

HARDING IN THE LEAD IN OREGON

Returns Indicate That Senator Chamberlain Is Defeated By Stanfield.

Portland, Or.—Returns from Tuesday's election indicated conclusively that Senator Harding had carried Oregon by a vote of nearly 2 to 1 over Governor Cox. In Multnomah county, Harding's majority over Cox was not quite as large as the majorities in the up-state counties.

Harding's plurality in Oregon will be upwards of 60,000, and that Robert N. Stanfield, Republican, has been elected over George E. Chamberlain by approximately 15,000 majority were indicated on the face of returns.

It was apparent that in Multnomah county Harding will have about 15,000 majority over Cox and that the up-state counties will give him an additional 50,000.

R. N. STANFIELD

Successful Republican Candidate for United States Senator from Oregon

Harding has carried every county in Oregon on the basis of unofficial returns.

It was indicated by reports that Senator Chamberlain had carried Baker, Crook, Deschutes, Harney and Jefferson counties. The complete vote in Hood River also gave him a plurality of 197. The contest between the two senatorial candidates was close in Union and Coos counties.

In none of the counties that Chamberlain carried was his majority over Stanfield large.

In the first congressional district the sole opponent of W. C. Hawley was a socialist and polled but a comparatively slight vote.

In the second district, N. J. Sinnott was opposed by a Democrat, James Harvey Graham of Baker county. Incomplete returns showed that Representative Sinnott had carried his district by a vote better than two to one.

Congressman McArthur was re-elected in the Portland district by a decisive majority.

The anti-vaccination bill has gone down to defeat and the oleomargarine bill has been defeated by a ratio of more than 2 to 1. The compulsory voting measure has also been rejected by the people by 2 to 1, as has the state market commission bill.

Single tax has met the decided rejection by the people. The measure has been swamped by more than a two-to-one vote on the early returns, and this lead has been maintained with the additional returns from incomplete precincts.

Although the people rejected, apparently, the divided session of the legislature, they have stamped with approval the measure which extends the legislative session from 49 to 59 days. The lead in favor of this measure is such that it is improbable that later returns will upset the verdict.

HARDING SWEEPS ILLINOIS

Small for Governor and McKinley for Senator Far Ahead.

Chicago.—Senator Harding was leading Governor Cox nearly 3 to 1 in Illinois on the face of returns. In the gubernatorial contest Len Small, Republican, who had the support of Mayor Thompson of Chicago, was leading former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, less than 2 to 1, while William B. McKinley, Republican candidate for senator, had better than a 2-to-1 lead over Peter Walter, Democrat.

"Joe" Cannon Is Re-elected.

Danville, Ill.—Representative Joseph G. Cannon, former speaker of the house of representatives, has been returned to congress from the eighth Illinois district. It will be his twenty-third term in the lower house.

Republicans Show Gains in Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo.—Overcoming an early lead, the Republican candidate for president, senator and governor showed a slight margin on the face of early unofficial returns in Missouri.

Wisconsin Elects Senator Lenroot.

Milwaukee, Wis.—Republican candidates were successful in virtually every contest in Tuesday's election in Wisconsin. Senator I. L. Lenroot was re-elected over James Thompson, Independent and Democratic and Socialist opposition and the whole list of 11 members of the national house of representatives is Republican.

Montana Joins Republican Landslide.

Helena, Mont.—The lead taken by Republican candidates for president, governor and congress in Montana on early returns was maintained as more complete reports were received from the state. Former Senator J. M. Dixon, Republican nominee for governor, was nearly 29,000 votes ahead of B. K. Wheeler, his Democratic opponent.

REPUBLICANS WILL CONTROL CONGRESS

Returns Indicate G. O. P. Majorities In Both House and Senate.

New York.—Senator Harding's sweep through doubtful states in the east and middle west appears to have carried with it assurances of a working majority in the next congress.

