

PLATFORM ADOPTED BY THE DEMOCRATS

League of Nations Indorsed and Republican Senate is Condemned.

The platform is silent on prohibition enforcement. Foremost among the planks is an indorsement of the league of nations and condemnation of the republican senate for having interposed "partisan envy and personal hatred" in the way of world peace.

The important planks summarized are as follows:

Sends greetings to the president, and hails with patriotic pride the great achievements for our country and the world wrought by a democratic administration under his leadership, and declares its adherence to the fundamental progressive principles of social, economic and industrial justice. Favors the league of nations as the surest, if not the only practicable means of maintaining the permanent peace of the world. Endorses the president's view of our international obligations and his firm stand against reservations designed to cut to pieces the vital provisions of the Versailles treaty and commends the democrats in congress for voting against resolutions for separate peace which would disgrace the nation. Advocates the immediate ratification of the treaty without reservations which would impair its essential integrity; but does not oppose the acceptance of any reservations making clearer or more specific the obligations of the United States to the League associates.

Praises the administration's conduct of the war, commends the patriotic efforts of American citizens to aid the government and praises the military and naval forces with mention of General Pershing by name.

Extols the federal reserve system and the financing of the war.

Denies republican claims of economy, declaring that no money was saved except at the expense of the efficiency of government bureaus.

Demands prompt action by the next congress for a complete survey of existing taxes and their modification and simplification.

Blames diminished production for high prices and declares the republicans are responsible in that they delayed peace and failed to provide the president with necessary legislation.

Pledges the party to a policy of strict economy in government expenditures and to the enactment and enforcement of such legislation as may be required to bring profiteers before the bar of criminal justice.

Reaffirms the traditional policy of the democratic party in favor of a tariff for revenue only and confirms the policy of basing tariff revision upon the intelligent research of a non-partisan commission.

Defends President Wilson's veto of the budget bill, and advocates a budget system that will function in accord with the principles of the constitution.

Praises the democratic record in establishing farm loan banks and other farm legislation, and favors such legislation as will confirm to the primary producers of the nation the right of collective bargaining and the right of co-operative handling and marketing.

Declares resort to strikes and lockouts which endanger the health or lives of the people an unsatisfactory device for determining disputes, and pledges the party to contrive, if possible, and put into effective operation a fair and comprehensive method of composing differences of this nature.

Congratulates legislatures that have ratified the suffrage amendment, and urges democratic governors and legislatures of Tennessee, North Carolina and Florida to complete ratification in time for women to vote this fall.

Declares against child labor. Favors legislation for child welfare and maternity care. Advocates increases in teachers' salaries.

Advocates vocational education, better conditions for working women, and indorses separate citizenship for married women.

Advocates generosity to disabled soldiers, and pledges the party to the enactment of soldiers' settlement and home aid legislation.

Commends federal administration of railroads during the war, declaring it was efficient and economical, despite inadequate and worn equipment. Criticizes the recently enacted transportation act and says congress postponed until so late a date that the president was forced to sign the bill or else throw the railroad situation into chaos.

Favors continuance of federal aid in road building.

Pledges the party to a policy which will promote the growth of our merchant marine under proper legislation.

Indorses the creation and work of the federal trade commission.

Favors the enactment of legislation for the supervision of live stock markets by the national government.

Denounces the misfortune of the Mexican people and upholds President Wilson's Mexican policy, declaring that as a consequence order is resuscitating in Mexico. Advocates recognition of new Mexican government when it has proved its ability to maintain order.

Within the limitations of international comity and usage, reports the several previous expressions of the sympathy of the democratic party of the United States in the aspirations of Ireland for self-government.

Commends the administration for Alaska railroad construction and coal and oil development, and advocates modification of the coal law to facilitate development, and also extension of the term look out in Alaska.

Favors the granting of independence without unnecessary delay to the Philippine Islands.

Explores the pro-convention expenditures of republican presidential candidates, and advocates resignation of such aspirants for federal law.

Reaffirms support for the great principle of free speech and a free press but asserts as an indorseable proposition that they afford no liberation of every person and of the advocacy of the overthrow of the government of the state or nation by force or violence.

nomination were Senator Owen of Oklahoma, Attorney-General Palmer, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, Homer Cummings, chairman of the democratic national committee; William G. McAdoo, Governor Smith of New York, Governor Edwards of New Jersey, Secretary Meredith, Governor Cox of Ohio, James W. Gerard, ex-ambassador to Germany; Senator Simmons of North Carolina, John W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain; Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, and Francis Burton Harrison, governor general of the Philippines.

No Speech for McAdoo.
Dr. Burrus Jenkins of Kansas City, who placed the ex-secretary of the treasury in nomination, made one of the shortest speeches on record when he merely announced that he placed Mr. McAdoo in nomination, fully assured that if "drafted for the service of the nation" he would not refuse the nomination.

Perhaps the most exciting scenes of the convention occurred when Senator Glass, chairman of the resolutions committee, presented the platform and the battle of the wets and dries got under way. After the platform had been read without making mention of a prohibition plank, W. J. Bryan was recognized to offer a bone-dry plank, as a minority report.

W. Bourke Cochran of New York offered a plank permitting for home consumption the manufacture of cider, light wines and beer.

E. L. Doherty of California presented a minority report on the Irish question, proposing a plank providing for the recognition of the Irish republic.

Bryan Lambasts Liquor.

Bryan, showing the oldtime fire of his oratory, lambasted the liquor interests in his regular fashion.

Beginning with an argument in support of the eighteenth amendment, Mr. Bryan soon got the convention to cheering.

Every democratic state, he said, had ratified the amendment and every one recognized that the "liquor traffic is dead, never to be resurrected."

As he worked into his speech the Nebraskan mixed many Biblical references with his rounded rhetorical periods. His full voice filled the hall, and he got the galleries and some of the delegates going into longer and longer bursts of applause as he went on.

Minnesota Woman Speaks.

Mrs. Peter Olesen of Minnesota was called by Mr. Bryan in support of his program. She said she spoke in the name of the motherhood of America in supporting the dry declaration.

In a dramatic emotional appeal which got the convention to its feet, Mrs. Olesen asked that God should help her in the fight she was making for it was for the sake of her child that she was fighting.

"Let it never be said," she cried, "that the Democratic party thinks more of its appetites than of the children of the land. God speed the right."

TURBAN TRIMMED WITH TULLE

Headgear of Gray Hemp Embellished With Jet Sand Forming Veil-like Trimming.

Lewis, of Paris, notes a fashion writer, makes a fascinating little turban, from which tulle floats. It is of gray hemp trimmed with a jet embroidered band of black tulle, forming a veil-like trimming across the front and sides and continuing across the back where it is tied in a wide Alsatian bow.

Another close-fitting hat is of shiny white straw, with a brim turned up in the back and front and extending into Continental points at either side. Just above the points are bright pink roses. Over the crown of the hat is draped a large square veil of black net with an applique of lace. The drapery is gathered to the left side to be swathed about the neck and chin of the wearer.

Not all of the lace trimmed hats are small. One model, which is very large and turned up sharply in the front, has a flowing veil held to the crown with a narrow ribbon.

Tulle is Popular.

Much tulle is the order of the minute and this is beaded and embroidered in the most intricate fashion, even though the heaviness of the handwork is applied to almost invisible fabric.

"Are You Getting Real Tobacco" says the Good Judge

There's more good, lasting taste in a little of the Real Tobacco Chew than you get out of the ordinary kind.
You don't need a fresh chew nearly so often—that's why it costs you less to chew this class of tobacco.
Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.
