

FROCK FOR THE YOUNG

This charming outfit for the young lady is called the "petal frock," and is said to be a great favorite.

WHY SHE DECLINED

He—I know that you love me, dearest?
She—Then I can never marry you!
He—Why not?
She—Because I have sworn never to marry a man who knows more than I do.—London Answers.

STEERSMAN FOR A WIDOW

Miss Chatterbox—I must tell you the sad story of my sister some day. Poor girl, she's a widow, and she's looking for a captain to steer her through the stormy sea of life!
Naval Friend—She doesn't require a captain—It's a second mate she wants!—London Tit-Bits.

WANTED IN A HURRY

Frank—Ruth's marriage was a big surprise to me. I thought she wasn't to be married until next spring.
Grace—That was her intention, but her maid left suddenly and she had to have some one to hook her waist in the back.

HOW CRUEL!

Hubby (from the next room)—Why are you forever gazing into that mirror?
Wifey—I've just discovered that I am good-looking.
Hubby—You're some little discoverer all right; nobody will ever suspect you.

GRATITUDE.
"What did Mrs. Cutting say when she was informed that her husband had deserted her?"
"All she could say was, "Henry is so thoughtful!"

HER PREJUDICEMENT.
He: When in doubt play a trump.
She: The trouble is, I'm in doubt most of the time. And I seldom get more than four or five trumps.

LIGHT AND SHADOW.
Was there anything unusual about the contracting parties to that wedding?
No, just the bride and the groom.

White Net and Silk Lace Work.

part with an inset band of the lace. Accompanying the frock is a quaint poke bonnet of rose taffeta and straw—the hat facing and crown are of the rose taffeta. A small cluster of roses is placed at either side of the hat crown, underneath which long streamers are fastened.

CROWNLESS EVENING HAT

Wide Draped Band of Tulle Encircles Head and is Worn Low Over the Forehead.

The very latest thing in evening hats is the wide draped band of tulle which encircles the head, is worn low over the forehead and is girdled with anything resembling a crown, unless perchance a single layer of sheer tulle may be called a crown.

As a rule it is the collar itself which forms the crown, the high masses of curls and puffs which are now so extensively worn by all women filling the entire space left open by the draped band. Often the bands are adorned at the side with a sweeping osprey, or by a long, curled ostrich plume. In the latter case the plume is attached under a bow of the tulle, and sweeps down over the shoulder to curl around the neck. Bands of tulle, tied in broad Alsatian bows at the back, have also been noted at some of the recent smart first nights at the theaters. These evening hennidresses, with a few models in lingerie hats or garden hats, alone reflect the Alsatian influence.

Vests of Ribbon.
Gold and silver brocade vests made of ribbons are in good style. They are finished with a little belt across the front of gold or silver cord, knotted into a buckle-like ornament at the center front.

Learning.
Learning, joined with true knowledge, is an especial and graceful ornament, and an implement of wonderful use and consequence. . . . I would rather prefer wisdom, judgment, civil customs and modest behavior, than bare and mere literal learning.—Montaigne.

Plant to Be Dreaded.
One of the most terrible plants in existence is the Asclepias gigantea, which is common in Abyssinia, and grows also in Ceylon. When cut, a milky sap exudes from the stem and leaves, and the least drop of this will cause total blindness if it comes in contact with the eyes.

APPLIQUE IS EVER POPULAR

Method of Applying the Decoration to Obtain the Most Pleasing Results.

Applique continues to be as popular and as effective a method of exterior decoration as ever. There's an interesting new wrinkle to the latest phase of it that you will want to know about. Usually the applied motifs are put on flat; unusually they are pinched into position, which gives them the altogether effective look of relief work. For instance, there is the morning glory. It is cut generously large to begin with so as to allow for the pinch-tucks radiating from its center. And that very fetching idea isn't limited to morning glories, by any means. There is many a flower that is more realistic for this extra bit of hand-work.

Leaves, too, are given more artistic prominence for a bit of tucking along their veins, and when the tucking is treated to some decorative stitching it becomes even more charming.

Cleaning Process.

To dry-clean cream holland blinds have plenty of clean powdered brick dust ready. Lay the blinds flat on the table and with a clean, dry cloth rub the brick dust well into the blinds, renewing it as it gets dirty. Shake well, then give them a final rub with a fresh, clean cloth.
