IRRIGON

About a dozen automobile loads of people came down from Prosser, Washington Saturday to celebrate opening of the ferry between Holmes Landing and the point just below Irri- gion. The county Commissioners and members of the Prosser Com- mercial club of Benton County were among the party and viewed the landing on both sides of the Colum- bia and roads which lead to the land- ings. The ferry is now in operation and the road leading to the landing on the Oregon side, leaves the Colum- bia highway about two miles west of Irri- gion.

The Committee of the farm bureau on north county fair arrangements to be held at Boardman this year, met with the committee at Boardman Saturday evening and made consid- erable progress on the plans for this year's fair. Another meeting of this committee will be held at Irri- gion Saturday May 21st. Men and women who are to see to this work have established a reputation of making things move and we may be assured it will be a success.

W. R. Walpole reports the sale of eight acres just east of town on the Columbia river highway to Stanley A. Anderson. Mr. Anderson has been in Irri- gion more or less for a number of years and has decided that this place is good enough for him. He will build on the place at once and will run a chicken ranch and probably some garden stuff.

Mr. and Mrs. Doering and son Ed- gar were among the visitors at the school exercises.

Mrs. E. C. Helmeck, of Pendleton, has spent the week with Markham. Mrs. E. R. Rand of Portland, Ore- gon, is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Walpole.

Mr. A. Ives, of Portland, who was nursery man in Irri- gion in the early days, spent two or three days visit- ing Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Grimm and other friends and looking after his interests here.

CECIL

Messrs. Charlie Thompson, Joe Waters and several other prominent men of Heppner made a short stay in Cecil Saturday before leaving for Arlington.

Miss Malinda May, of Lone Star ranch left on the local Sunday for Waco where she will visit for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley and Miss Elrst of the Willows were visitors at Fairview the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Logan, Sunday.

Mrs. Hannah Ahalt, who has been spending the past few months visit- ing friends in Oregon returned to her home at San Jose, California, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Brady, of Ione, for Art Minor, were visiting with Mr. and Mrs. George Krebs at the Last Camp Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Knipfel and daughters, Misses Blanche and Anna, of Tentville, were Arlington visitors Saturday.

Miss Georgia Summers of the Last Camp, returned home Wednesday after spending a few days as the guest of Mrs. Phil Brady at her home near Ione.

T. W. McFadden and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hud of Eightmile were trying out the Cecil scenic highway Mon- day.

Herb Hynd returned from Port- land Wednesday where he spent his vacation and is now once more in the business at Butterby Flats.

Miss Esther Logan of Fair Mile was visiting her friends around Cecil Wednesday.

J. H. Robinson, of Ione, here last week a Cecil visitor Wednesday.

A. Henderson, of Willow creek ranch, left for Butterby Flats during the week. With the rumpus jump- ing around Portland, and his deputy A. H. away from home, and John, the village constable disabled, Cecil is in a very tight. Let there be peace until our leading lights return to their duties.

Hoimer Nash passed through Cecil Monday with J. J. McEntire's sheep bound for their summer pastures. David Hynd, of Sand Hollow, arrived in Cecil Wednesday and spent a few days at Butterby Flats before returning home.

Harold and Cecil Ahalt left on the local Wednesday for Pendleton.

Oskar and Bob Montague and George Shane of Arlington, accom- panied by Joe White, the Scout of the Willows, were here Saturday before leaving for parts unknown, parts unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. George Krebs of the Last Camp accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Johnson were callers on Mrs. Hynd at Butterby Flats Wed- nesday.

Earl and Clare Calkins, of Ione spent Saturday with Clarence Winter at Shady Del.

J. M. Elton of the Lookouts, was calling on his Cecil friends Friday. J. M. declares he will be able to reach Cecil several times a day as soon as the highway is finished and he also declares that that road will take some beating.

J. J. McEntire, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Josephine, of Killarney, were Cecil callers Saturday.

J. J. will soon have a new resi- dence in place of the one which burn- ed down a few weeks ago. Mr. Boyd of Arlington is the contractor who is now busy with a large force of men building a new house.

Mrs. Zenith Logan, of Mount View is entertaining her brother and his wife from Yakima for a week or two.

W. E. Ahalt who is working for W. T. Madlock above Heppner, took a day off during the week to visit his Cecil pals.

George Hardesty, of Morgan, was Cecil Thursday.

I. O. O. F. GRAND LODGE MET AT ALBANY

The annual meeting of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows met last week at Albany. A. M. Phelps and A. J. Knoblock represented the local sub- ordinate lodge and Mrs. Frye and Mrs. Frank Turner represented the local lodge of Rebekas, the former being honored with a grand lodge office, that of grand marshal.

M. R. Biggs, of Prineville, was elected grand master for the com- ing year and S. F. Bowman, of Pen- dleton, was chosen as deputy grand master.

Delegates from Heppner report a splendid meeting and have much praise for the hospitality shown the visitors by the people of Albany.
