

REVELLE BLOWS FOR WOMEN OF OREGON AGAIN

By Mrs. Sarah A. Evans, State Chairman, Woman's Liberty Loan Committee of Oregon

"This is to be the last Liberty Loan!"

These words we send to you, still thrilling with the joy that was ours when they came to us; not for the promise of work curtailed; not for the lifting of a financial burden from weighted shoulders, but for their resounding cry of victory, heralding a thanksgiving call to all the nations of the earth.

Six months ago we urged you to dedicate your services and your money to the use of the government that victory might be ours. The magnificent response from the women of Oregon, and other states, by their consecrated loyalty and generous support played no small part in bringing joy to the world on the eleventh of last November. Our money, lavishly loaned and used, was the dynamic force that prostrated the German barbarians, and stopped the slaughter of our splendid manhood. The magnitude of our preparations struck terror to the enemy, for it implied the obligation America had taken upon herself, and her grim determination to see it through to a glorious finish.

SARAH A. EVANS

The victory has been won, but have we canceled all our obligations? Certainly not until we have paid every debt incurred to bring about this victory, and honorably return home every soldier who made it possible.

Our thank-offering for the speedy close of the war, the thousands of lives spared, and the untold suffering thus saved must be the preservation of the financial integrity of America, and a comprehensive readjustment of disturbed conditions. This can only be done by a generous and ready response to this last great call—THE VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN.

Let us rededicate ourselves and our treasure once more to the cause of peace, as did the wise men of old when they heard from the Judean Hills the song of victory:

"Peace on Earth: good will to men."

COLLAR CURES ARMY FLYER'S BROKEN NECK

Surgeons Mend Lieutenant After 2500 Foot Fall and He Flies Again

There is a man in San Francisco walking around with a broken neck. He is Lieutenant Charles M. Cummins, of Richmond, Va.

Cummins was an army aviator while making a flight at Gerstner Field, La., in February, 1918, he fell 2500 feet, fracturing the fourth, fifth and sixth cervical vertebrae and dislocating several other vertebrae partially.

After the fall he was sent to Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio in San Francisco for treatment. Army surgeons who are almost working miracles there in the reconstruction of the war wounded finally fitted a metal collar on the aviator to carry the weight of his head. It worked—and now Lieutenant Cummins is walking about apparently normal.

Only One of Many.

Lieutenant Cummins' case is only one of many, but it stands out because of the popular superstition that a man can't live if his neck is broken. The reconstruction surgeons at Letterman are working on hundreds of cases much more difficult than the flyer's.

They are receiving men there daily from the battlefields of France, whose legs and arms hang withered and helpless and they are turning those men out, after months of special treatment and patient mechanical manipulation, able to use their arms and legs and capable of making a living.

The cost, of course, is tremendous when one takes into consideration the fact that the same work is being carried on in many military hospitals. Already Congress has appropriated millions of dollars to carry on the work and millions more will have to be made available for the cause. For it is a cause, this regeneration of the men who gave their bodies to their country.

Cummins Flies Again.

Part of the money to be realized from the Victory Liberty Loan will be used for this job of reconstruction or regeneration. Think of this when you are making up your mind as to how much of the loan you, personally, are going to subscribe.

Lieutenant Cummins made a flight with his collar on just to convince himself that he hadn't lost his nerve. We can't afford to lose our nerve on a dollar and cents proposition in the face of the deeds of such men.

WAR STAMP SALE WILL NOT CHANGE NEW LOAN QUOTAS

Treasury Department Alters Plan Announced Last January

Victory Liberty Loan quotas will not be affected by Thrift Stamp sales as planned by the Treasury Department the first of the year. It was announced last January by Lewis B. Franklin, director of war savings, that whereas Thrift Stamp quotas were exceeded the amount of over-subscription would be taken from the coming loan quotas and that if the Thrift Stamp quotas were not reached the deficiency would be added to the loan quota.

Governor James K. Lynch of the Federal Reserve Bank has just received a telegram from Washington advising that the plan to adjust Victory Loan quotas in accordance with the sale of War Savings Stamps has been abandoned. The reason given was that some of the Federal Reserve Districts were not reappportioning Thrift Stamp quotas.

Don't forget that the war bills must be paid. Keep your War Savings Stamps and buy more.

ORDERS

It was at Chateau Thierry. The story is old but it will never wear out.

The sorely pressed, but brave and heroic French, shaken by four years of frightful struggle, were in desperate retreat. They told American officers that to go forward was impossible and besought them to turn back.

"Go back!" exclaimed the American commander. "Why, hell, we just got here; my orders are to go forward."

And the Americans went forward. The orders on the Victory Liberty Loan are:

"Forward."

Fish as Fertilizing Material.

The oldest industry to make use of waste for fertilizing is the fish industry. The custom of fertilizing crops with fish existed among the Indians of New England before the arrival of white settlers. It is said that for fertilizing corn one or two fish were buried in each hill. This procedure was adopted by the colonists, and at the time of a large catch the surplus fish were simply spread broadcast over the fields. In places where fish were plentiful this disposal of an oversupply of fish has been practical until very recent times.

Concert.

"Miss Pacer is a very bright woman, judging from my interview with her."
"What did she say?"
"Nothing much; but she approved of what I said!"—Boston Transcript.

You're fooling yourself

That isn't your key

MR. RENTER

You have been calling that key you carry your key! It isn't yours; it belongs to your landlord—it is subject to his call at any time. If you should pass away tomorrow you couldn't give that key to your family; still that is what you would like to do and that is what you should do.

You possess a desire to own a home: Every man feels this desire, for it is God given. The question is what are you going to do for yourself and family?

To earn the title to a home requires determination, the kind that can save by making systematic sacrifices.

Earn the right to call that key your own. Don't fool yourself any longer. Come in and we will help you plan it. You will be interested in the many plans of cozy homes and the help we have to offer builders.