Among the states in which senatorial elections were doubtful, Harding's apparent victories in Connecticut and New Hampshire probably have carried Senators Brandegee and Moses, respectively, back to their senate seats.

In Colorado and Idaho returns indicate that Republican candidates S. D. Nicholson and Frank R. Gooding have ridden in on the Harding wave, unseating the present Democratic senators, Charles Thomas and James Nugent.

Senator Wadsworth has been re-elected from New York and former Governor Willis seems an easy victor in Ohio. Both victories were expected and mark no gains for the Republicans.

The Republicans will apparently have in the next senate a certain majority of 17, a probable majority of 19 and a possible majority of 26, with the further remote possibility of 22 if Kentucky should return a Republican in place of Beckham (Dem.).

Based on returns in and the indicated trend in states where the result is not final, it appears that the house of representatives in the sixty-seventh congress will be constituted approximately as follows: Republicans, 273; Democrats, 159; Independents, 2; Prohibitionists 1. This estimate, while not final, would give the Republicans a majority of 111. The present majority of the Republicans is 59.

REPUBLICANS WIN IN IDAHO

Boise, Idaho.—Senator Harding for president, Frank R. Gooding, Republican candidate for United States senator, and D. W. Davis, present Republican governor of Idaho, together with the balance of the congressional and state ticket have carried this state with pluralities running from 15,000 to 25,000 or more. Late returns, although far from complete, in the state clearly indicated this. Some of the strongest counties in the state, including Shoshone in the north, went Republican.

Republican counties went exceptionally strong for the Republican ticket. The ticket apparently elected on the returns by safe majorities follows: President, Warren G. Harding; senator, Frank R. Gooding; representatives, first district, Burton L. French, second district, Addison T. Smith.

State-Wide Telephone Service

Our efforts are constantly directed to the extension and improvement of "state-wide" telephone service. Large and small communities are dependent upon each other, commercially and socially. Good telephone equipment in the cities and towns of Oregon, with good construction and well maintained "long distance" pole lines and wires between, mean their mutual convenience and profit.

The value of any telephone is proportionate to the number of other telephones which may be connected with it. In Oregon there are approximately 138,000 telephones connected with our system. Ideal telephone service means the prompt connection of any one of these with any other and the least possible loss in strength and distinctness in the conversations that follow.

Our plant is engineered and constructed with the object of rendering a satisfactory "state-wide" service sufficient in facilities available and with these facilities efficiently maintained. For this purpose the telephone equipment must be better, local and trunk wires must be of proper size and type, and central offices and switchboards must have additional apparatus to accommodate and care for the long distance circuits.

Before the troubled period of the war we always aimed to maintain "spare" or reserve plant—that is, plant ahead of immediate needs, thus ensuring prompt and more satisfactory compliance with demands for service as they arose. During the war this reserve was exhausted as the materials we used were required and properly taken up by the Government and those interests given priority consideration.

With the reconstruction period, as is the case with all other lines of business, our problems have continued to an unexpected degree. We are still hampered by shortage of materials and delayed deliveries.

We realize the requirements of our long distance patrons. We have a comprehensive and well defined program designed to provide additional toll circuits sufficient to meet the present and constantly growing demands.

Home Surroundings Count.

A house is depressing or cheerful, walls, windows, rug, carpets, pictures, pictures, ornaments color into the color scheme of the rooms and a discordant note among any of these will destroy the unity of the whole house or building. Colors must be balanced just as forms are.

Rats Live in Tree Tops.

Rats are vegetarians by choice, but they can readily adapt themselves to any conditions. In Hawaii, for instance, where they were raised habitually by the monkeys, they have acquired the habit of living in the tree tops, where they are free from their torturers.

Russian Sunflower.

The Russian sunflower is used as a forage crop and for ensilage. It is sown in rows 30 inches apart, the plants standing from one to twelve feet high and yields from 25 to 30 tons of forage per acre in Montana, which does not feed cattle like as well as corn, either green or as silage.
