

SHIPPING BOARD URGES BOYS TO GO TO SEA

Chairman Hurley Says Hope of Merchant Marine is American Boy.

Chairman Edward N. Hurley of the United States shipping board has issued an appeal to American boys to take up seagoing, which is a part of a nation-wide movement by the board to interest the American people in the manning of the great new merchant fleet which resulted from the war.

Mr. Hurley points out that the new ships must be manned by Americans if they are to remain an asset worthy of the country's greatness.

"The backbone of the merchant marine is the men who are in it," he says. "It is as vital to the nation's prosperity that we have efficient American crews for the ships of the new merchant marine as it is for the railroads to have skilled and loyal train crews."

The American boy is the hope of the merchant marine, according to Mr. Hurley.

"Our present greatest need," he says, "is to get in touch with the American boys who should man our new ships. I hope that every newspaper in the country will take notice of it; that every preacher will mention it from the pulpit; that every city and town, through its officials, will make a canvass of the young men of the community who might be available for training as merchant mariners, with a view to becoming officers, or shipping agents, or foreign trade representatives for American interests."

Mr. Hurley adds that the shipping board will give its fullest co-operation to any community wishing to send it boys to be trained for the merchant marine, and requests that communications on the subject be sent to Henry Howard, the shipping board's director of recruiting at Boston, Mass.

GETS EMBALMED HEAD

It Was Shrunk to About the Size of an Orange, but Given Museum.

A mummified human head, shrunk to the size of the average orange, has just been presented to the Museum of History, Science and Art in the Exposition park, Los Angeles, by Mrs. H. M. Parker of that city. It is said to be one of seven of the kind in the United States.

The head of a Jibero Indian of southern Ecuador, it was obtained from a trader in South America by a brother-in-law of Mrs. Parker. Small as it is, it is covered by a luxuriant growth of long black hair.

The Jibero Indians are among the fiercest head hunters in the world, according to Mrs. Parker. Instead of scalping their victim, as was the custom of the Indians of North America, they remove all of the bones from the head and embalm the remaining flesh.

CHILDREN TO HONOR YOUNGSTOWN MAN

Plan $30,000 Memorial to Volney Rogers, Who Provides Park.

School children of Youngstown, O., have started a unique campaign to raise $30,000 to defray the expenses of the proposed statue and memorial entrance to Mill Creek park in honor of Volney Rogers, lover of children, of birds and nature.

Men in Youngstown gladly would defray the expenses, but the memorial is to be the tribute of the Youngstown public, for whom he provided what is regarded as one of the finest natural parks in the country and is to be solicited through his friends, the children.

The movement to erect the memorial was started last fall when the Volney Rogers committee of the chamber of commerce was named and public suggestions for the form of the memorial were called for.

Mr. Rogers, an attorney in Youngstown 47 years, loves the country. He explored Mill Creek valley, and when the valley's forests were being despoiled for lumber and its natural cliffs for stone, Mr. Rogers became active and personally procured options on more than 500 acres now included within the park. He then obtained legislation permitting the purchase of parks by townships and purchased $25,000 bonds needed for the project.

Mr. Rogers lives near the park. His father, James Rogers, was one of the pioneers of Columbiana county, and the Youngstown attorney was born near Rogers, a town built on land owned by Theophilus Rogers.

Mystical Thirteen.

In the Indian Pantheon there are 13 Buddhas; the apex of an Indian or Chinese pagoda is crowned with 13 mystical disks. The sacred sword, preserved in the Temple of Atsuta, in Japan, has 13 objects of mystery forming its hilt. When playing whist and many other games of cards each player has 13 cards and the pack is made up of four suits of 13 each.

OLDEST PRACTICING DENTIST

New York Man Has Passed Ninetieth Birthday and Still Works.

Dr. Charles Elmendorff, said to be the oldest practicing dentist in America, celebrated his ninetieth birthday at his home in Penn Yan, N. Y.

Doctor Elmendorff is the son of the late Dr. James Elmendorff, one of the first dentists to open an office in western New York. When nineteen years old Charles entered the office and worked continuously at dentistry. Practically all of these 79 years have been passed at Penn Yan. When Doctor Elmendorff began working the art of filling teeth was unknown. All he did for years was to extract teeth that could not be pulled at home by the use of a string. Later, however, when the science of treating teeth advanced, he was called upon to learn and employ new methods.

The aged dentist is in excellent health and can be found in his office every day.

RETURNS FROM EASTERN TRIP

Hanson Hughes returned Friday from an eastern trip of several weeks duration during which he visited Omaha, Kansas City, St. Joseph, and several other points in the Missouri valley. Mr. Hughes says things are booming in that part of the country, the only trouble being too much rain for good harvest weather. Crops are good and harvest wages are $6 a day and upwards and the farmers are well satisfied with conditions at that. Mr. Hughes went east with a train load of cattle belonging to Matt Hughes, Bob Carsner and others.

being in the same party with Joe Waters. The cattle were marketed at Omaha and brought good prices and the party separated there some returning at once while others spent some time visiting. Mr. Waters went to Kansas to visit his mother and expects to return to Heppner about August first coming by the southern route through California.

Mr. Hughes takes a trip east every summer lately and says that from the weather standpoint this is the pleasantest season he has made the trip. The nights were cool during his stay and the days not oppressively warm.

BAKERY TO CHANGE HANDS

W. C. Bowling has sold the Heppner bakery to M. W. Hammer who will take possession August 1st. The business will be conducted at the present location until September 1st when Mr. Hammer will move into part of the building recently purchased from E. G. Noble by Bob Hart. A new oven will be built and arrangements will be made to maintain a first class bakery.

It is understood Mr. Bowling expects to go to Malheur county where he will engage in the business of live stock auctioneer, a line in which he has had large experience.
