TIMBER SUPPLY IN DANGER

Expert Points Out What Seems to Him Imperative Need of a National Forest Policy.

"One of the most interesting things to come to my knowledge is the seeming lack of interest on the part of the people of the United States to save our forests," said Charles Lathrop Paek, president of the American Forestry association. "Our new growth of timber is not more than one-third of the amount being used or destroyed, every year. There is an end to all things," continued Mr. Paek, "and the timbermen, lumbermen and wood-using industries must get together with the foresters on a national forest policy of some kind. We all know about locking the stable door after the horse is stolen, and we can all stand around and wonder what to do when the well runs dry, but what are we going to do when the forests give out? Place your finger on something into which the use of wood in the making does not enter. Rather hard for you to do it, I will say. The newspaper owner knows about the mounting cost of print paper and the cost of the barrel in which you find your flour has gone away up. You cannot eat the paper or the barrel, but they figure big in the high cost of living you hear so much about. We must have a national forest policy in this country, and that soon."

CHANGED FOR THE BETTER

Conditions, Especially in the Holy Land, Have Been Much Improved in Recent Years.

Whoever has journeyed to Cairo and from there desires to go on to Jerusalem may now buy his ticket in the Cairo railway station and look out of the windows of the train at the scenery of the plain of Sharon as he makes his trip. The rail connection has been completed by a new line from Ludd to Haifa, passing the ruins of Athlit, where the Templars long ago had their last stronghold in Palestine. The Journey from Egypt to the Holy Land is greatly simplified; one need no longer land at Jaffa, nor wonder how much one's plans will be interfered with by uncertain conditions of wind and sea. More than that, Jerusalem is a much less dubious place for the tourist to visit, and its points of interest may be much more conveniently inspected than they used to be. Good order is maintained, the city is under British discipline, the chance of "falling among thieves," more or less an accepted risk under the Turkish regime, need hardly be considered. One may visit the mosque of Omar without the undesired companionship of a Turkish soldier. A good deal of regret has been heard that "Europe would never be the same again" for tourists to look at, but in some respects at least it will be much changed for the better.

Embers.

Winter fuel is being gathered up wherever it may be found this autumn. In Paris the coal carts which all day lumber along the Avenue des Versailles on the edge of the Seine are followed by a troop of women and children armed with sacks and baskets. The road is worn, there are many holes, the jolts are frequent and bits of coal or coke come tumbling down. There is a rush and eager hands thrust the black treasure into grimy baskets and gaping sacks. The gleaners organize themselves into shifts—it's worth doing—they get as much as a sackful—one hundredweight—in one quarter of an hour. Thus Paris is taking in its coal—in good time. In London where all the streets, or nearly all, have been up this August and September there has been a harvest of half-worn tarred wood blocks—little heaps of them along the side of the road. No lack of customers either, and in areas and back yards tidy little stores of blocks have been put by for use in the coming winter.

Paternal Wisdom.

"Pa, what is an 'impressario'?" "An impressario, my son, is—er—er—a man who runs a restaurant." "But, pa, I thought he had something to do with a theater." "That's right, my son. He's a man who runs a restaurant in connection with a theater."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
