Mrs. Willetta Griffith, of Eight-mile, is spending the week with her mother, Mrs. Potter, on Court street. Mrs. George Thompson, who has been in poor health most of the summer, is spending a vacation in Portland.

Dr. B. F. Butler and family, who have been vacationing in western Oregon for a few weeks returned Monday.

Mrs. Bartholomew, who has been visiting her ranch on Butter creek for a week returned to her town house Monday.

Miss Elizabeth Phelps, who has been visiting friends at Eugene and other Valley points, has returned home.

Miss Pearl Hall who has been spending her vacation at Hood River and Vancouver returned to Heppner Monday evening.

Miss Alma Akers, who has been in Portland for several months, returned to her home here Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hall are moving to Hermiston for the winter where Mr. Hall has employment for his terms on an extensive contract.

Chas. Osten came in today from his ranch on Upper Rhea creek and reports a frost sufficiently heavy to nip the potatoe tops Sunday morning.

Mrs. Matzen, of Seattle, who has been spending a couple of months with her sister, Mrs. Geo. W. Milholland, left for her home Sunday morning.

Misses Rubina and Violet Corrigal and Lorraine Groshen, returned Monday evening from a vacation trip which took in Portland, Seattle and other points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Bayless left Wednesday morning for their eastern trip, their objective point being Mr. Bayless' former home in Virginia. They may decide to spend the winter there.

Rev. and Mrs. I. N. Hughes, of Helena, Montana, spent a few days last week visiting their daughter, Mrs. Ora Adkins, of Eightmile, leaving for their home Saturday morning. Rev. Hughes is a brother of Sam Hughes, well known merchant of this city.

Mrs. Margaret Cason, who will teach the Matteson school the coming term, returned a few days ago from a vacation trip spent at Portland, Seattle and Bellingham. Her mother, Mrs. C. J. Osten, who accompanied her on the trip, remained in Portland and will visit friends there for another week before returning.

Prof. Rollien Dickerson, newly elected principal of the Lexington schools, was a visitor in Heppner last Friday. Prof. Dickerson comes to Lexington from a responsible position in the Roseburg high school and is well known as an educator of ability and high standing. The Lexington school opened yesterday.

John Kilkenny returned from north Idaho last Thursday where he spent a week or so looking after his sheep being summered there. He says the feed is good there but herders are a poor crop. He forgot all his little troubles, however, when he found it raining at home. "The more rain the more grass," he quoted; and plenty grass looks good to John.

Sam E. Van Vactor and Sam jr. spent Sunday at their farm on upper Willow creek where they are rushing improvements before the advent of bad weather. Mr. Van Vactor is having a spacious bungalow built and is making many other improvements but the particular problem the two Sams are now struggling with is building a deer-tight fence around the estate to keep the antlered marauders from eating up the ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ayers, who have been spending most of the summer vacationing around Portland and the beaches returned to Heppner Thursday. Mr. Ayers says they visited every beach resort from Newport to the mouth of the Columbia and found one place about as wet and cold as another. Whenever they got tired of the cold weather they would drive into Portland for a few days and thaw out. They enjoyed the summer, however, and without saying so, it may be surmised that they are glad to be back in Heppner for the delightful season now due.
