Y. W. C. A. PLANS WORLD PROGRAM

Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr.,
Heads Association's 1920
World Service Program.

$3,000,000 NEEDED FOR WORK.

Leader Calls Association a "Stabilizing Influence" in Outlining Post-War Program for Women—Federal Council of Churches to Announce "Y. W. C. A. Sunday."

Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., chairman of the National Educational Campaign Committee of the 1920 World Service Program of the Young Women's Christian Association, has made the following statement:

"Since the war we are more than ever aware of the economic, industrial, educational, social and religious difficulties which beset the lives of girls and women everywhere. In meeting the post-war needs of women the Young Women's Christian Association stands as an instrument of service, tested and proven by war, and organized to meet the manifold problems of peace."

MRS. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.,
Chairman of the Educational Campaign Committee of the Young Women's Christian Association.

"Because of its fifty odd years of experience in meeting fundamental problems affecting girls, the Young Women's Christian Association is an organization particularly fitted to exert a stabilizing influence upon the troubled times through a consistent program of service for girls and women.

"American women are asking how they may share in the world's reconstruction. They can do so by enlisting the support of their communities for this World Service Program, which will insure to the world a healthier and better womanhood.

"This campaign of the Y. W. C. A. to tell the people of the United States about its work and to raise $3,000,000 with which to carry on Y. W. C. A. work during 1920 in the United States, Europe, China, Japan, India, South America, Egypt, Siberia and Mexico will close the week of February 22 to 29, which will be known as Y. W. C. A. Week.

"The Federal Council of Churches will probably set one Sunday as a time for ministers throughout the country to address their congregations on general conditions affecting women and the Young Women's Christian Association as an instrument of service.

"The immediate task is to bring to the people of the United States a knowledge of conditions affecting the lives of women in all parts of the world. We can no longer ignore the character, the manner of life and the ideals of other peoples, whether we want to or not. A special call is now coming to the Association from China, Japan, India and South America, where work was held back during the war because of the necessity for special activity in France and the United States.

"The World Service Program calls for $4,500,000. Of this amount $1,500,000 has already been secured."

The educational campaign committee includes among its members Mrs. Robert E. Speer, president of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. Henry P. Davison, Mrs. William Van V. Hayes, Mrs. Robert L. Dickinson, Mrs. William Adams Brown, Mrs. Van Sanford Merle-Smith, Mrs. Lewis H. Lapham, Miss Ellen Hale Stevenson, Mrs. Frederic B. Pratt and Mrs. Herbert Lee Pratt.

Recreation for Girls is Important Feature of Work.

Fifty-two young women in the United States are known as Y. W. C. A. "town secretaries." All of which means that the fifty-two are organizing recreation work for girls and for the community at large in towns of less than 10,000 inhabitants.

The Y. W. C. A. may be in one rented room or more. It may be a whole building, but at any rate there is a recreation room and if possible a kitchen, reading and writing rooms. If the Y. W. C. A. has a building of its own it becomes a community center, where all women's organizations may meet.

TO RESTORE HISTORIC SPOT

City of New Orleans Taking Steps to Preserve and Beautify Bienville's Landing Place.

An effort is being made in New Orleans to restore the old historic spots around the city. With the restoration of the old Place d'Armes, the rehabilitation of the Cabildo and the Pontalba apartments which surround it, and the preservation of all as an artistic center for the old French and Spanish quarter, an effort is being made to restore and preserve the landing place of Bienville, where he first set foot on the high land in 1720, at the place he was destined to convert into Nouvelle Orleans. This landing place, which lies on the river directly facing the Place d'Armes, which is now Jackson square, is covered with the switch tracks of the Southern Pacific and public Belt railroads, and with a part of the large steel warehouse belonging to the board of commissioners of the port of New Orleans.

Supporters of the Louisiana State museum have appealed to the mayor and the various civic organizations to have these sheds and railroad tracks removed at once, inasmuch as the land, clear from the Cabildo to the river itself, was expropriated some time ago to be put in historical and artistic reserve. As all the water front of New Orleans and the east bank of the river belongs to the city and state forever, the completion of the artistic center is sure of accomplishment.

ACCEPTED MANDATE OF FATE

Young English Soldier Proved Himself Worthy When Called to Position of Responsibility.

When Rudyard Kipling's "The Man Who Would Be King" was published it was regarded as an excursion into the improbable, if not the impossible. It was the Anglo-Saxon imagination accepted by the colorful Hindustani civilization.

But the sober chronicles of the war have outdone Kipling. Thorneycroft, a twenty-two-year-old British trooper, found himself stranded in Turkey after Townsend's ill-fated offensive. Nothing daunted, he accepted his predicament as a mandatory of Fate. He proceeded to rule over a territory containing 60 villages and 60,000 people, and he ruled them until relieved by the martial law brought by Allenby's troops. The son of a hotel keeper of Bristol, he proved at the test that he was of imperial fiber.

Truth is stranger than fiction. It always has been and always will be, with Tommy Atkins or his first cousin, the doughboy, as protagonist. Each possesses the comic spirit that means adaptability, no matter what the emergency.

Marshal Joffre a Catalanian.

Possibly with more reason than the seven claimants to the birthplace of Homer, Catalonia makes out a good case for asserting that Marshal Joffre belongs to her by right of birth. The great stopper of the German first offensive is a native of Perpignan, where the Catalanian race predominated in past ages and where today are found many families which still retain Catalanian customs and language. Leading business firms of Catalonia, seeking to establish a tangible claim, have appointed a committee which is to proceed to Paris and present a sword to the great warrior, unless he fulfill a promise made at the peace conference that he will visit Catalonia, in which case the presentation will be made at Barcelona. This, of course, would be the occasion of a great celebration.

Mexicans Hold Strange Beliefs.

Few countries are richer in strange beliefs than Mexico, writes Charles Bernard Nordhoff in the Atlantic Monthly. There the witches assume the eyes of cats and fit through the night on vampire's wings. A brisk business is done in love potions and candle flames still point the way to buried treasure. The Mexican inherits his cruelty to domestic beasts from both the Spaniard and the Indian, and his superstitions may be traced to the same double source.

Eccentricity is not understood in Mexico. The native is a lover of formality, and one is judged largely by external things. Each man dresses according to his station, and it is unthinkable that a well-to-do man should wear a straw sombrero or carry a serape; the peons would be the first to jeer at him.

Painstaking Work.

A French critic who complained of the hasty composition and lack of fine writing among his compatriots drew from M. Pierre Louys, the author of "La Femme et le Pantin," a pained and precise denial of the charge. M. Louys, who has not published anything in several years, says that he has been diligently occupied on a work which he rewrites and corrects a hundred times to each page. This and other works which he has not yet considered worthy of publication have accumulated until he has on hand more than 200 pounds of manuscript.

The Croix de Guerre.

The croix de guerre, corresponding to the military cross of Britain and the Iron Cross of Germany, will be noticeable hereafter on the breasts of Frenchmen, civilian as well as military, who have been distinguished by being mentioned in the dispatches. It is made of Florentine bronze, about an inch and a half in diameter, with crossed swords between the arms.

His Sensation.
"Well, sir, I didn't realize how green I was till I got here to Kay See and mingled a little," confessed the gent from Jimson Junction. "But now, by hokey, I feel like an oasis in the midst of the great desert of this town."—
Kansas City Star.

Talk may be cheap, but the phone companies seem bound to have it otherwise.
Many a girl who uses cold cream for her complexion believes that ice cream also is a good aid.
Now is the time to throw cold water on the enthusiasm of the person who inquires if it is hot enough for you.—
