

DISQUIET SEEN AMONG SLOVAKS

Honeymoon of Revolution Passes and Disillusion Comes Upon Them.

THREE ELEMENTS IN NATION

New Government So Far Has Recognized but One of Them in Rule—Magyars and the Peasants Are Ignored.

Pressburg, Slovakia, Bohemia.—Generally speaking, the situation in Slovakia, formerly a province of Hungary, now annexed to Czecho-Slovakia, is not without disquieting features. The honeymoon of the revolution has passed and some of the disillusionment bound to follow the introduction of a new regime has set in. The Magyars and the Magyarized elements have not as yet been reconciled to the new regime and the peasants have recovered from their first enthusiasm. A difficult task of reconciliation remains to be performed by the Czechs.

The population of Slovakia is made up of three elements—Slovak intelligentsia, which has always been very strong for the union with Bohemia; the Magyars and Magyarized Germans, and the peasantry. The intelligentsia has been completely satisfied by the Czecho-Slovak government. The administration has been handed over completely to the very small number of Slovak doctors, lawyers, authors and professors that could be mustered for service.

Magyars Ignored.

Meanwhile the Magyars and Magyarized elements have been quite ignored by the government except where the government could not find a Slovak to fill the job. Intense loyalty to the old Hungarian rule characterizes these people. They could be reconciled to new conditions were they taken into the Czech administration. But the government at present prefers to fill the vacancies left by the Slovak intelligentsia with officials from Bohemia and Moravia. This naturally angers both the Magyarized element and those Slovaks who are unfit but would like to occupy all the jobs.

A decided sentiment for real local autonomy is making itself felt. On the whole, the government may not be opposed to granting an outspoken demand for home rule in the province. The peasants do not take much interest in theoretical politics. They complain that the republic lasted only three days. By this they mean that they were allowed to plunder the Jews for only three days in the interval between the withdrawal of the Hungarians and the arrival of the Czechs.

During this time the peasants had a very free hand. There were very few towns or villages where they did not completely clean up the Jewish population, who are the shopkeepers and small traders, and at times lessors of estates. Now the peasants have no longer the Jews to plunder their interest in the new state has diminished. They were kept in a state of bitterness by the Hungarians and therefore are by no means ripe for real self-government. However, just now they are very bitter because they claim the Czechs take their food supplies away.

Bolshevism Not Popular.

Bolshevism has not taken a great grip on the peasantry. Slovakia is largely an agricultural district and we know farmers are always the most conservative element. In the few industrial communities in the more mountainous north and east a certain amount of unrest has developed. In Kassav, far eastward, the large mills are not working and the food situation is very bad, as it is in most of the industrial districts. Here the workmen hold meetings and grovel in bolshevik tone. Naturally Kassav is rather near the Hungarian border. So that bolshevism there would be natural. In the other industrial districts the workmen seem to have taken out their class-consciousness in making big demands upon their employers. Not unusual was it for workmen to come to their employers and demand that they receive a percentage of all profits accrued since the war's beginning. With all this discontent the food situation is very much involved. The mountainous, which happen to be the industrial districts are mostly very short of food and clothes. Many factories where leather and other products of the land are used function part time, but the men have not enough to keep themselves and their families in food. In some localities there are not even enough potatoes. Hence, as in some districts of Bohemia, the trend is toward bolshevism.

Generally speaking, Slovakia would not be the first province to go up in anarchic flames. For the time being the bolshevik overture in Hungary has had indeed a rather quieting effect on Slovakia. The wealthy or well to do who were most attached to their old fatherland now do not relish the idea of returning to a Hungary which will take all their property.

Now They're Married.

San Francisco.—"I have loved your dear eyes—" ran a letter John Hester dictated to his stenographer, Miss Rivers. "Who's it going to?" she asked. "Address it to yourself," said John. Now they are married.

TAKE LOOT FROM HUN

Four Billion Dollars' Worth Captured by British.

Immense Amount of Stolen Property Left Behind in Hurried German Retreat.

Namur, France.—Four billion dollars is the most conservative estimate of the value of the war loot captured from the German army by the British because of the haste of the Hun retreat.

Eight hundred barge loads, each carrying 800 tons, and 20,000 trucks held a part of the treasure.

Some of the loads were coming to supply the German army. Some were cargoes taken from the allies and loaded for shipment to Germany. But the latter was the least part. One barge carried 400 tons of iron bolts.

In one small area was seized 30,000 tons of cheese, 100,000 candles, 1,100 tons of soda, 200 dynamos, 1,000 farm implements, 8,000 shovels and pickaxes.

In one sale of loot 90,000 stoves have been disposed of, mostly to Belgians and French.

