HOOVER, FOR PRESIDENT

chance of being chosen.

Lioush the politicisms of the demople are fired of party, and they may the following boundaries he numerous enough through the direst primary to force the nomination of a sandidate in whom they believe more than they believe in any candicate whose nomination campaign is being engineered by politicians.

The fact that Hoover spent a large part of his boyhood and youth in Oregon will not militate against his chances in this state. But the big things with most people is that he has cemomstrated capacity to accomplish vast results—has proven himself to be the biggest figure of the war-and that so far as America is concerned his results were based so largely on faith in the patriotism of the American people and his successful use of the unfidence reposed in him by the people when they made food sacrifices under his inspiration and leaderthin. Hoover has come through fire with tittle criticism while his achievemen's were gigantic. It would appear to be the office seeking the man or a whole people commandeering its ablest statesman to serve the nation in its most important post during a period that is clouded with difficulties Oregon Veter.

NEWSPAPER PROPRIETORS HAVE LEARNED LESSON

Proprietors of newspapers learning that in past times they did oo much for nothing. more than they could afford to do. As a result they have not the reserve coin they might have had wherewith to light battles for the preservation of their property. In the foture the papers will do less free work than they have done in the past, and as a result they will be more highly appreciated; this on the principle that copic appreciate what they pay for Exchange.
