EXPERIMENT STATION IS BIG ASSET TO FARMERS

Writing in the Oregonian of an auto trip recently made by President Kerr and the Board of Regents of O. A. C., to every O. A. C. experiment station in the state, Addison Bennett has this to say about their visit to the station at Moro:

In Sherman county when our party arrived there on the 11th of this month, there were a score or so of the farmers, all wheat growers, at the station to meet us. President Kerr said he would like to have some of them tell what was thought of the work of the station generally, and if it was, in the opinion of the speakers doing any good.

H. V. Smith one of the big farmers of the county, has about 2000 acres, no wheat in wheat and half in summer fallow. Mr. Smith says he is now getting 40 per cent more wheat from the same land and same area than he got ten years ago, and he attributed his success wholly and solely to the help the director of the station, Mr. E. E. Stephens, had given him. He went on to say that he could tell the land of a "station farmer" meaning one who followed the advice received at the station, by looking at his summer fallow or crop and could just as readily tell those who were failing through their stubbornness. All of the others made statements of a similar tone and declared that the reason, or the chief reason, why Sherman is increasing the acre yield right along with the same rainfall is because of the better farming brought about by the station.

FIRE CHIEFS WILL ATTEND THE ROUND-UP IN BODY

Pacific coast fire chiefs are coming to the tenth annual Pendleton Round Up in special Pullmans for the big show September 18, 19 and 20. They will first congregate at Portland on September 15th, for their twenty-sixth annual convention and plan to come on to Pendleton in a body on September 19th. While here they will be guests of the city and the local fire department.

Read The Herald for all the news.

MCCARTY WILL COMPETE AT PENDLETON ROUND-UP

Ed. McCarty winner of the bucking contest at Cheyenne in July, will defend his title against the best broncho busting material in the country at the tenth annual Pendleton Round-Up, September 18, 19 and 20. McCarty has performed before round-up audiences for several years and he can stick on a horse's back just as easily as a fly to a ceiling.

Sixteen Wyoming cowpunchers, attracted by increased purses offered by the Pendleton Round-Up management for the first after-war show, will accompany McCarty here. In the party are buckers, trick riders, trick ropers, steer ropers and relay riders, all from the Cheyenne country. McCarty will bring his own roping horses, mounts that know the game as well as the veteran cowboys. He will also enter his two relay strings, one in the cowboy's race and one in the cowgirl's race. The McCarty party is only one of several such groups to announce their intention of attending the west's greatest show.

Our showing of Ladies' Hosiery is exceptionally fine, when you consider how uncertain the hosiery market has been in the past—and still is for all that.

Fine seamless silk stockings in black and colors and lisle and cotton in black and colors.

We also have a fine showing of Children's Stockings. It will pay you to look them over.