A cargo of rags was bid up to $350 a ton before the auctioneer discovered what the bidders already had learned, that the rags covered a store of copper.

Here is just a partial list of the articles seized and now being sold by the disposing board: Brooms, buckets, trench mirrors, dried tripe, toilet paper, water bottles, hammers, lamps, pumps, blunderbuses, carbide, beds, spring mattresses, mousetraps, bells, rotary pumps, wheelbarrows, harness, mosquito netting (by the 1,000 yards), churns, oil, paint, shovels, wire cutters, bags, paper string, paper bags, medical stores, hats, field forges, uniforms, bells, Klaxton horns, gas alarm sirens.

CARRY SILVER SAFELY

Trains Cross Continent Without Loss of an Ounce.

Mint Director Revealed How War-Time Shipments to India Were Handled.

Washington.—Now that the government has completed its war-time shipments to India of silver from melted dollars, Director of the Mint Baker has disclosed how thousands of tons of the metal were hauled from the Philadelphia mint to San Francisco in special trains, guarded by armed men, without loss of an ounce and without general knowledge of the procedure.

Eighteen of these treasure trains made the trip across the continent in the 12 months ending last April 23, with the silver like big bricks piled high in each of the five express cars composing a special train.

Two men with automatic pistols at their hips and sawed-off shotguns on their laps sat in each car, and later guarded the secret transfer of the white bars from train to ship at San Francisco.

Each silver brick weighed about 62 pounds and was worth $1,000, and each train carried between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 of the bricks. Wrecking of the trains and theft of the metal by bandits was considered an ever-present menace to be guarded against.

Guarded shipments of silver dollars also were made from the United States treasury in Washington and from the New Orleans subtreasury in Philadelphia. These dollars traveled in stout bags of 1,000 each and were handled much like bags of sugar, except that armed men always were near.

More than 265,000,000 silver dollars were melted and shipped to India during the year, to meet urgent war demands for coinage.

DOGS AND HENS ARE WISER

Physician Arraigns the Modern Practice of Treating Influenza Patients.

New Orleans, La.—"When a dog gets sick, what's the first thing he does? He sticks his nose between his hind legs. What does he do it for? So that he can breathe the warm air. When a chicken gets sick, the first thing it does is to tuck its head under its wing—so that it can breathe the warm air. Physicians who advocate the cold-air treatment for the 'flu' have less sense than either dogs or chickens."

Such is the opinion rendered by Dr. Cooper Holtzclaw of Chattanooga, formerly president of the Association of Surgeons of the Southern Railway. He said it before the hundreds of surgeons who attended the twenty-third annual meeting of the association, held in this city.

He was arraigning the modern practice of treating influenza patients in the open air. He insisted that the best treatment for influenza is to keep the patient under such conditions of care and freedom from exposure as were wont to obtain when our mothers of the old school used to treat the measles.

ORDER DIRECTING SERVICE BY PUBLICATION

In the District Court of the United States, for the District of Oregon.

In the matter of Palace Hotel Company, alleged bankrupt, a corporation.

It appearing to the satisfaction of the Court on the petition of Jos. J. Nys, attorney for petitioners, verified on the 25th day of May, 1919, that a petition was, on the 16th day of May, 1919, filed herein for adjudication in bankruptcy against Palace Hotel Company, a corporation, organized and existing under the laws of the State of Oregon, having its principal place of business at Heppner, Morrow county, Oregon, and it further appearing that on the 26th day of May, 1919, the Marshal returned into this Court the subpoena and petition in this matter without service on the alleged bankrupt for the reason that no officer or agent of the alleged bankrupt competent to be served with process is within the District of Oregon, and that personal service of said subpoena and petition cannot be made therein.

Now, on motion of Jos. J. Nys, attorney for petitioner, it is ordered that service of said subpoena and petition be made upon the said alleged bankrupt by publishing this order in the Heppner Herald, a newspaper printed and published at Heppner, Morrow county, Oregon, and is such a newspaper as designated by the laws of the State of Oregon for the publication of public and legal notices and reports in said district, and that said publication be at least once a week for two (2) consecutive weeks, the date of the first publication to be on the 10th day of June, 1919, and further that a copy of this order and of the said petition and subpoena be mailed to the alleged bankrupt, Palace Hotel Company, a corporation, at its last known place of business, to-wit: the City of Heppner, Morrow county, State of Oregon, in said district, on or before the date of the first publication. That said alleged bankrupt appear in said cause and answer or otherwise plead to the petition herein on or before July 7, 1919. Done at Portland, Oregon, this 2nd day of June, 1919. CHARLES E. WOLVERTON, District Judge. 6-8.
