One young auto driver missed the turn at Main and August streets near the power house Thursday night and landed his car in a hole without doing serious damage to the car or occupants. The car is a bed one to negotiate at night, and there have been several near accidents at the same point.

James Mollahan, successful young sheepman, proved that he is more than ordinarily gifted as an orator last Thursday evening. Mr. Mollahan was one of the speakers at the Irish banquet, and it is a fact that he got right down to brass tacks in discussing the Irish question perhaps in better shape than any of the more seasoned speakers.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Connell spent Thursday and Friday in town enjoying the St. Patrick festivities. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Farley were guests at the Patrick hotel Thursday and Friday, coming in to attend the Hibernian banquet Thursday night.

Dr. Van Waters held office at the Episcopal church last Thursday evening. Dr. Van Waters expects to deliver a series of lectures in Heppner some time next month on the history of religion from the earliest times down to the present day. Some subjects will be treated in a strictly non-scientific manner and will be of some scientific and educational value.

Dr. Van Waters is a deep thinker and a great public and platform speaker, and his addresses will no doubt be well worth hearing. It is understood that arrangements are under way to have the lectures given in the dining room at the hotel.

W. H. Turner, well known tennis player of the Bend-Holmes country, was a business visitor in Heppner Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dumas Reser, entertained at their beautiful suburban home last Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Dykstra were in town yesterday morning on local business before U. S. Commissioner Waters. Mr. Dykstra recently purchased the Balm Fork ranch for a 200 acre place near Heppner, Oregon, and will soon remove to that place. The trade was made with Will Grimes, of Heppner, who will soon take possession of the Balm Fork property.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sparks, of Condon, spent the week end in Heppner guests at the Patrick hotel.

H. B. Jones, representing the Chinese Famine Relief committee, spoke at the Christian church Sunday evening.

L. A. Hunt leaves today for Spokane, where he goes to attend a meeting of the Farm Bureau of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. James M. Howard, president of the national Farm Bureau, will be the principal speaker at this meeting.

Mr. E. A. Stevens has sold his small home place in south Heppner to J. E. Kelly, who recently came here from Idaho. Roy V. White handled the deal. Mr. Kelly has taken over the horsehoisting department at the Scribner blacksmith shop.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hallden, who have been spending the winter at Portland, returned on Sunday's train and drove out to their Blackhorse-ranch Monday morning.

EDITOR BRODIE, OF OREGON CITY, SEEKS SIAM POST

(Telegraph Washington Bureau) WASHINGTON, March 21.—E. M. Brodie, of Oregon City, who has just been elected president of the National Editorial association, is expected to stop in Washington on his way home for a conference with the G. O. delegation.

It is understood that Mr. Brodie will be presented to President Harding while here and will be urged for nomination to Siam, which post some years ago was held by an Oregon man, and which it is hoped may again be procured for a son of Oregon.

Harold Best, of Knappton, Ore., is also expected to arrive here this week for a conference with the Oregon delegation as to his appointment to a position in the diplomatic service of some South American country.

IRVING SIGNBEE SOW MANAGER TRI-STATE CO.

A change in the local management of the Tri-State Terminal Co. was announced Friday, when B. G. Signbee, the old and well known lumberman in the city, was promoted to the position of manager to take the place of W. D. Hayden, who was transferred to the Portland branch of the company.

Mr. Signbee has been a local manager at the Tri-State Terminal Co. since that company took over the management of the Heppner Terminal Co. several months ago. His experience in Portland was recognized by a general recognition by the management of the company when Mr. Signbee, manager of the Seattle headquarters, left the company to take the management of the Co-Operative Lumbering association.

Mr. Hayden, who had made many friends here, expressed regret at leaving Heppner, and hoped that some time he may be able to return and live here.

Mr. Signbee has had extensive experience with the business end of the Heppner office, and will no doubt prove a capable man for the position.

Non-Shrinkable Investments

Many classes of investments have shown large shrinkages in value during the past year—stocks, bonds, real estate, etc.

But you haven't noticed any shrinkage in the value of a savings bank investment, either in principal or interest. If your money is here, it earns a fixed rate, which you can depend upon.

IRVING BOARDMAN TO JOIN NORTH MORROW CO. FAIR

Mr. Boardman, A. Y. Larson, W. H. Dillman, S. B. Thompson, and others, after a long session at the Boardman farm house, Saturday evening, as delegates on the Boardman farm house.

The interest of the "Greater North Morrow County Fair", and to which it is to be held at the Boardman farm house, and to which it is to be held at the Boardman farm house, and to which it is to be held at the Boardman farm house.

Mr. Boardman, president of this organization, explained it had outgrown their committee and should be made to mean all the more calls for. Mr. Signbee outlined how they financed the business and offered further increase of working capital for this undertaking. The fair would be held early in September, alternately at Boardman and Irwin.

This year it would be held at Boardman, as they are lined up from past experience, and next year it will be held at Irwin. The school building at Boardman is large enough to accommodate a large exhibit and the Irwin mill school building could be used for an electric display room, and the new building could also be used for some place. Funds could easily be fixed up to take care of the livestock exhibit. A committee consisting of Mr. M. E. Doble, Seaman and Boardman, and Mercedes Glasgow and Wells was appointed by the club, and it took into this matter and given authority to close up a deal if an opinion of our people justified such action. There is no question but what we can live on a street equal to any in the state, and we will do it.

A discussion on the building also came up for further investigation, and a committee of Messrs. Seaman, Doble and myself, was appointed to continue the work to completion of the construction forms and materials.

Mr. S. H. Boardman made a report on the progress made on the Gunilla Rapids power project. He stated there has been no equal in unity and honesty as there is on this proposition. No other project ever gained such great momentum in such a short time.

Messrs. Boardman and Powell also outlined the necessity of anybody being a booster for the John Day Irrigation project.

We should all join hands and boost together. The Unatilla Rapids project, the John Day Irrigation project, the Patterson and Holmes ferry, Silas and the North Morrow County fair, these things are all within our reach, if we only insist on having them. Most of them will come anyway, so if you do not feel like boosting, get out of the road before you are run over and hurt.
