WATER OF PECULIAR VIRTUE

Trouble With Philadelphia Visitor: War That He Didn't Understand Just How to Use It.

Harry N. Taylor, president of the National Coal association, said in Washington:

"It takes an optimist to look at the situation hopefully—an optimist like Rittenhouse Walnut of Philadelphia."

"Rittenhouse Walnut, in the days before Philadelphia got a filter plant, laughed heartily one evening at a friend who complained that the Philadelphia water was too muddy to bathe in."

"'Why, my boy,' said Rittenhouse, 'our Philadelphia water is the best in the world for bathing purposes. Why, it beats Marienbad.'

"'But it's so muddy.'

"'That's the point,' said Rittenhouse. 'It's medicinal mud, full of phosphates and calories and things. Tonight you try a Philadelphia water bath, a good, long bath, and you'll feel like a new man. Let me caution you, though, to use no towel!'

"'No towel?' sneered the other. 'No towel, eh?'

"'No, sir; no towel,' said Rittenhouse. 'Just stand before the radiator and let the water dry on you. Then brush it off.'

UNCLE SAM SAYS HERE'S LIBERTY BOND'S BROTHER

Treasury Savings Certificates are a new issue of United States Government securities. They are of $100 and $1000 denominations. They run for five years and bear 4 per cent interest, compounded every three months.

They are little brothers of the Liberty Bond and big brothers of the War Savings Stamp.

A $100 Savings Certificate costs $84 this month. It will be worth $100 January 1, 1924. It is cashable any time with accrued interest at any postoffice on ten days' notice. It is a Government obligation.

A $1000 Savings Certificate costs $840 this month. It will be redeemed by Uncle Sam January 1, 1924, for $1000. It is cashable with accrued interest at any time at any postoffice on ten days' notice.

Treasury Savings Certificates are registered in your name, thus insuring against loss.

They are the best investment in the world.

Buy them at the postoffice.

IRREPARABLE LOSS TO WORLD

Treasures of Louvain Library, Destroyed by the Huns, Can by No Possibility Be Replaced.

The completeness with which the famous library of Louvain was destroyed comes out in the report of the American committee which has been visiting the ruins with a view to building a new library of Louvain, which is to be the "free gift of the United States." Some of the walls, pillars and buttresses remain standing, and even retain their carvings and sculptures, but the idea of rebuilding the library has been abandoned. Of the contents of the Louvain library nothing at all is left; the few volumes that were found still retaining their shape crumbled when touched. Aside from the thousands of volumes that can be replaced the ruins contain the ashes of at least a thousand manuscripts that were priceless, because it would be impossible to replace them. There were, one may admit, more widely important things in the world, for example, than the two autograph manuscripts of Dionysius Carthusiensis, but Louvain was proud to possess those specimens of his handwriting, and all the wealth of the United States cannot give them back.—Christian Science Monitor.

WOMEN RANK THRIFT NEXT TO AMERICANISM

General Federation of Women's Clubs Rules Thrift One of Chief Activities

San Francisco. — Americanization, Thrift, Community Service, are the three outstanding activities of the organized club women of the United States for 1919. This was decided upon by the General Federation of Women's Clubs at their mid-biennial Council.

The Thrift campaign is under the direction of Miss Georgia A. Bacon, of Worcester, Mass. nationally for the General Federation. Mrs. Edward Dexter Knight, former president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, is California State Thrift chairman, and is also officially identified with the work in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District under Robert E. Smith, director of the War Loan Organization. She is engaged at present in working out a practical thrift "suggestionaire" for use of women's clubs throughout the Twelfth Federal Reserve District.

"The time for inspirational talks and writing on Thrift is past," said Mrs. Knight. "The big thing now is to practice it. I think the suggestionaire will help the women of the West to practice it."

"We are far behind our War Savings Stamp quota in this district. It is up to the women to see that we lead the Government the money it has asked. In the average family the women hold the purse strings and they can save the money required by putting War Savings Stamps in their family budgets every week."

Last of Calapooias Dies.

Down around Cottage Grove, Ore., the old-timers are only discussing what they remember of the Calapooia Indian tribe. The last specimen of the tribe, Sam Fern, went to the happy hunting grounds a few days ago and the people at Cottage Grove are wondering what will become of the land which the Calapooia tribe was using. Some of it is exceptionally fertile land. The tribe got its name from the range of mountains in that vicinity, or vice versa, and the Calapooia were always a peaceful band. This tribe went through the great fire which swept the coast range about a century ago, when the only way the Indians could save themselves was to remain in the rivers for several days. The fire was so intense that the water became warm. Calapooia Indians declared that the wild animals also fled to the river and wolves and deer paddled around together in perfect harmony.—Portland Oregonian.

Artist vs. Photographer.

Early in the submarine campaign, one of our boats was given a coat of camouflage, and when the vessel sailed from its pier in the North river, New York, the owners sent a photographer two or three piers down the river to photograph the ship as she went by. He took the picture, writes A. Russell Bond, in his "Inventions of the Great War," but when the negative was developed, much to his astonishment, he found that the boat was not all on the plate. In the finder of his camera, he had mistaken a heavy band of black paint for the stern of the ship, quite overlooking the real stern, which was painted a grayish white. The artist had fooled the photographer and at a distance of not more than 200 or 300 yards.

"Haw, haw, haw!"

"What's the joke, Hiram?"

"There wuz a feller through here a spell back tryin' to sell Lige Beegum one o' them farm tractors."

"Well?"

"If half the stories I hear are true Lige's got a gallon of corn licker buried about every twenty feet on his farm, with just a little dirt on top, so he can get at it without much trouble when th' spirit moves him. As long as Lige is in his right mind you couldn't get him to run as heavy a thing as a tractor over his land. It's too darned fertile."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Model Husband.

"Jonesy's military training has certainly fitted him for married life."

"How's that?"

"When his wife hauls him over the coals he stands at attention."—The Home Sector.

Fashion's Power.

"Some of the most fashionable people are going to wear old clothes."

"That's terrible news," wailed a man with shiny sleeves.

"Why terrible?"

"If old clothes become fashionable they'll cost so much that nobody can afford to buy a second-hand suit."

Father's Punishment.

"Out after hours again, eh?" said the father.

"Only ten minutes," replied the son.

"Well, go at once to your room, sir, lock yourself in, and bring me the key. This thoughtlessness must be checked."—London Tit-Bits.

Water Iris Good Fertilizer.

High value as a fertilizer is found in the water iris. The material is partially dried before stacking, and after becoming well rotted it proves to have about the same composition as farm yard manure, except that it is richer in potash.
