Cecil was visited by a heavy snow storm on Tuesday and Wednesday, snow falling to the depth of 18 inches on the level. Friday evening registered 25 degrees below zero. Saturday morning at 6:30 it was 28 below zero in Cecil.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Moore of Heppner spent Monday around Cecil.

IRRIGON

The few cases of scarlet fever which developed some time ago are all recovered and most of the children who were out of school on account of it have returned. Quantities of formaldehyde were used to prevent the spreading of the contagion and we are glad to announce that Irrigon is now a safe place to be in so far as we know.

The recent cold snap made good skating on the "slough" near the town site and incidently provided a perfect carnival of sport for our young people. Wasn't it cold? N-O-O-O!

A snow fall of about ten inches enabled two of our neighbors to supply a quantity of fresh meat to the Portland market. W. B. Howard and R. O. Jones captured and shipped six dozen fat jack rabbits. If this weather continues further shipments may result. If sales should prove satisfactory the contemplated slaughter of the rabbits by means of poison may not materialize, but is the returns satisfactory. Wholesale slaughtering of the beasts and a scarcity of strichnine may be looked for.

And now the new Irrigon high school enters the list of standard high schools. Official notice having been received by the school clerk, F. W. Wadsworth. This school was authorized last summer by vote of the people and the school board and Mr. Anderson the principal has been active in selecting and securing the necessary library and apparatus and organizing the course of study.

Our public water supply went on a strike, so to speak, about a week ago. The supply well caved in and shut off the flow of the aqua pura, and residents of the town have been compelled to haul water from the few private wells or from the river. There is no information as to the probability of an early resumption of the flow.

Mrs. Naven of Pendleton, is holding a short series of gospel meetings. Attendance was fair the first evening. Further accounts may appear next week.

Ralph Walpole, who has been attending school at O. A. C., arrived home last Tuesday. He will be home but a few days, returning to Corvallis within a week.

Harry Lester, a former resident of Irrigon, who had been working on ship production at Seattle for some months, spent a couple of weeks recently with his mother and then went to Los Angeles in the hope of securing a remunerative job. News has been received that he joined the U. S. aviation service and has gone to C'uzco for his training. It is understood that he enters as a machinist. Not an aviator. His wife and two children go to live with her parents for a time.

Marshall Markham went down to the ice to learn to skate. He thinks now that a fellow needs skates fastened all over him to protect his person from unpleasant contact of the various parts of his anatomy with the cold and unsympathetic ice. Ask him!

A group of young folks had a very enjoyable social meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Graybeal last Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frances Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Berry all of Umatilla, visited with relatives in Irrigon during the past week.

J. A. Stadler went to Astoria last week to make his home. He will be connected with a public garage.

Mr. Ezra Morrison from the Sui-law country, is visiting with friends, Delbert and Kenneth Digby.

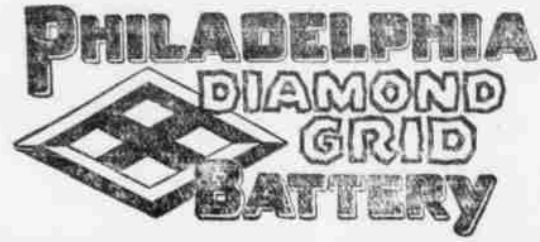

R. S. Lamereaux, cashier of the Arlington bank, was in this vicinity last Sunday looking over his place which he recently purchased. He expects to make some improvements in the near future.

Mrs. Robert McCarthy and children have been spending a week visiting with friends and relatives in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Benefel arrived a week ago from Walla Walla where they were visiting relatives and friends. While visiting here their son, E. W. Benefel, of Arlington, came to spend a few days with them. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. will return to their home near Wasco.

DRUGGISTS

A number of people who have been living in Irrigon are planning to move onto their farms in the spring. Among the number are S. A. Smith, G. W. Samson, F. C. Frederickson, Charles Benefel.

Mr. and Mrs. Kessler, we understand have sold their town property and will not be residents of Irrigon much longer.

MORGAN ITEMS

"Old Man Winter" has hit this section with about two feet of snow and zero weather. No school since Tuesday owing to deep snow and cold weather.

Every body can enjoy sleighing while this winter weather lasts. Hal Ely and B. F. Morgan were the first two out with their sleighs in this section.

F. J. Ely, our Morgan merchant, was killing jack rabbits Thursday.

Robert Smith and son, Dick, have been hauling their winter wood until the snow stopped them.

Earl Morgan is hauling straw these days, but had the misfortune one day this week of capsizing a load of straw on a steep hillside.

Matthew Hall passed through Morgan Wednesday of this week to his ranch two miles below town, which he purchased from George H. Whitcomb this fall.

H. A. Edmonds' big catapillar passed through Morgan one day this week on the train to be unloaded at Ione. Mr. Edmonds is farming on a large scale in this vicinity.

Fred Willis and David Ely were trying to catch jack rabbits in the deep snow Thursday.

T. M. Benedict, old time resident of this section, who moved to Lyle, Wash., this fall, was visiting here a few days last week. Mr. Benedict is well pleased with his new home.

Mrs. H. E. Willis has been visiting her old home in the Willamette valley for the past two weeks.

The present cold weather has discontinued work on the highway here along Willow creek.

Franklin Ely has recovered from a severe attack of scarlet fever. He has been sick for about a month.

The county agent, Mr. Huot, gave a very interesting lecture here a few evenings ago.

Rev. Samples of Ione, preached at the Morgan school house a few evenings but owing to the bad weather was obliged to close the meetings but intends to again lecture at a later date.

F. J. Ely and H. E. Willis warehouse men of Morgan, have been busy shipping wheat for the last six weeks.

John Jewel is going to put up a blacksmith shop here at Morgan soon.
