick (or Dumbarton) in Scotland, or perhaps in France, in the latter part of the fourth century, on the day usually kept as his birthday. St. Patrick's day is purely a national celebration irrespective of any religious belief.
