WILL MANAGE COLUMBIA BASIN WOOL WAREHOUSE

T. J. Mahoney former well-known resident of Heppner and for the past two years cashier of the Livestock State Bank, of Portland, came out from Portland Saturday and spent Sunday with his brother W. P. Mahoney and family. He left Sunday evening for Pendleton to continue his journey into Idaho and Montana where he goes on a business trip.

Mr. Mahoney has recently been appointed vice-president and general manager of the Columbia Basin Wool Warehouse Co. and will assume his new duties September 1st when he will sever his connection with the Portland Cattle Loan Co. of which he is now vice-president and will also resign his active management of the Livestock State Bank, having been elected to the vice-presidency of that institution.

Mr. Mahoney is widely and favorably known among the stock-growers, farmers and bankers of the northwest. He came from North Dakota to central Oregon 18 years ago and, after serving as cashier of the Bank of Ione, he was elected cashier of the First National bank of Heppner, where he remained for 14 years. His work won recognition which caused his election as treasurer of the Portland Cattle Loan company and cashier of the Livestock State Bank which institution he helped to organize, with W. P. Diekey and associates, two years ago.

WOMEN IN BRITISH INDUSTRIES

The vast extent to which British women replaced men in industry and commerce during the war is disclosed in a white paper just issued. It is estimated that the net increase in female workers employed outside their own homes was 1,300,000.

The number of females employed in industrial concerns and government establishments in April, 1918, were: Munitions, 704,000; other governmental work in industry, 774,000. The number of females employed as personnel work people to agriculture in July, 1914, was 801,000; in 1918 the number was 115,000.

CHAMBERLAIN PRESIDENTIAL BOOM PROMISED

A recent dispatch from Washington to the Christian Science Monitor, the Boston daily newspaper, that gathers news through its own agencies, says:

Definite steps for presenting Geo. E. Chamberlain, Senator from Oregon, as a candidate for the democratic nomination for the presidency will soon be taken by a group of western Democratic senators. In this connection Frank L. Polk, Under Secretary of State, is mentioned for the vice-presidential nomination.

One object behind the Chamberlain candidacy is frankly to win the support for the Democratic ticket of the 4,000,000 soldiers who were mobilized during the war. Senator Chamberlain openly and aggressively opposed President Wilson's war policies and as chairman of the senate committee on Military Affairs he fought the War Department and the entire Administration on nearly every phase of the creation of the American army.

CONDON SHEEPMAN HERE

G. M. Blakely was over from Condon last week and reports that the new hotel being erected by Landlord Crow, of the Summit, is progressing rapidly. The new structure is on upper Main street and will cost about $30,000. The present Summit hotel a frame structure, will be moved to the rear of the new building making a good sized hostelry.

Mr. Blakely says Condon was visited by a very heavy rain a couple of weeks ago and some wheat fields east of town were badly damaged by hail.

HAPPENINGS AROUND IONE

In furniture, clothing and supplies will approximate $1500 with no insurance. Mr. Farrens had some insurance on the house but he had forgotten the amount. The house was one of the best ranch homes in the county and was valued at $5000.

The family were at dinner when the fire, which appeared to have started in the wood shed, was discovered and the flames spread with such rapidity that nothing could be done to check them and but little furniture, etc., was saved. A quantity of hams and other cured meats in the basement were partially saved by covering the pile with earth as soon as the fire died down so this could be done and Mr. Clark believes some of the hams will be all right. About $140 worth of lard in the cellar was one item of the loss.
