THE SPRING LIVE STOCK SITUATION

(Livestock Sanitary Board Bulletin)
A trip through eastern Oregon shows that the winter just ended has been the most favorable in many years for live stock. The overhead, which was so ruinous a year ago, has been cut to practically one-fourth the costs of the winter of 1919-1920. Cheap feed, and mild weather have been in part responsible for this; material reduction in labor costs has taken place. Ranch employes have been cut from $85 a month to something like $50. Sheep herders are now working for from $60 to $75 a month, which represents a cut of forty per cent. Sheep shearers are asking 12 1/2 cents, largely because their price was established by the Utah Sheep Shearers' Union, who voluntarily cut from 17 1/2 cents to 12 1/2 cents. The growers are talking ten cents and will have no trouble in filling the jobs at this price.

Stockmen are optimistic. They have been able to get along without much money and have by means of trading amongst themselves, and in some instances giving their help an interest in the stock, been able to squeeze through. They have been successful in cutting the overhead. Labor has objected but little, knowing that this was absolutely necessary. A peculiar situation is present in respect to cattle. Feeders are selling at market points for practically as much per pound as killers, indicating confidence in the future of the beef industry.

The horse market is improving. There is considerable demand for stock to take the place of trucks and tractors. A number of mares will be bred this spring. Farmers feel the need of raising sufficient colts to replace the older horses, worn out or sold to avoid depreciation.

Eastern Oregon stock growers are determined to pull through the present period of depression. Bankers state that there has been enough money saved during the past six months to recoup much of the loss that has been sustained because of growers not selling at top prices. Stockmen realize that the only way in the long run that one can lose in the stock game is to lose the stock. This year there has been no disease loss, neither has there been a storm loss, nor has there been any considerable amount of loss from forced liquidation. If there ever have been losses in the stock industry, either the stockman or the banker have been at fault, the stockman, perhaps, because he has given up, the banker because he has lost faith. Any stockman that has stood off failure until now, is sure through the worst of it. The banker who has helped him is now well able to see the fruits of his good judgment.

Federal reports show that there ten million less domestic animals in the United States than a year ago. Breeding stock is sure to be in much demand. There are good reasons for believing that the end of the present decline has now been reached and that the upward trend that the market is showing is to be permanent.
