BOARDMAN

Mr. G. Blayden has finished the concrete wall for his new bungalow and will build immediately.

B. S. Kingsley has taken over the hardware store and will make extensive improvements in the near future.

Mr. A. C. Payne, a business man of Tacoma, is registered at the Highway Inn.

George and the mules are much alive yet.

Rehearsal for the local drama "Al Martin's Country Store," is being held twice a week and will be put on in the near future. It is good, come out and see it.

Leveling city lots and grading streets is the order of the day in Boardman.

The high school basketball team played a match game at Condon last Friday night, but were defeated 28 to 16. Never mind boys, soon you will have a gym to practice in instead of on the ground, then let 'em come.

January 26 is the day set by the Unatilla Commercial Club for a grand rally for the John Day Development League, and a boost for the Unatilla Rapids Power site.

E. P. Dond of Herndon, made Boardman a visit this week.

The city of Portland is putting up a big fight for a grand central depot and don't forget that Boardman is promised a standard depot also this year, let her huck.

The Grangers held a meeting in the auditorium Monday.

W. P. Tucker is out today buying alfalfa for shipment. Well Boardman is the place to buy it.

Ed Miles and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ballinger made a trip to Wasco by auto this week.

Work has started on three new houses: F. F. Klitz, Wm. Finnell and G. Blayden.

AN APPRECIATION

Mrs. C. E. Knight of Irrigon, desires, through the Herald, to express her thanks and appreciation of the assistance and sympathy extended to herself and her children at the time of the illness and death of their husband and father.

Mr. Knight was stricken with illness about Thanksgiving while employed on the highway near Ione. He was taken to The Dalles hospital where he died December 29. Mrs. Knight and her family of children are residents of Irrigon where six of the children are attending school. The big hearted people of Irrigon left nothing undone to make lighter the weight of sorrow and grief of this stricken family and it is to express their thanks that these lines are published.

John Glazacek, of Portland, is here visiting his mother, Mrs. W. W. Smead, and his sister, Mrs. W. C. Bayless, while enjoying a taste of old-fashioned Morrow county weather.

Percy Hughes, well known Butter creek stockman, is at the home of A. L. Ayres, on Chase street, suffering from a violent attack of lumbago. He was reported improving Monday and able to walk around the house.

C. N. Jones was in from the ranch Monday assuring his friends that wheat will soon go up to $2.00. He sold a few days ago for $1.50.

A. N. Krause, of Portland, is spending a few days in Heppner and may decide to locate in this county permanently. Mr. Krause recently sold a fine grain and stock ranch in Union county, and after living in Portland for awhile is about ready to return to western Oregon and break into the old game again.

Life Calls for One's Best. To make a success of life you must be always at it with your eye on the job. Discretion will stimulate for more intensive effort, but the effort itself must have no diverting influences. "This one thing I do," says the apostle, and in doing it he wins. Keep your eye on the ball and put your best into the game.

NEWS FROM O. A. C.

Experiment Station Report—Scientific farm practice as developed and recommended by the Oregon Experiment station should be kept years in advance of general farm practice, in order that the new methods, crops and varieties may be fully tested before offered to the farmer, says James T. Jardine, director, in his report for 1918-1920, just off the college press. Much information that has added to the profits of farming, and even more facts under investigation with promise of eventual solution, are explained in the report. Copies free on request.

New Farm Account Book A new edition of the Oregon farm account book has just been issued by the O. A. C. extension service and United States department of agriculture, as simple, complete and efficient as can be made. Just what the farm did for the farmer—whether it made or lost him money, and how much—and which of the leading farm operations—livestock, dairy, crops, fruit, forest or pasture—were profitable, are only a few of the useful points developed in proper accounts. The farmer's gross and net profits, his income, interest on investment, and other interesting items, are ascertained. Copies may be had of county agents in counties carrying record projects, from banks cooperating with the college and government, or from the college service direct on application to O. A. C., Corvallis, and payment of actual production cost.

COW WILL MARKET ALFALFA

Alfalfa growers who find no market for their surplus hay may again try the dairy cow as the most promising channel. A good cow will turn one ton of alfalfa into 60 to 75 pounds of butterfat, with a by-product of 1000 pounds of skim milk, which is excellent feed for calves, pigs and poultry, says E. B. Fitts, dairy extension specialist at O. A. C. Many growers had turned to the dairy cow before the war as the best permanent market channel for hay, but sold off their herds when hay prices soared and labor was so scarce. Professor Fitts thinks they might well consider now getting back into the dairy game, thereby building a permanent market for hay, saving handling and shipping costs, removing only a concentrated product from the farm, and receiving monthly liberal pay checks.

MORROW FARMERS USE GOOD TILLAGE

Many Morrow county farmers have been changing their tillage methods in the last two or three years, reports the Farm Bureau news. The tendency is toward earlier plowing for summer fallow, clean cultivation, and timely planting. More good summer fallow cropping was done last fall than ever before, and correspondingly better yields are looked for next summer. Record kept by the Moro branch experiment station for almost a decade showed the advantage of improved tillage. Progressive farmers and extension agents introduced the improved practices on many farms.

Eugene Fairhurst Passes. Eugene Fairhurst, an old-time resident of the Ceell neighborhood, died at the Moore hospital Monday morning, of pleural pneumonia, at the age of 50 years. He was brought to the hospital Saturday evening from the Farnsworth ranch, below Ceell, and was in a serious condition then. He was unmarried. A sister and other relatives in Portland have been notified.

ELI'S OFFICERS.
