

OREGON LITERATURE ASKED

"It is our desire that every commercial organization in the state and individuals as well, use their best efforts to assist us in our undertaking to obtain settlers, and one way in which that can be done is to see that proper literature is furnished us from each city and town in the state. reads a statement sent out by Gen. Quayle, general secretary of the state chamber of commerce to all cities and commercial organizations in the state.

Mr. Quayle said that a great number of inquiries have been received lately from eastern people who want to settle in Oregon. During the past week he said four families from Dakota, Wyoming and Iowa, representing $78,000, have moved to Oregon with a view of remaining here permanently.—Oregonian.

HARNEY NITRATE DEPOSITS TO BE DEVELOPED

A dispatch from Bend to the Oregonian says: Development work on the nitrate deposits on Sheep mountain and in Stinking lake, both in Harney county, will be started this fall by the Oregon Nitrate company, and to interest eastern capital in the new industry J. H. Morton of this city, president of the company, will leave early in August. Expense will be chiefly at Sheep mountain, 100 miles from Bend as no plant whatever will be required in operating at the lake, 40 miles farther out.

Prospect holes sunk at intervals over the 4800 acre property have shown that the entire mountain is an almost solid mass of nitrate rock assaying high for sodium compounds and from 9 to 23 per cent for potassium salts.

That a fertilizer industry may be built up also at the lake is the belief of officers of the company and with this in view samples of the stratum immediately underlying the deposit of mineral salts have been sent to the Oregon Agricultural College for analysis.

AIRPLANES FIND FOREST FIRES

Reports to the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture, from the national forests in California, where army aviators are making daily flights in search of forest fires, indicate that the innovation has been decidedly successful and air patrols of the forest will prove so popular that they will eventually become a permanent part of the work to shield the great woodlands from conflagrations. Numerous fires have been discovered in their early stages by the aviators and have been reported immediately to the forest rangers. It is believed that considerable loss has been prevented by such early discovery. Lack of suitable landing places in this rugged country has proved a handicap in some instances and has caused a belief in some quarters that dirigible balloons will finally be found more suitable than airplanes for forest flying.

Company, of Heppner, Oregon, the above named bankrupt, was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of its creditors will be held in the Circuit Court room of the court house in Heppner, Oregon, on the 2nd day of August, 1919, at the hour of 10 o'clock, A. M., at which time said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt and transact such other business as may properly come before the court.

Claims must be presented in form required by the bankruptcy act, and sworn to.

The schedule filed discloses assets approximately of the estimated value of $10,000.

Dated July 10th, 1919.

A. M. CANNON,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

MINOR & CO.

Rough on New Jersey.

Oliver Wendell Holmes' idea of New Jersey, New York's next-door neighbor, was that it was "a double-headed suburb, rather than a state."

No Place for Him to Die.

Daniel Webster, taken ill one day in a town of decided Democratic leanings, begged his friends to take him home at once. "I was born a Federalist," he pleaded, "I have lived a Federalist, and I can't die in a Democratic town."

Glass-Bottomed Bucket.

A curious sight at Palermo is to see the fishermen spearing fish by the aid of glass-bottomed buckets. There are many corners of the world where fish are speared, but perhaps the use of the glass-bottomed bucket in this connection is to be seen only at Palermo.

The Leading Citizen.

Stranger—"Does this man, Amos Darby, hold any place of distinction in the village?" Villager—"Ye kin judge fer y'rself. When th' postman brings th' weekly newspaper down to Guy Parkinson's grocery store, Amos is the first reader!"—Life.
