To Keep American Ships on the Seas
For the first time since the Civil War we have a real merchant marine. It cost us $3,000,000,000 to get it.
The farmer, manufacturer, laborer—every American is interested in holding our position on the seas.
As a first step in this direction it is necessary to modify those articles of existing commercial treaties which have operated to thwart the upbuilding of our merchant marine—
By giving the notice of termination for which the several treaties provide.
This action is directed in the constructive Shipping Bill now before Congress.
Which declares it to be the policy of the United States "to do whatever may be necessary to develop and encourage" a merchant marine.
This policy deserves the support of every American.
Lacking this support the present effort to maintain our merchant marine may suffer the fate of many ineffective attempts of the past.
Send for a copy of "For an American Merchant Marine."

GIFTED SINGER IS COMING TO CHAUTAUQUA

LORRAINE LEE, LYRIC SOPRANO

For "Music Day" of the Chautauqua, the Westco Management secured Carmeliny and his Old Colonial Band of fifteen musicians for two splendid concerts. Wishing, however, to leave nothing to be desired, Miss Lorraine Lee was engaged to sing during the evening program. There is a vivacity and freshness about Miss Lee's personality and voice rarely equalled on the concert platform. There is a treat in store for real music lovers, but remember, Miss Lee sings only on the fourth night of the Chautauqua.

ALASKA PULP TIMBER SOLD.

Bids for the sale of 100 million feet of pulp timber in Alaska have just been opened in the District Forester's office here. The successful bidder was the Alaska Pulp and Paper Company, of San Francisco, Cal. who submitted a bid of $1.00 per thousand board feet for certain classes of timber, and 50 cents per thousand for the remainder.

The higher priced timber includes such Alaska trees as Sitka spruce, western red cedar, and Alaska cypress. A large per cent of the timber advertised, Forest Service officers say, is suitable for paper making.

This big sale of Government timber is located in south eastern Alaska, on Port Snettisham and Glass Peninsulas, within the Tongas National Forest. The timber has been advertised and sold to the highest bidder, as required by federal law.

The Alaska Pulp and Paper Co. are said to have made already heavy investments in waterpower development in Alaska, which may be used in conjunction with pulp plants to be built. From present indications Forest officers predict this pulp sale as the beginning of a legitimate development and use of the timber resources of Alaska to relieve the nation-wide paper shortage.

OREGON INDUSTRIAL NOTES OF INTEREST

The Portland Vegetable Oil Co. has been incorporated with a capital of $1,000,000 and will import copra from the South Sea Islands for the manufacture of soap and other vegetable oil products. In addition to making soap from copra, which is the meat of the coconut, the residue, after passing through the presses is said to be valuable as food for cattle which may be of interest to Morrow county stockmen Silverton, Ore., June—Loganberries for jam and pies and other culinary dainties are to be run through the new factory of the Silverton Canning Company, which will soon be ready for operation. It will handle other seasonable fruits.

Roseburg, Ore., June—Dona in the Rogue River Valley people don't have to buy brooms any more. They can slip over into a handy corn patch and help themselves to at least the "makings." Corn raised in that section yields 1000 pounds of broom material of the finest quality. The Rogue River Broom Company, which has been in operation one year, is probably the forerunner of a whole chain of such factories.

Roseburg, Ore., June—Many new fixtures and a large refrigerating system have just been installed in the Douglas County Creamery, which has received many medals for its butter in state dairy competitions. The company supplies its product to several of the State institutions.

Eugene, Ore., June—About $10,000 is to be spent in getting in condition the old Washburn Sawmill at Jesso on the lower Willamette River here before it is put in operation again after it had been closed for many years. It has recently changed hands.

Portland, Ore., June—About 75 local stores have already signed up with the Portland Ad Club to devote Portland, Ore., June—Five million dollars worth of candy! This is the annual output of six big companies in Oregon employing at least 1000 people, according to figures just compiled here. These do not include the hundreds of small retail manufacturers. Oregon, the leading candy state in the west, ships its sweets to Alaska, China, Japan, New Zealand, Australia, South America, Central America, Porto Rico and Cuba and eight states.

Portland, Ore., June 10—Handy things around the kitchen are to be turned out by a new company, the Sanitary Strainer and Novelty Company, which has just been incorporated. It has a capitalization of $15,000.

Portland, Ore., June—Sheet metal products and machinery are to be the output of the newly organized Union Retinning and Metal Works. The corporation is capitalized at $100,000.

Portland, Ore., June 10—A ready built bungalow has been erected by the Redmade Building Company on one of the down town blocks to accommodate the automobile committee for Shrine week.

A quarter of a million dollars per annum has been spent in advertising dehydrated fruits and vegetables in this state.

Two million annually is being produced from 100 mines in 61 districts in Oregon.

One-third of all the undeveloped water power in the United States is in the Columbia River basin.

Oregon leads the west in the manufacture of woollens and produces the finest wool in the United States.

A Sterilizer for doctors and dentists' instruments manufactured in Oregon by the Halvorsen Co. is sold throughout the United States.

WHY NOT BRING SOME HERE?

The following news dispatch under a Seattle date line was published in the Oregonian of recent date:

"United States Sugar— that is Cuban sugar—is being sold by North Americans in Brazil for less than 7 cents a pound and Argentine sugar which could be delivered in Seattle,

Portland and other coast cities for 10 cents a pound, is being held out of the United States market.

This charge was made to the chamber of commerce foreign trade bureau today by Julian Mingot, a representative of the Argentine ambassador to the United States, who is here to investigate trade possibilities between Puget sound and Argentina.

"There is plenty of sugar in Argentina at 7 cents," said Mr. Mingot. "We have had hard work getting rid of it though it is of the same quality as the sugar sold in the United States."

"Americans are conducting a price war in Brazil, which is an Argentine market, trying to undersell Argentine dealers, and when I left Argentina you could buy a kilo of sugar, about three pounds, for 20 cents."

We have been told in Argentina that we could not find a market in the United States for our sugar because Cuba is so much nearer. The sugar plantations of Argentina can produce great amounts of sugar, and although there is a slightly better demand for it than three years ago, when we could not compete even in South America, because we were undersold, we have lots to sell and can deliver it on the Pacific seaboard of the United States for 10 cents a pound.

"We have in Argentina a surplus of 52,154 long tons of 2204 pounds, from the 1919 crop and our production this year will be 250,000 long tons."

Aside from the apparent American effort to keep Argentine sugar out of the United States there has been an embargo in that country against its export. It was lifted only recently."

Pendleton, Ore., June—Wheat as it comes from the fields and as it finally emerges from the flour mills was shown the people who attended the formal opening of the Collins Flour Mills last week. This new plant has an output of 1,000 barrels daily.
