

IRRIGON

F. M. Pike of Umatilla was an Irrigon visitor Monday.

Professor Anderson went to Echo Friday afternoon to act as judge in some oratorical contest held in the Echo school, returning Saturday morning.

Mrs. C. E. Glasgow spent a couple of days in Portland last week returning Saturday.

Mrs. N. Seaman, daughter, Freda and Grandma Seaman, made a trip to Pendleton Saturday, returning on the night train.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steward and family motored to Pendleton Friday and returned the same day. They report that it makes a pleasant trip with the good roads we now have.

The Holmes-Irrigon ferry passed from Pasco Monday evening and is now tied up at Mr. Holmes landing and is ready for service in the near future. It is expected that an opening day will be announced soon regardless of franchise to operate and service made free until such time as papers have been duly issued. Quite a considerable talk of the Boardman ferry is also heard. The Boardman people have arranged to present their petition at the adjourned session of the County Court at Heppner April 22nd, and it seems to be general opinion that we should assist Boardman people in every way to get a ferry at that point also. If the business is there there is no reason we should object. To tell the truth our committee is advocating more competition, the more the merrier. We have the ferry we have elegant roads from the north side into central Washington. We have a good temporary road from the landing on the south side and we have the Columbia River Highway and fair roads through Morrow County and central Oregon. These facts cannot be denied and it would be only fair to invite competition.

The board of directors of the Irrigon Cooperative melon and potatoe growers association had a meeting at C. E. Glasgow's Monday evening to complete articles of corporation and have now filed all the necessary papers in due form, with the county clerk of Morrow county, the Corporation Commissioner at Salem, Director of Farm Bureau of Organization and Markets. The necessary action was also taken to federate with the American Fruit and Vegetable Shippers association, a national organization wholly covering the products raised in the Irrigon District. The standard rules and definitions of trade and terms for the fruit and vegetable industry was adopted and the name ordered listed among the thousand similar organizations, among the leaders in this line, being the International Apple Shippers Association, The American Fruit and Vegetable Shippers Association, The Colorado Potatoe Shippers Association, the Melon Distributors Association and thousands of smaller organizations, including several from the state of Oregon. These actions together with steps taken some two months ago, listing the association with the fruit produce rating agency in carrying the advertisements of the District far and abroad. Inquiries have already developed and as the acreage necessary to produce hundreds of car loads of melons are now being planted, nothing but crop failure could possibly hinder extensive business. The association is organized under the Cooperative law and on non-profit basis for the good of the promoters of the association, and the community in general. The directors are C. E. Glasgow, H. W. Grim, N. Seaman, M. E. Dobie, and L. D. Saling. Mr. Seaman was elected to act as secretary-manager owing to his wide experience in handling and formation of this class of business and will not accept defeat under any circumstances. He will not, however be able to take entire charge owing to his many other duties but the forms and methods to be adopted from time to time will be devised by him, especially the selling methods and advertising propaganda. The association will be prepared to contract with the growers for handling their products as soon as proper forms can be drawn up. Either a circular will be addressed to the growers or they will be invited to attend the meeting of the association where details will be explained. The plans at meetings, the smaller shipments will be left to the individuals to handle themselves.
