MANY MILLIONS CANNOT READ

One-Tenth of Population of the United States Over Ten Years Are Illiterate.

"According to the best estimates," says a writer in Everybody's for July, "about 10,000,000, or more than one-tenth of our population over ten years old, cannot read or write English—a number greater than the whole population of Canada; greater than the whole population of the South in the Civil war; greater than the combined populations of 15 of our states. And of this number, fully half can neither read, write nor speak English. In some cities, such as Passaic, N. J., or Fall River, Mass., these strangers number a sixth or more of the population. "If this enormous population, alien in speech or literature or custom, were merely 'a population,' merely living among us, that would be one thing to think about. But all of this 10,000,000 are also working among us, trying to build some kind of life for themselves. And in so doing, they have brought themselves into a closer relationship with us than we are often willing to admit, even if we are aware of it. More than 58 per cent of the people who make our steel and iron, more than 72 per cent of those who make our clothes, more than 85 per cent of those who refine our sugar, are foreign-born. And nearly all of them cannot read or write English, and at least a quarter of them cannot read or write their own language. Six hundred and twenty thousand of the million who mine our coal are foreign-born, and 465,000 of these come from non-English-speaking races, with but the slightest ability, if any, to read the English language."

LATEST STYLE IN HAIR CUTS

New York Tonsorial Artist Advertises to Trim the Bean "Physiognomically."

"Hair cut physiognomically" is the impressive sign on the window of a "tonsorial artist" in the downtown section of New York.

"What's the sign mean?" asked a customer who drifted into the shop as a barber started to wait on him.

"I don't know," was the reply. "Some new-fangled idea of the boss."

When appealed to the proprietor of the place swelled with pride and in his weightiest tones explained his high child in this manner:

"That means that when you get into the chair we study your face and then proceed to cut your hair in such a manner that the trimming will conform to your general physiognomy, meaning your face. Sometimes a man is a victim of his barber in regard to his appearance—you know there are some men in the barber business here who ought to be shoemakers and cannot see any further than the hand that holds the expected clip. We bury defects in the face by the manner of hair cutting and enhance the good points. Women don't overlook this in putting up their hair and there is no reason why men should."

Foolish Question.

An official who was making up an assessment roll because of some recent street improvement called at each house on the improved streets to learn the names of the property owners. At one house he climbed out of his car, went to the door and knocked.

"Who owns this property?" he asked. "Why, I do," the woman answered. The official got her name and put it down in his book. Then he took a squint at the size of the lot.

"How many feet?" he asked. "Two, of course," the woman snapped, wondering whether he thought she was a centipede.

Knows About Birds.

What Representative Weaver of North Carolina doesn't know about birds is not worth knowing. He understands their habits, can imitate their calls, is on speaking terms with their eggs, and everything.

When the house is not in session Weaver wanders around through the capital grounds holding converse with the jay birds, sparrow hawks, crow blackbirds and such other birds as are found around Washington. And the town is full of birds.

Weaver got the bird habit through wandering about the North Carolina hills.

Rent Profiters in Manila.

Landlords, owners of residences and business buildings in Manila, are taking advantage of the paucity of homes and commercial structures to raise rents abnormally. Workers for salaries or wages, and firms and companies in mercantile pursuits, complain bitterly of the demands of the owners or lessors of houses and stores, factories and hodgegas. Most of the victims have to yield to the increased rents because they have no recourse. One man who paid $47 a month for his small, uncomfortable home, has been informed that he must pay $50—Manila Times.

1918 Cotton Worth $2,067,000,000.

The 1918 cotton crop, lint and seed, was worth $2,067,000,000 to the producers. This is about three times the value of the cotton crop of 1914 and is twice the value of the crop of 1913, which had the highest value of record. The computation has just been made, at the close of the cotton year, by the United States department of agriculture, bureau of crop estimates, based on average monthly prices received by growers and on monthly marketings.—Agricultural Department News Letter.

Perfectly Safe.
"Now," said the physician to the poet who had summoned him, "you are not in good health, and I must forbid all brain work." "But, doctor," protested the poet, "may I not write some verses?" "Certainly," the doctor said, "write all the verses you want to."

To Frost Glass.
It is often convenient to frost bulbs and lenses, and here is a method by which this work may be done at home. To a mixture of 24 ounces of ether and 18 ounces of benzine add two and a quarter ounces of sandarach and half an ounce of mastix. The parts to be frosted should be immersed in this solution a few minutes.

Do It Now!
The doors of opportunity remain open for years, but they close with a bang, and they never reopen. We are responsible for the good we might do, and the world is poorer for our neglect, as no one can do our work. If there is something that needs doing, don't wait till tomorrow! Do it now!
