THE IRIGATION MEN FIELD DAY

The Farmers of Morrow county who are interested in Irrigation, are interested in knowing hat the Hermiston Irrigation Experimental Station will put on a Field Day, on September 27th, where all the various plans and methods of irrigation will be fully gone into and clearly explained by men who are absolute authority on the same. Several outside speakers will attend, many ammement features will be put on; a basket dinner and function served at noon and a thoroughly enjoyable time will be had by all who attend. The plans for the inauguration of this Field Day on an enlarged scale is in the hands of the Hermiston Commercial Club, a thoroughly live "Goget- her" organization which plans to get results, they are already discussing having an aeroplane at the Field Day Exercises. The people of Morrow County are specially interested in this because of the fact that the West Extention Project reaches in over into Morrow County and it Is also of importance to us in showing what the John Day Project may ultimately prove to be through a comparison of result there. Willow Creek farmers interested in irrigation will do well to attend this meeting as a demonstration of methods of irrigin tion applicable to Willow Creek will be shown that will be or considerable importance.

CARNEGIE EARNEST SUPPORTED OF METRIC UNITS

San Francisco, August 22,-The passing of Andrew Carnegle bring to mind the fact that he had been to years an ardent advocate of world standardization in weights and metric units.

Andrew Carnegie was a need be of the Metric Committee of the No tional American Association of Max ufactures, which strongly direct net rig standardization. At the time the committee met. he made the helicy leg statement:

"The metric system of weights and measures is one of the steps forward that the Anglo-Saxon race is bound to take sooner or later. Our present weights and measures, inherited from Britain, are unworthy an intelligent nation today. The advantage America possesses over Britain in the decimal dollar system as compared with their pounds, shillings, and pence, would be fully equalled by the adoption of a metric system of weights and measures.18

Carnegie believed that world standardization of weights and measurer would aid greatly not only the cause of world trade, but also that of world peace. On another occasion he said: "The old weights and measures are a discredit to us. We shall inevitably adopt meter-linesgram, if for no other vector than a on aid to peace; but they would ener mously aid our world trade."

OF DEEP HISTORIC INTEREST

Possibility of Recovery of King Julin's Lost Treasures Causes Some Stir in England.

The idea of making use of the electric apparatus used in locating ores t discover King John's lost treasure ha been put forward by Capt. Hugh Pel lard in an English paper. He recalls the fact that, several years upo, Sh William Hope informed the Society of Antiquaries that the ford of the Wash where the treasure was lost in the thirteenth century was reclaimed in the seventeenth, and that the land Hebetween Walpole and Long Sutton Ir Lincolnshire. Now this treasure of King John's Is of extraordinary inter-Not only did it contain loot from half the castles and churches of England and John's own jewels, but the crown of King Alfred as well. At the close of the seventeenth century King Alfred's jewel, now in the Ashmolean museum, was found some distance north of the site of Athelney abboy in Somersonthire. The gem is made of pure gold and contains colored stones ered by a thick crystal, through which is seen the ministure of a man clothed in a green Saxon tunic. It is formed of enumeled mosaic on a blue ground. The man is sented on a throne with a crown on his head and holds a fleur-de-lis in each lifted. Round the edge are the words in Anglo-Saxon; "Alfred had me worked," Some say the figure represents Alfred himself, If so, perhaps the crown which the gem depicts is the one which the elements wrenched from the unworthy hands of John all that long time ago, and the one which, it is to be hoped, the twentieth century will recover.
