

ADVISES AGAINST BUYING OIL STOCKS

San Francisco, July 6.—"Federal prosecution of wild cat oil promoters in New York is a fitting climax to a campaign which the Savings Division of the Treasury Department has been waging for many months", said Theo. Hardee, Director of the Government Savings Organization for the Twelfth Federal Reserve District, today.

"Throughout the country the Savings Organization of each Federal Reserve District has spent a deal of time in an attempt to warn the public against losing the money they so patriotically set the Government during the war by trading in their Liberty Bonds for worthless stock.

"Of course I have no information on the specific prosecutions in the East", said Hardee. "Our fight in which we have received the sympathetic cooperation of the envisioned newspaper editors of the country has been to stem the sale of the ever rising flood of worthless stocks and securities, backed only by eloquent promises. We have no quarrel with legitimate industrial securities, but we have a quarrel with not only wild cat oil promoters but the promoters of all wild cat schemes.

"The Government Savings Organization, which is a branch of the Savings Division of the Treasury Department, has two objects—to lay before the people the fact that their true interests lies in holding their Liberty Bonds and investing their savings in other Government Securities such as War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates.

"In my opinion, and I think it is backed by the banking authorities of the country, the exchange of vast quantities of Liberty Bonds for the worthless stocks at the behest of glib-tongued salesmen has had much to do with the decline of Liberty Bond prices. These Liberty Bonds have been muddled from the public by promoters of fake enterprises in exchange for worthless securities and have then be thrown upon the market in order that these unscrupulous promoters might get their hands on the cash as quickly as possible. Many a man who has traded his bonds for worthless stock is going to rue it soon.

"The prosecutions in New York ought to make the holder of Liberty Bonds think twice before he lets go of them or before he invests his savings.

"My advice to every man and woman when he or she is asked to buy any stock is to consult his or her banker first."

RABBI WISE ADDRESSES U. OF O. STUDENTS

University of Oregon, Eugene.—"The University of Oregon was the first institution I ever saw where men and women are educated together, though I have seen many where they went to school together—a fine distinction", said Dr. Stephen S. Wise, former Portland rabbi and now head of the Free Synagogue in New York City, at the occasion of his recent address before the summer school of the University.

In speaking of "Americanization,

Kiev Is Taken From the Bolsheviki

View of the city of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, which was captured from the Russian bolsheviki by the Poles and Ukrainians.

True and False", Dr. Wise said that there were certain cardinal principles which must be recognized and agencies which must be employed before real Americanization can be achieved. The principles he cited are that immigration and Americanization are different things; that "foreigner" and "inferior" are not synonymous terms and that being a foreigner does not imply disloyalty.

The agencies which must be employed he named as: the public schools, the press, the church, the civic government and the theater, not clubs and societies formed to accomplish Americanization as a fad of the moment.

PARENTS STILL TALK BACK

The following from the Kansas City Star proves that parents while they have not yet attained unto perfection are making fair progress toward it:

"We are living in the age of the most obedient parents in the world's history," said a Philadelphia educator. Possibly so, but they still have not been cured of the habit of talking back. Only last night we heard a 9-year old boy tell his mother she could either buy him a 10-cent box of popcorn or he wouldn't take any, and she said, "Now, Willie" two or three times, and as long as we hung around he couldn't make that woman shut up.

MARINES TAKE THEIR SCHOOL BOOKS TO SEA

When the 16th Regiment, U. S. Marines, started for Mexico the other day they were not only equipped with rifles and packs, but also carried their school books.

The problem of anti-military reaction following the war has been solved by the Marine corps, says E. B. Hammond, captain, U. S. M. C., in charge of recruiting district of Portland, by combining academic and vocational education with military training, the broadening influences of travel, and adventure.

In pre-war days it was a problem to keep Marine's attention concentrated and their minds interested in strictly military routine. There was a growing disposition on the part of young men to regard the spare time spent in the Marine Corps as time wasted. The present-day combining of scholastic work with Marine Corps training has solved the problem.

The Marine Corps Institute, something entirely new in military circles is a practical school teaching Marines a wide variety of subjects either in the class room, workshop, or by correspondence. In whatever part of the world a Marine may be stationed, ashore or afloat, he may take advantage of this educational institution, and will be paid for going to school.

Although Quantico, Virginia, is the home of the Marine Corps Institute, there are already numbers of Marines at sea and in our island possessions enrolled for courses by correspondence.

Buyers of Printing

Just a few words to the Business Man who desires to have his Printing produced accurately and promptly

WOULDN'T it be a great relief if you could say to your printer, "I need a catalogue, a circular, some letterheads and envelopes," and then be able to entirely dismiss the matter from your mind in the confidence that he will do the work to your entire satisfaction. The printer comes to you with a proposition that pleases; that has a strong advertising value in the suggested copy, in the proposed typography, in the color arrangement, and in the general layout. What a satisfaction to have an assured confidence that the finished product will meet with your approval

The printer who can do that for you must offer efficient service. That is what we are giving to our numerous customers, and we are ready to do the same for you.
